6 Die In Crash Of Train, Truck

NASHUA, N.H. (AP)—A 70-mile-an-hour interstate commuter train plowed into a bottled gas truck at a railroad crossing Wednesday.

Six persons, including an entire family of four, were killed. More than 30 of the 50 passengers aboard the Boston-bound train were injured.

One of the injured was given last rites of the Roman Catholic Church at a hospital several hours after the crash.

The collision set off a series of deafening explosions that blew the small truck to bits and started a flash fire that raced through the single-car, self-propelled train.

The victims included the truck driver, his wife and two infant children, the train's conductor and the law clerk of a federal judge.

The injured included the judge.

Passengers on the flame-filled train screamed in terror as the car hurtled more than a quarter of a mile down the tracks before the engineer could bring it to a halt. Many plunged from the train, which did not leave the rails.

"It seemed as though another bomb had dropped on this Pearl Harbor day," said Mrs. Ralph V. Kelloway, whose home is near the crash scene.

The blast rocked houses in a nearby housing development, shattering many windows.

Flames scorched the earth alongside the tracks, strewn with gas tanks. Fire fighters were kept busy wetting down the tracks to avert further explosions.

The truck driver was Robert Wrenn, 29, a Nashua bottled gas service proprietor whose panel truck was loaded with cylinders of commercial gas, used for home cooking and other purposes. He had just delivered a load of gas to a nearby industrial plant and was driving his family to visit with his mother-in-law while he continued his chores.

His body was found near those of his pretty wife, Patricia, 28, an art teacher, and their two children, 1-month-old Jennifer, and Christopher, 19 months.

The other victims—both aboard the train—were John S. Wilder, 27, of Manchester, law clerk of Chief Judge Peter Woodbury of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Boston; and Vaughan Talbert, 48, of Wilmington, Mass., the conductor.

Would Crumble

Warns Against UN's Congo Exit

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold warned the U.N. Security Council Wednesday night that the Congo would be plunged into chaos and anarchy if U.N. forces are withdrawn.

"Everything would crumble," Hammarskjold said in a vigorous defense of the U.N. role in the turbulent African republic.

Replying to Soviet criticism that he was a tool of Western imperialism, the secretary-general said he found it difficult to believe that anyone would ask for liquidation of the U.N. Congo operation "in view of the possible consequences of such a move at the present juncture."

Council Speech

He spoke at a resumed session of the council after the introduction of rival East-West resolutions on how to deal with the arrest of deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba.

The council voted down a move by the Soviet Union to keep it in session to hear a speech by the Soviet delegate, and the meeting was adjourned until Thursday afternoon.

Adding to the tenseness of the situation were reports that U. N. members were withdrawing their support from the U. N. Congo operation because of dissatisfaction over the recent turn of events in that turbulent African republic.

The sequence of events at the opening session foreshadowed extended sharp debate before the council reaches the voting stage on the rival proposals.

Makes Suggestion

U. S. Delegate James J. Wadsworth suggested at the outset that Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin, December council president, disqualify himself from presiding on the ground he is prejudiced.

Zorin refused. He denied that the Soviet Union had any direct role in events in the Congo and said there was no valid basis for the U. S. request.

The session was marked also by a prolonged procedural battle over the agenda, in which the Western powers objected to tough language in a Soviet Congo declaration.

The declaration was eventually included in the list of documents on the agenda, which bore the general heading, "Urgent Measures in Connection With Latest Events in the Congo."

The Soviet Union introduced a resolution calling upon Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold to obtain the immediate release of Lumumba and other of his associates imprisoned and allegedly subjected to acts of violence by Congo authorities acting under Col. Joseph Mobutu, the Congo army strongman.

Red Proposal

The Soviet proposal asked that the U. N. Command disarm Mobutu's army. It called upon Belgium to withdraw all personnel, civil and military, from the Congo.

The mildly worded rival resolution submitted by the United States, Britain, Argentina and Italy expressed deep concern over acts of violence against all Congolese and non-Congolese, including U. N. personnel. It asked that no violation of human rights be permitted.

It expressed hope that the International Red Cross would be permitted to examine all detained persons. This is in line with Hammarskjold's own plea to President Joseph Kasavubu.

Says Soviets Failed To Orbit Man

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Daily News said Wednesday the Soviet Union attempted to launch a man into space and failed.

This was reported by Paul Ghali, the News' Bern correspondent, who identified his sources as foreign diplomats in Switzerland who have contacts in Moscow.

The launching was rumored early this fall. It ended in tragedy, Ghali reported, and further experiments were postponed for several months.

The dispatch added: The Soviet Union scheduled its spectacular scientific experiment for early October to precede one of Premier Khrushchev's flamboyant appearances before the United Nations.

The device, a missile and a container carrying a man, apparently was launched successfully but Soviet scientists on the ground could not separate the container from its vehicle. Vehicle and passenger disintegrated.

Moon's Radar Reflection Sets Off Missile Scare

WASHINGTON (AP)—Radar reflections from the moon set off a missile scare at the nation's air defense centers on Oct. 5. The Air Force said Wednesday, however, its equipment has been adjusted to avoid more such flurries.

Actually the scare was only momentary, the Air Force said, since a quick check turned up the error and word went out to calm down.

The incident, unreported until Wednesday, resulted from computers at the ballisiic missile early warning station at Thule, Greenland, picking up radar signals it bounced off the moon, 250,000 miles away.

This set into motion the machinery that is designed to warn of a missile attack. The signal was flashed to the Strategic Air Command's control center and to headquarters of the North American Air Defense Command in Colorado.

A spokesman said the commander in Colorado, Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, found immediately that the reported detection "was totally unsubstantiated by other information sources and in no way indicated a threat" of missile attack.

Kuter ordered the data to be disregarded and he telephoned Thule. He was told the apparatus there had not been operating properly.

Strategic air commanders made it clear that one enemy missile isn't going to result in the launching of SAC's worldwide bomber and missile force.

Misuse Of Funds

Hoffa Indicted On Mail Frauds

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa, who became involved in a Florida real estate development, was indicted Wednesday on mail fraud charges involving alleged misuse of union funds.

The charges were contained in an indictment returned in U. S. District Court and stem from the union president's connection with Sun Valley, Inc., a company formed to develop a 2,400-acre tract in adjoining Brevard County on Florida's east coast.

Only six houses had been built on the project before it became involved in lawsuits and subsequently was sold to a Titusville banker and land developer.

A federal grand jury began looking into Hoffa's connection with the project 11 months ago. It recessed after about two months and did not resume its investigation until October.

The indictment was announced in Washington by Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers about an hour before a copy of the charges was made available to newsmen in Orlando.

Others Named

In addition to Hoffa, the indictment names Henry Lower, former officer of a Detroit Teamsters local, and Robert E. McCarthy Jr., one-time branch manager of the Bank of the Commonwealth at Detroit.

Rogers said the indictment accuses the three men of using more than half a million dollars of Teamsters funds on the project, conceived as a retirement haven for union members.

The 12-count indictment also charges misuse of the mails to defraud on eight occasions and use of interstate telephone and telegraph service for the same purpose three other times.

Hoffa was attending union conferences in Chicago at the time the indictment was reported and surrendered to the U. S. marshal before a marshal could locate him with a warrant.

Same Replies

Hoffa was taken to the marshal's quarters in the U. S. courthouse for fingerprinting and photographing. He smiled and spoke with photographers while they took his picture.

Asked whether he had anything to say, he replied, "The case will be tried in court." He gave the same reply to all questions concerning the charges.

The union chief appeared before U. S. Commissioner C. S. Bentley Pike who put the hearing over to Friday to await arrival of papers from Florida. Bond was set at $10,000. Hoffa posted it and left immediately.

Lower and McCarthy were arrested in Detroit and taken before U.S. Dist. Judge Theodore Levin, who set a hearing for Monday for removal of the two men to Florida.

Lower was released on $50,000 bond and McCarthy on personal recognizance bond of $10,000. The government had asked a bond of $100,000 on Lower and $10,000 on McCarthy.

JFK Must Fill 7 Posts, Picks Udall For Interior

NEW YORK (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy Wednesday named a three-term congressman out of the West—Rep. Stewart L. Udall of Arizona—to be his secretary of the interior.

Kennedy then released a meeting-packed schedule for Thursday in Washington, highlighted by a conference with Adlai E. Stevenson.

Udall's appointment was Kennedy's third Cabinet selection. He has seven more to go before completing the Cabinet that will serve under him after he takes office Jan. 20.

The president-elect set aside two hours Thursday to talk with Stevenson, mentioned prominently at one point for secretary of state and more recently for leader of the American delegation at the United Nations.

Kennedy scattered 10 engagements at his Washington home through Thursday's schedule—just about the heaviest since he began trying to put together the team that will serve under him.

Pennsylvania Gov. David L. Lawrence will lunch with the president-elect just before Kennedy sees Stevenson.

One of the Kennedy dates involved no official business. He will go to Georgetown Hospital in the afternoon to attend the christening of his 13-day-old son.

Also seeing Kennedy Thursday is Byron (Whizzer) White, a Denver lawyer and former football great, who has been discussed as a possible attorney general or solicitor general.

Another caller will be Dean Rusk, former assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs. He has figured in talk for secretary of state or some other high State Department position.

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, who could be talking up Tennessee Gov. Buford Ellington for secretary of agriculture, will also see Kennedy.

The man who will take control of the government Jan. 20 is running behind schedule on filling the top echelon of those who will help him govern. He had hoped to complete the Cabinet by the end of this week.

He told a news conference that he is taking time to exercise "the best judgment I can" for such positions as secretaries of state, defense and treasury because he hopes to get the best possible people and assurances they will remain in his administration for four years.

Basketball Star

Udall, 40, is a lawyer who once starred at basketball at the University of Arizona, developed an interest in Indian problems, and arrived in Congress in 1955. A Mormon, he served as an enlisted Air Force gunner during World War II.

He wears a crew cut and has a complexion burnished by the Arizona sun.

Economy Disagreement-- Recession Or Sluggish

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three nongovernment economists agreed Wednesday the country was in a recession but said it was too early to tell how severe it would be.

Two government economists appearing on the same panel at a congressional hearing shied away from the word "recession" as emotion-laden.

But they said the nation's economy was in a downturn or at least a sluggish condition.

Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., chairman of the Senate-House Economic Committee conducting the hearings, drew from one government witness agreement that unemployment might top 5.5 million in January.

This official, Deputy Asst. Secretary of Labor Seymour L. Wolfbein, said that if the present 6.4 per cent seasonally adjusted rate of unemployment continues, the jobless total will be 5.2 million in January as compared with 3,579,000 in October.

Going Up

But Douglas pointed out that unemployment insurance applications have been going up, indicating that the 6.4 per cent figure will increase.

Wolfbein said this was quite possible and that, if so, the 5.5 million total mentioned by Douglas for midwinter could come about.

The other government witness, Louis J. Paradiso, chief statistician of the Office of Business Economics of the Commerce Department, said, "At the present time no major forces are in sight to provide the upward thrust needed for resumption of economic growth."

Unfavorable factors, he said, are a reduction in consumer buying even though personal incomes have continued to gain, a sharp housing cut, a turndown in spending by business for new plant and equipment, and a big deficit in the nation's total international balance of payments.

Joseph A. Pechman of the Brookings Institution, a private research organization, said, "The recession of 1960-61 has been under way for about six months."

Charles L. Schultze, associate professor of economics at Indiana University, also said there is a recession going on now, the fourth since World War II.

The third private economist, Geoffrey H. Moore, associate research director for the National Bureau of Economic Research, took a more optimistic view.

He said a contraction has been under way since May but there are tentative indications it will be relatively mild.

Seventh St. To Be Closed Monday

THE SEVENTH St. bridge in Stroudsburg will be closed to traffic Monday morning to permit work to continue on the Stroudsburgs Thruway.

Harold E. Snyder, borough manager, told Stroudsburg Borough Council that he had been notified by J. H. Beers, Inc., ichmond, contractor on the thruway, of the closing.

As a result of Route 611 traffic being routed over Broad St. during the period the Seventh St. span is closed, Council approved no parking on both sides of Broad St. Currently parking is permitted on one side of the street.

Police Chief John B. Tretheway said last night northbound Route 611 will be detoured onto Broad St. at the foot of Foxtown Hill and will then proceed up Ann St. along with westbound Route 209 traffic.

Southbound Route 611 traffic will be detoured via Main St. and Broad St. to the foot of Foxtown Hill.

Tretheway said he originally planned to have 611 traffic continue to Park Ave. and then double back onto Broad, but the state ruled against him.

Anti-Castro Forces Hit Cuba; 16 Killed

HAVANA (AP) — Gunfighting was reported again Wednesday between anti-Castro forces and government militiamen in central Cuba.

Unconfirmed reports said 16 militiamen were killed in the clashes and that Prime Minister Fidel Castro and his brother, Raul Castro, Cuban armed forces minister, had gone to the area to direct the operation against the rebels.

Insurgents also were reported stepping up their guerrilla warfare in the Escambray Mountains of south central Las Villas Province.

The Cuban armed forces press bureau had no comments on any of the reports.

Central Cuba was the scene two months ago of a mass trial of insurgents captured by Castro forces. Castro claimed at the time to have wiped out the resistance by the execution of 5 rebels and prison sentences for 180.

The reports reaching here said the 16 government militiamen were killed in fighting along the Matanzas-Las Villas provincial border. Another report said anti-Castro forces killed a militiaman who denounced his father and sweetheart as counter-revolutionaries.

The capital of Matanzas Province is about 50 miles east of Havana.

Reports of a mass defection by a Castro army unit in western Cuba also were circulating here.

They told of the defection of Capt. Clodomiro Miranda Mendiela and some of his men Tuesday. Miranda, commander of the Seboruco garrison, reportedly took 200 men with him into the mountains of Pinar del Rio Province. A militia force of some 2,000 men reportedly was sent after them.

Also from western Cuba came a report that a truck loaded with new Czech and Soviet arms disappeared from San Julian Air Base, a heavily guarded marshalling area for weapons and aircraft arriving from Iron Curtain countries.

The arms and the vehicle were presumed to have fallen into the hands of insurgents.

Fred Waring's Daughter, 26, Is Married

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Dixie Lyn Waring, daughter of orchestra leader Fred Waring, and Albert W. Wilson, Waring's stage manager, were married Wednesday at the home of a friend in suburban Birmingham.

Miss Waring, 26, is the band's featured vocalist. It was her first marriage. It was the fourth marriage for the 39-year-old Wilson.

The pair was married at the home of George H. Webb. They arrived in Detroit Tuesday night from Milwaukee and after an appearance Wednesday night with Waring's Pennsylvanians will accompany the group Thursday to Warren, Ohio.

Wilson said they had no plans for a honeymoon until after the present tour ends Dec. 15.

The pair obtained a marriage license here earlier Wednesday. Wilson listed his home address as Delaware Water Gap, Pa., and she listed Shawnee-on-Delaware, Pa.

Grippe Strikes Khrush

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev's illness was officially described Wednesday night as the grippe, or influenza.

First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan made the announcement when he stepped before the microphone at a Kremlin reception for President Liu Shao-chi of Communist China — one of the many functions Khrushchev has missed since Saturday.

After the exchange of toasts for Liu, Mikoyan said: "You probably wonder why a person who is so fond of making such great toasts is absent today, especially when he could toast the great Soviet-Chinese friendship."

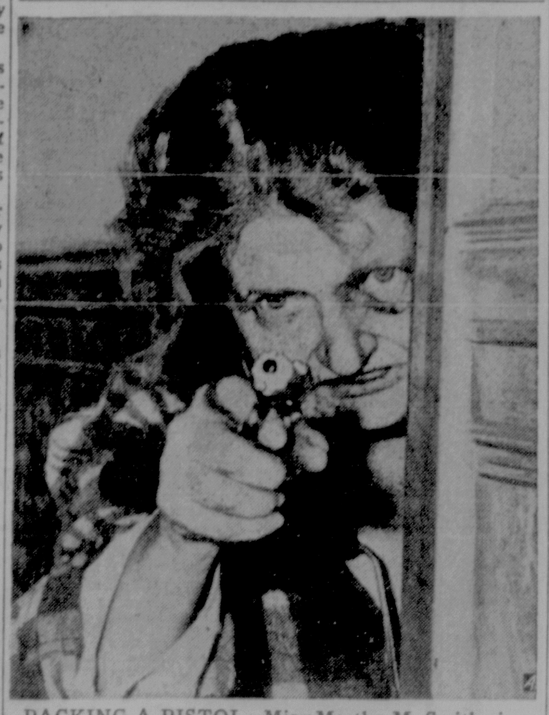
Mikoyan smiled and continued: "But comrade Khrushchev has slight trouble with the grippe. And the grippe is stronger than human will. He could have overcome this trouble if the doctors had permitted. But they did not let him come. They are stronger than the grippe, and he had to stay in bed."

Most of the audience had known for two days that the 66-year-old premier was ill, although nothing had appeared in Soviet newspapers.

Concluding his brief statement, Mikoyan said: "Comrade Khrushchev has asked me to make a toast here to the great Soviet-Chinese unbreakable friendship, and personally to comrades Mao Tze-tung, Liu Shao-chi, Chou En-lai, and Chu Teh. So let's fullfil his wish."

The audience raised glasses. Frol R. Kozlov, a secretary of the Soviet Communist party Central Committee, led the applause that followed Mikoyan's speech.

As this went on, Khrushchev apparently was keeping to his bed at his Lenin Hills villa with a slight temperature.



PACKING A PISTOL—Miss Martha M. Smith aims a cap pistol at newsmen and photographers just before she moved out of her San Francisco flat. The 57-year-old woman was ordered by the redevelopment agency to vacate the otherwise empty building more than a month ago but she had refused to move. Finally she packed her household articles, took her two dogs in tow, waved her toy gun and departed to a new residence. (AP Wirephoto)

New 'Hot Rod' Booster Used For Satellite

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The Air Force, using a new "hot rod" booster, fired into polar orbit Wednesday a Discoverer satellite containing human tissue and sky spy gadgets.

Planes later will try to recover the cargo by catching the moonlet's parachuting space capsule in the air.

The new satellite is girdling the globe once every 94 minutes in an egg-shaped path whose far point is 450 miles, near point 150.

Discoverer XVIII soared skyward at 12:20 p.m., burning louder and brighter and moving faster than any of its predecessors.

This was due to improvements in the engine of its Thor IRBM booster rocket. Its thrust has been souped up 15,000 pounds to a total of 165,000.

Increased Power

The power increase, officers said, will help the Discoverer program by permitting orbits at higher altitudes to gather data not available at present levels and by enabling the second-stage Agena B—all of which orbits—to carry more fuel. This means it can start and stop its engine in flight, and maneuver in space.

The human tissue, from the underside of an eyelid, was in a 300-pound capsule in the nose of the second stage. With it were bits of human bone marrow, algae, spores, gamma globulin, albumin, gold foil and various kinds of film.

Scientists sent them aloft, and hope to recover them, to learn how they are affected by radiation—vital for the man in space program.

The spy gear was secret, but presumably included instruments being tested for the Midas and Samos satelite series. These include cameras for behind the Iron Curtain reconnaissance, and infrared detectors to sense rocket firings.

Plans Indefinite

Recovery plans were indefinite. Normally, Discoverer catches are tried about 26 hours after launch. It is more valuable in the study program, however, for them to stay up longer, if possible.

The Air Force said that if all goes well, Discoverer XVIII will perhaps be allowed to whirl longer than any other in the series.

Longest lived Discoverer to date was No. 17, successfully recovered last month after more than two days in orbit.

Recovery plans call for the capsule to be ejected over the arctic so it will parachute into a target area near Hawaii. Cargo planes trailing trapeze-like devices will try to snag its 'chute. If they fail, ships will seek to find it in the sea. Thus far in the series, two have been plucked from the air, one from the sea.

Eisenhowers To Go To Farm

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mamie Eisenhower said Wednesday she thought she and the President would go to their Gettysburg, Pa., farm "for the first few days" after they leave the White House, Jan. 20.

She indicated to reporters there was nothing definite beyond that about their plans.

10 Erie-Lacka. Cars Derailed

POMPTON PLAINS, N. J. (AP) —Ten Erie-Lackawanna Railroad freight cars and a caboose uncoupled and derailed here yesterday spilling their cargo of sand, police said.

No one was injured. The Engineer brought the remainder of the eastbound train into Jersey City.

An eleventh car tore up 1,000 feet of single line track before it too derailed, police said. The company estimated that six commuter trains which normally carry over 1,000 people would have to be rerouted while the track is repaired.

Damage was not estimated immediately.

Greater Citizen Help In Local Affairs Urged

PENNSYLVANIA Boroughs' Association secretary Dr. Lee Decker urged greater citizen participation in public affairs while addressing the Stroudsburg Lions Club at Penn-Stroud Hotel during their weekly dinner session.

Decker said that the basic difference in the democratic and communistic points of view on social orgaiization is that democracies hold that governments do exist and function for the individual. But that the communist theory is the individual exists purely for the benefit of the state. He especially urged greater participation in public affairs at local levels.

With this basic principle in the mind, anyone can understand, he pointed out, that totalitarian governments are necessarily ruthless and the sacrifice of a million lives means little if the purpose of the tyrannical masters are served.

Citizen Owes Debt

The secretary explained the citizen owes a debt of service to the community, state and nation and should never hesitate to participate in public service. He stressed the importance of local government and queried what the local government is and what its functions denote.

The speaker stated that there are upwards of 5,000 local governments in Pennsylvania and all their activities start on the community phase so that they do local work.

Dr. Decker told of a visit he made to the republic of Israel and praised the accomplishments of the Jews in making over that ancient terrain. They literally, have made the desert bloom, he said.

Lesson Taught

The lesson taught by the new republic is that democracy works best, where the people do their part. Also, the people are an end in themselves and the governments subservient to them. The state is the servant of the people not the master of the people he observed.

Showing how local freedom can decay, he said there is today no local government in Greece, the land where democracy—was once conceived in glory. It has faded since the days of Pericles, he explained.

In the business session, committee chairman Robert Haigh stated that an excellent entertainment has been secured for the annual children's party which will be held on Tuesday, Dec. 20. The club will receive the mothers and children at 7 o'clock.

Dr. Decker, was presented by Borough Secretary Harold Snyder.

GOP Senate Heads To Meet

HARRISBURG (AP) — Republican leaders of the Senate yesterday scheduled a meeting for GOP senators here Dec. 12 to reorganize for the 1961 session of the legislature.

It will be the first time in 22 years that the Republicans reorganize as the minority party of the Senate.

Democrats picked up three Senate seats in the Nov. 8 elections, making the party division 25-25. Lt. Gov. John Morgan Davis, a Democrat, has the tie-breaking vote on organization of the new session.

No contests for leadership posts were reported and these officers were expected to be renamed to their posts: Sens. James S. Berger, Potter, as floor leader; Albert R. Pechan, Armstrong, as assistant floor leader, and Robert D. Fleming, Allegheny, as caucus chairman.

Trio Face Game Charges

THREE Allentown RD. 4 men posted bail yesterday before Justice of the Peace Horton M. Place, East Stroudsburg RD. 1, for their appearance in Monroe County Court on game law violation charges.

The three were identified as Elmer F. Havens, 51; Fred L. Price, 33 and Donald Powell, 32. They were charged with shining a light on deer while in the possession of firearms. They were found guilty at a hearing before Justice of Peace Place.

Plan To Appeal

The men decided to appeal the magistrate's finding in court. Havens and Price were committed to Monroe County Jail, Stroudsburg. They were released Tuesday night when Powell made arrangements for posting of bail in the amount of $218 each for himself and his two companions.

Hunters Pose Fire Menace

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Forest and Waters Pennsylvania reported Wednesday Pennsylvania deer hunters pose a serious fire menace to the state's tinder-dry woodlands.

With the deer hunting season only three days old, fires already have consumed hundreds of acres of timberland in at least seven counties. There are nine days left in the deer season.

Foresters blamed nearly every blaze on hunters, a department spokesman said.

Ordinarily hunters would not pose such a threat to the woodlands, the spokesman added. Forest fire fighters count the most dangerous season as the period between the end of summer and Thanksgiving.

Lack Of Rain, Snow

After that winter weather usually sets in with generally wet conditions.

But this year high temperatures in much of the state coupled with a lack of rain or snow fall in most areas has left the forests in dangerously dry condition.

"Normally, the fall fire season would be over by now," the spokesman said. "But it has been unusually long this year."

The forests and waters agency said it is not yet ready to declare the situation an emergency.

Help For Scholars

A study conducted by Dean John U. Munro of Harvard sheds new light on a condition with which educators and many parents have long been familiar.

It is that the talented high school athlete finds plenty of helping hands to get him into college, but the talented scholar must go it alone.

The sad result is that nearly a half million students in the top 30 percent of their class drop out of school or college each year. In an era when education is a weapon of the cold war between slave state and free, this waste borders on national disgrace.

Dean Munro's contention is that all the willing workers now engaged in getting little old Brawn into the old Alma Mater for the good of its football and basketball teams might well do the same for little old Brain.

The idea is that even if the scholar doesn't pack the stadium, chances are he will contribute considerably to the country's welfare.

The college itself must work at this effort to attract the bright student. As Dean Munro says so succinctly, colleges must learn "to recognize talent in the rough and take chances on individual people who may not fit our particular categories."

For some good pointers on what to do about getting these scholastic discoveries into college and keeping them there, the residents in the ivory towers might study the smooth operation of the machine that recruits star football and basketball players.

One School That's Out

Before the differences got fuzzed up, the campaign uproar over Quemoy showed that Senator Kennedy and his advisers want to introduce some fresh ideas into U.S. policy toward Red China.

He'll soon have the opportunity to do so, but there's at least one school of thought that should be ruled out. Its leading exponent at the moment is Dean Acheson, a Kennedy adviser of shadowy status who nonetheless thinks he knows just what the next Administration should do about Red China.

First, the U.S. must "define" its policy toward Formosa. We must "stop pretending that Chiang Kai-shek is still the leader of the Chinese nation." Chiang must be pressed to demobilize part of his army and to retreat from Quemoy and Matsu. In place of present U.S. commitments to defend the island, we should get "some guarantees" of its security from the U.N., and let Red China take a U.N. seat. This done, says Mr. Acheson, "we can deal with Red China on a different basis."

Quite so. The U.S. would thus go back to dealing with Red China the way Mr. Acheson did as Truman's Secretary of State, and we would yield much in the old hope that "we can possibly exact something from them in return." In short, the U.S. would again back down a one-way street toward a likely dead end.

Frankly, we aren't so sure this country needs a spate of fresh ideas on foreign policy as much as it needs firm application of some it already has. And as dissatisfied as he may be with U.S. policies toward Red China, we think Mr. Kennedy will reject out of hand the old and disappointing one of appeasement.

George Sokolsky Says . . .

Negro Question

In the United States, the excessively emotional Negro question now divides itself into three parts:

1. The United Nations includes a large number of Negro or partially Negro countries as members, all having been formally recognized by the United States as sovereign states. The delegates from such countries, Presidents, Prime Ministers, Ministers of Foreign Affairs, etc., are usually men of education with degrees from important universities.

When they come to the United States, they expect to be treated in accordance with their status at home and their international position. They are so treated in Moscow, London, Paris, etc.

Furthermore, as a matter of practical politics, as long as we are members of the United Nations, engaged in the Cold War, the United States needs these countries as allies.

Soviet Russia has already made progress in Ghana and Guinea but not in Liberia or Nigeria. It can be costly for the United States, in many respects, to lose Africa to the Soviet Universal State.

When a restaurant headwaiter in New York makes a distinction between a diplomat and an ordinary Negro, when he asks where a person comes from who has a dark skin, preferring a Dominican or a Chadian to an Alabaman or a Harlem Negro, he makes a fool of himself because how are such distinctions to be made? What is the test? Is the headwaiter capable of making an anthropological or an ethnological test?

The cost of such distinctions in terms of votes in the United Nations or in terms of diplomatic and commercial relations between this country and African or Latin American states where Negro or mixed populations prevail can be very damaging, particularly in these days when those who a few years ago were students are now important officials.

2. In the 1930's an enormous movement of American Negroes from South to North took place. The result of this movement is that in some large Northern states, Negroes hold the balance of political power or come close to it.

In New York City, Negroes and their allies hold the balance of political power; no one opposed by Negroes as "unfriendly," can be elected to any public office. This is true to a lesser or greater degree in many other cities.

This means, in political terms, that what the Irish accomplished in the large Northern cities in the 1880's and the Italians presently, is today becoming the role of the Negro in these places.

Some politicians are honestly without racial consciousness or prejudice; others are liars and hypocrites, playing little opportunistic games. Whichever may be the attitude, all politicians in these Northern states must cater to the Negro vote and to Negro influence.

For instance, the Negroes in the North and outside of the United States look upon Senator Fulbright as the Senator from Little Rock who did not stand up as a Liberal when the segregation problem became critical in his state.

They regard him as a segregationist, as a reactionary in Arkansas and a Liberal in Washington. He will make no progress in Africa and the premature appointment of "Soapy" Williams to be Assistant Secretary of State for African Affairs will not help Fulbright if he is appointed Secretary of State.

In New York State, this becomes very important in 1962 when Gov. Nelson Rockefeller will run again for governor with the object of a build-up for the Presidential nomination. The appointment of one who is regarded as anti-Negro as Secretary of State, as is rumored at the moment of writing these notes, could affect the state vote in 1962 and the 1964 Presidential campaign. Such is Negro politics in the North.

3. The segregation problem in the South therefore ceases to be a local problem. It is both national and international. It affects our position in the Cold War. It can lead to our defeat in the United Nations. It could, in fact, result in isolation. The "whites" are in a minority. They have held sway for only a few centuries and the revolt against them is now universal.

We, in the United States, find ourselves in the middle of the 20th century the most involved country in this racial conflict, with local problems complicating any position we might prefer to take in the world. The Russian enemy, of course, has taken every advantage of this particular conflict, to our disadvantage.

Try and Stop Me —by Bennet Cerf

An elderly farmer reluctantly accepted his daughter's invitation to spend a week with her husband and herself in Chicago. When he got back home he reached happily for his overalls, pipe and slippers and explained to his wife. "What I like least about the big city is that the minute you step out of the house, you're away from home."

A comedian wangled a fortnight booking at a second-rate night club, then beseeched an agent, discarded when the comic was in the chips, to "catch" his new act. There weren't fifty patrons in the club the night the agent showed up, and they did not laugh once. "This was an off night," alibied the comic in his dressing room. "Man, you should have seen me LAST night."

The agent answered grimly, "I DID!"

The Pennsylvania Story

GOP Challenge

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — Deer season may have opened Monday for Pennsylvania's nimrods — but today is the first day of "open season" on Pennsylvanians themselves!

The occasion of course is the opening of registration books once again throughout the state for new registrations and those who wish to change their existing party affiliations.

The current open season on Pennsylvanians insofar as these party registrations are concerned is of considerably more than passing interest this time.

In fact it is perhaps more momentous than at almost any time in the history of the Keystone State. The new registration period opening today falls in the category of being critically significant for several reasons.

To begin with, look at it in this light: Pennsylvania Democrats for the first time walk into a new registration period—not as the underdogs as they have been historically in the past — but as the top dog.

Are they destined to retain this edge? Can wandering Republicans offset the historic gain snapped up by Keystone State donkey riders when the registration books closed for the past November 8 presidential election?

Insofar as partisans are concerned, the answer to both questions is a strong "yes".

However it isn't quite as simple as that. There is no question that Pennsylvania donkey riders during the past few years have rained the political hills heavily with shot and shell to attain their record of a registration edge they now enjoy, even though it is less than 3,000.

At the same time they know full well they cannot hold this edge merely by sitting still and watching the passing parade.

Democratic leaders are fearful that the historic edge they now enjoy may prove to be an overconfident trade wind that may lull party workers into registration doldrums.

The significant point is that Democrats must have a far greater edge then they have now — if they hope to continue confidently as the majority party in the Keystone State insofar as the holding of public offices is concerned.

The edge is too shaky — and as events of the past few years have clearly shown, just a nominally healthy edge is no insurance against loss. The 1954 fiasco when Democrats stumbled off with the governorship — notwithstanding the near million GOP registration edge — is glaring enough proof, and the basic reason why Pennsylvania Democratic leaders are deeply concerned and determined not to be content with simply maintaining a status quo.

Pennsylvania Republicans on the other hand are in a fit. They know that up to this point at least the tide has been running against them. They're in identically the same boat their Democratic counterparts were madly and desperately rowing a few short years ago!

Should the registration edge continue in favor of Democrats in this state when the current registration period is over, Republican leaders know full well they quite definitely will have the bruising battle of their life on their hands.

No tide of battle is turned by a series of "victorious defeats" — although Republicans in the past have been too prone to hopefully refer to their "winless victories" in this vein. The significant point is that should Pennsylvania Democrats again pull ahead soundly in this registration period opening today, Pennsylvania Republicans undeniably can look forward to a long, long haul to even return respectably to the shooting match.

The die for some years to come may well be cast in the "open season" on Pennsylvanians that gets under way today!

We've heard a lot of stories about individuals who actually love their job. And the recent case of Miss Barbara Ann Barrow, former resident of East Stroudsburg pinpoints this feeling 100 percent.

Last Saturday Miss Barrow, a teacher in Freehold Regional High School, Freehold, N. J., slipped and broke her arm. She was removed to the town's hospital where a cast was put on the injured member.

On Monday she was discharged from the hospital at 10:30 a.m. Where do you think she was at 11:30 a.m. You're right, back toiling before her English classes at Freehold High.

Miss Barrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morton Barrow, East Stroudsburg, is a 1960 graduate of Penn State University.

If you get a chance, look at the wonderful window decorations at Paul Lloyd's Store in East Stroudsburg. Thomas Lincoln Waring did the honors

Social Security Guide

Q. I have been paying into social security ever since 1951. I sent for a statement of my social security earnings and found that my self-employment income for 1959 was not recorded. What do I do about this?

A. Don't worry. There is a period of about ten months between the time your return is filed and the time your earnings are entered on your social security records. If you check after one year has gone by and there is no record, get in touch with your nearest social security office.

The Allen-Scott Report

Kennedy Target

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — Complicating President-elect Kennedy's choice for Secretary of the Treasury, the second-ranking member of the cabinet, is a dynamite-loaded problem involving the Federal Reserve Board.

The tight money and credit policies of this key banking agency, notably of its adamant Chairman William McChesney Martin, and Kennedy's repeatedly avowed intention to do something about them, may precipitate one of the stormiest clashes of the coming Democratic Administration.

This looming threat has all the makings of a blazing personal and policy struggle comparable to President Andrew Jackson's historic battle with the U.S. Bank.

Background reasons for this are:

Unlike the Cabinet, ambassadors and other high officials, the seven Reserve Board members do not automatically lose their jobs when a new president comes in. They are appointed for 14 years, and the only vacancy Kennedy will be able to fill before 1965 is that of M. S. Szymczak, Chicago, whose term expires in 1962. He was named by President Truman.

Only legislation voted by Congress could reshuffle this board. Martin's term doesn't end until 1970, and he can remain chairman, to which he was named by President Eisenhower, until April 1963.

Both as a member of the Senate and as presidential candidate, Kennedy has been caustically critical of Federal Reserve policies, particularly assailing them as inflexible and responsible for "high interest rates." During the campaign he served notice that, if elected, he would demand the Reserve Board "cooperate with strong and well-considered presidential leadership, as it did with the Eisenhower administration."

Since the election, Martin has made no secret he is highly suspicious of what Kennedy means by "cooperate", and is prepared to vigorously oppose any move to undermine Federal Reserve "independence". Martin has told financial writers, "No one is going to dominate the Reserve Board as long as I am on it."

Legislation is already being prepared for Kennedy to do exactly what Martin fears — eliminate him as chairman, if not wholly from the board, and make it more amenable to White House policies.

Martin apparently has gotten wind of this. If he hasn't, he will hear about it soon because this plan is on Kennedy's priority list for the coming session of Congress.

It is his view that greater Federal Reserve "cooperation is essential for truly coordinated economic and fiscal policies."

To achieve this, Kennedy will propose the establishment of a council, comparable to the all-powerful National Security Council, over which the President presides personally, to formulate and coordinate the government's economic and fiscal policies.

This new council would have the final word over the Reserve Board.

Comprising the council would be the secretary of the Treasury, the budget Director, the head of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, the chairman of the Federal Reserve, and possibly the secretaries of Commerce and Labor. The last two are still undecided.

This legislation would also provide that the head of the Reserve Board "serve at the pleasure of the President" — meaning he would name his own chairman.

If enacted, that would automatically eliminate Martin.

That's why Kennedy is taking such great pains with his Treasury choice. He wants to be sure the appointee will be steadfastly on his side if it comes to an open showdown with Martin.

Martin, originally from St. Louis, was named to the Reserve Board in 1951 by Truman. He went along with Democratic fiscal policies, but in the Eisenhower administration has been a leading advocate of a balanced budget and a tight rein on money and credit. Also for a "completely free and independent Federal Reserve System."

Flashes — Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie is making a three-day official visit to Brazil next week, the first time he has been to South America.

The military services are considering offsetting President Eisenhower's order drastically cutting the number of dependents abroad by permitting husbands with children to make at least two trips to the U.S. annually. Pentagon leaders believe such a plan would greatly boost morale.

Aides of President-elect Kennedy are displaying particular interest in the White House's swimming pool and tennis court, saying he and the next First Lady plan to use both. The Eisenhowers rarely used the swimming pool and never the tennis court. The pool was installed in the Franklin Roosevelt Administration, by public contributions, and the tennis court by President Theodore Roosevelt, an ardent tennis player.

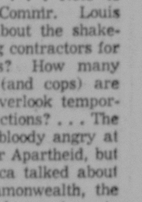
Inside You And Yours

Headache Pill

By Burton H. Fern, M.D.

Doubting Thomas: Aspirin a killer?

M. D.: Yes. It rarely hurts adults, but it kills more children each year than polio.



D. T.: How?

M. D.: An overdose makes you breathe so hard and fast that you exhale most of the carbon dioxide in your blood.

D. T.: Isn't this good?

M. D.: No. Carbon dioxide turns into an acid inside your body. You need this acid to balance the acid-neutralizers in your system.

D. T.: So?

M. D.: To restore balance, the kidneys flush acid-neutralizers down the drain.

D. T.: Then everything is fine?

M. D.: No. Aspirin also smothers those microscopic fires which burn sugar. And so the body has to melt and burn fats for heat and energy. Burning fats change into acids that build up in the blood stream and make you sick.

Doesn't Neutralize?

D. T.: Doesn't the blood neutralize these acids?

M. D.: It can't. The kidneys have emptied out most acid-neutralizers. An unarmed victim can't fight off a gang of acid-slinging hoodlums.

D. T.: How does the acid affect him?

M. D.: He up-chucks. Foggy vision blinds him while an imaginary foghorn blasts in his ears. Droplets of sweat drip from his bluish brow before he finally lapses into coma.

D. T.: What should I do if Junior gets into the aspirin?

M. D.: Call your doctor before you dash off to the hospital. He may suggest a dose of ipecac to help Junior bring up most of the aspirin before it's absorbed into the system—or a mild laxative to speed it along the other way.

Speed Urgent

If you can't reach your doctor, don't wait; every minute counts! Junior's stomach can be rinsed clean at the hospital emergency room while you're still trying to reach the good doctor.

D. T.: What do you give for acid blood?

M. D.: Bicarbonate of soda.

D. T.: Ordinary baking soda? How many boxes do you use?

Solution Injected

M. D.: We inject a special sterilized solution directly into the blood stream.

D. T.: And what happens to all the aspirin?

M. D.: Most flushes through the kidneys. If they're too sluggish, we hook up a third—artificial — kidney. We may even replace the blood with aspirin-free transfusions. Aspirin poisoning can be prevented!

D. T.: That's right. Baby aspirins come in trick bottles with safety caps that children can't open.

M. D.: Don't rely on bottle caps. Junior can still get into adult aspirin bottles.

Use your head and lock aspirin away with all your other drugs!

Veteran's Guide

Q. I am the son of a peacetime veteran who died of the extra-hazardous service he was exposed to and am eligible to take training under the War Orphans Education Act. But I'm not especially interested in going to college. What other kinds of courses can I take?

A. In addition to classroom work leading to a college degree, the War Orphans Education Act provides opportunity for training in a wide variety of schools below the college level — technical institutes, business schools, some vocational or trade schools, normal schools, institutions offering training in medical and related fields, and junior colleges.

Interment will be in the St. Ann Cemetery, Tobyhanna.

Durkan Funeral Home, Scranton, is in charge of arrangements.

Outstanding 'Ag' Students Cited

OUTSTANDING students in vocational agriculture and homemaking in the county's high schools were honored yesterday by the Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Citations of merit, along with pen and pencil sets, were awarded to the nine students chosen from the four joint school districts.

Homemaking awards went to Barbara Borger and Kathleen Bonser, both of Pleasant Valley Jointure; Gloria Jean Keiper, Pocono Mountain Jointure; Pauline Borden, Stroud Union School District, and Kathy Heller, East Stroudsburg Jointure.

Pleasant Valley

Four boys, all from the Pleasant Valley Jointure, were cited in vocational agriculture. They are: Larry Altemose, Larry Borger, Donald Brong and Sterling Borger.

The young people were introduced by their school advisers: Mrs. Jeanette Mitchell and Clifford Stroud, Pleasant Valley; Mrs. Grace Wildrick, Pocono Mountain; Miss Mary Hall, Stroud Union and Mrs. Jean Callie, East Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Laura A. Halliday, homemaking supervisor for Monroe and two other counties, and H. E. Newcomer, five-county director of vocational agriculture, presented the advisers.

Present Two Checks

The Kiwanis Club also presented two checks for use in 4-H Club work, one to Miss Margaret MacLarea for the girls and Arhtur E. Ifft, for the boys.

Dr. Nathan G. Meyer, chairman of the Kiwanis committee, conducted the program. He was assisted by Dale H. Learn, A. M. Price and Henry Tucker. Elwood C. German presided at the meeting.

Educators who were guests at the meeting included Walter H. Sebring, assistant county superintendent of schools; Earl F. Groner, superintendent, Stroud Union Schools; Carl T. Secor, supervising principal, East Stroudsburg Jointure; C. Willis Dunlap, supervising principal, Pocono Mountain Jointure, and Samuel Lee, Tobyhanna Township principal who represented Pleasant Valley Jointure.

Eastburg Singers Entertain

THE 120 voices of the East Stroudsburg Area High School Glee Club and Choraliers sang at the December meeting of the East Stroudsburg State College Student Education Association meeting last night in the college auditorium. A capacity crowd attended.

The program began with a series of numbers by the Choraliers and was followed by a demonstration rehearsal which led to a varied program of Christmas music.

The Glee Club and Choraliers are under the direction of Kenneth Raessler, director at the East Stroudsburg Area High School.

Church Group To Hold Party

THE Friendly Class of United Church of Christ, Stroudsburg, will hold its annual Christmas Party today at 5:30 p.m. in the church.

The party will be a covered dish dinner and members are reminded to bring their gift. Following the dinner gifts will be exchanged.

For Those Who Have Not

BEFORE settling down this season to worry about what kind of Christmas gift we can find for the "man (or woman) who has everything," perhaps we should pause briefly to give sober thought to the proper gift for men and women who have almost nothing.

There's a theory, accepted by most of us, that the gift itself is not really important—it's the spirit behind it that counts. But, for the children and adults in our community who have relatively little, the spirit and the gift are equally important. If, on an impulse, you should go dashing off today and buy a gross of silver spoons to be delivered to the unfortunate among us, you'd be making an empty, futile gesture.

There are many things these people need, need desperately. But, we do not know the families, the children, the homeless and lonely individuals with whom we'd like to share our own Christmas happiness. We are in no position to set up a list of appropriate gifts for them.

In Position

But, The Salvation Army is in just such a position. The Army knows these people well, knows what they need and want, knows exactly what will create for them a truly happy Christmas. When you give to The Salvation Army Christmas Appeal, you can be sure that you are giving to those less fortunate the most effective gifts, the proper gifts, chosen with wisdom and care against a background of knowledge and love.

We suggest that you share your own happy Christmas in the best possible manner by sending a generous contribution today to the Salvation Army Christmas Appeal.

Fire Prevention Ordinance Okayed

STROUDSBURG Borough Council last night passed an ordinance requiring dikes around any storage tank containing inflammable liquids if it has a capacity of 1,000 gallons or more.

The action may eventually lead to a comprehensive fire prevention code for the borough.

Seen Hazard

Philips told council that the leak, in a 17,000-gallon tank which had just been filled, could have caused a serious fire if fumes from it had reached gas fired space heaters in the adjoining Worthington Mower Co. plant.

After a lengthy discussion on the subject, Borough Solicitor George T. Robinson produced an ordinance regulating such storage which was drawn up in 1954 but, for some reason, was never adopted by council.

No Opposition

It passed without opposition after council and Philips agreed that a 1,000-gallon capacity should be written into it.

The ordinance provides that the dikes around the tanks must be sufficient to contain the capacity of the largest tank, plus 10 percent of the aggregate capacity of all tanks.

Philips told council there are four bulk plants located in the Second St. area, all of whom will be affected by the new ordinance.

Speed Limit

Council approved erection of 35 mile an hour speed limit signs on McConnell St. between Second and Fifth Sts. after the State Highways Dept. informed the group that McConnell St. is considered a borough thoroughfare and that council has the right to set speed limits on it.

The action came as the result of a request to the Highways Dept. for permission to establish 35 mile an hour zones on McConnell St. and on Main St. between Fifth St. and the interborough bridge.

The department approved the 35-mile an hour limit on Main St., which is considered a state highway, and sent an application for erection of the signs which will be returned to the department after completion.

Other Action

Council also:

Heard a report by Borough Manager Harold E. Snyder that operation of a sanitary land fill garbage disposal system will cost about $15,000 yearly, plus $15,000 for initial equipment. Snyder said Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg, and possibly some townships, will share the costs. A meeting will be held next week with a state sanitarian to discuss problems of organizing such a system.

Authorized annual appropriations of $1,000 each to Chemical Co. No. 1 and Phoenix Fire Co. No. 2.

Authorized Snyder to advertise for bids for a new police car to be received at the next council meeting on Jan. 4.

Received a request from the Stroudsburg Police Dept. for a "greatly needed" increase in salary amounting to 10 percent in each pay bracket. Council President Edward R. Lawson told Police Chief John B. Tretheway, who presented the request, it will be considered when next year's budget is being discussed.

S-burg Man Fined, Freed

HORACE LaBadie, 43, of 49 N. 10th St., Stroudsburg, pleaded guilty to a disorderly charge last night before Justice of the Peace John Foelkner, Stroudsburg.

LaBadie was released after paying a fine and cost.

He was arrested Tuesday night by the Stroudsburg Police and placed in the Monroe County Jail until last night.

Police Look For Hunter

MILFORD — State Police of the local barracks and volunteers yesterday launched a search for a deer hunter missing in the Greeley area.

Troopers identified him as Gerald Weiner, 24, of 520 N. Jordon St., Allentown. They said the search was organized about 7 p.m. after other hunters reported him missing.

Weiner was described as six feet tall, weighing 200 pounds and was wearing a yellow hunting outfit.

COLLEGE PLAY — Betty Gimbel (left) as the mother and Karen Snyder as Anne are shown during rehearsal for "The Diary of Anne Frank," which will be presented by East Stroudsburg State College Students at 8 p.m. today, tomorrow and Saturday in the college auditorium. Payroll Tax To Rise To Aid Jobless

HARRISBURG (AP)—Continued high unemployment in Pennsylvania will force a boost in Pennsylvania's payroll tax to finance jobless benefits.

A. Allen Sulcowe, executive director of the Bureau of Employment Security, said Wednesday Pennsylvania will join seven other states in raising average levies.

The present rate averages 2.96 per cent of employer payrolls covered by the unemployment compensation law. Sulcowe indicated the level next year may average 3.1 per cent.

The increase would affect about 122,000 employers. Under the state's unemployment compensation law the tax rate ranges on a sliding scale from 1.6 to 4 per cent. The tax levels are apportioned according to the degree of unemployment in an industry.

Pay Maximum

Some 78,500 employers in the steel, coal, construction, textile, cannery and other industries, presently pay the maximum rate and would not be directly affected by the boost. The estimated additional revenue will total some $15 million.

The state presently has 22 regions rated by the U.S. Labor Department as labor surplus areas. Pennsylvania's unemployment rate is one of the highest in the nation.

The money collected from the payroll tax goes into the states unemployment compensation fund. The employment security bureau indicated the fund would have a balance of $182 million at the end of 1960, including $102 million borrowed from the federal government.

$5 Million More

Jobless benefits paid out in 1960 are expected to total $258 million, compared to revenues of $253 million. However, with the higher payroll rate in effect 1961 revenue should wipe out the deficit, Sulcowe indicated. The average contribution in 1961 may be about 3.1 per cent.

Keystonians Added To 'Help' Unit

HARRISBURG (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy put more Pennsylvanians on his area redevelopment committee after the Lawrence administration complained about its original make-up, an administration spokesman said Wednesday night.

Asked about the report gained from another source, the spokesman, who refused to be identified, confirmed that the administration had interceded with Kennedy's camp to add four Pennsylvanians to the committee.

"Yes, that is true, the administration called the situation to the attention of Kennedy people and the oversight was corrected," the spokesman said, adding:

Deeply Concerned

"After all Gov. David L. Lawrence and his administration are deeply concerned about the problem of unemployment in this state and what must be done about it."

Pennsylvania's program for attracting new industry to relieve unemployment is considered one of the best in the nation. It is carried out under a state-community loan program administered by the Department of Commerce.

When Kennedy named the committee from Palm Beach Sunday, it included only one Pennsylvanian—William L. Batt Jr., secretary of labor and industry.

In the past 24 hours, however, William R. Davlin, Pennsylvania commerce secretary, and John P. Robin, chairman of the Pennsylvania State Planning Board were added. And Sen. Joseph S. Clark and Rep. Daniel Flood, both Democrats, were named to serve in an advisory capacity.

Flood and Clark teamed up with Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., the committee chairman, to sponsor legislation in Congress extending federal aid to areas of chronic unemployment. The legislation was vetoed by President Eisenhower and this became a hot issue in the presidential campaign.

Was Made Aware

Asked whether the administration's discontent was brought to the attention of Kennedy personally or to a member of his staff, the administration spokesman said:

"I am certain Sen. Kennedy was made aware of it."

Bid Opening Postponed

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The opening of bids for work on the Lehigh River flood protection project at Bethlehem has been postponed.

Col. T. H. Setliffe, district engineer of the Army Engineers, said Wednesday that difficulties in obtaining such things as land, easements and rights of way caused the postponement.

The bid date had been scheduled for Thursday or thereabouts in advance notices to bidders. A new date will be set later.

The work involved includes, a levee, drainage systems and an access road.

Gertsell Urges U.S. To Strengthen CD

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania's Civil Defense director said Wednesday "strong, positive leadership" is needed from the federal government to strengthen America's preparedness program.

Dr. Richard Gerstell of Lancaster, head of the state's CD operations since they were set up under a 1951 law, voiced hope that the incoming national administration will move quickly to revitalize the country's Civil Defense program.

He said President-elect John F. Kennedy should give the matter top priority to protect the country against the possibility of another Pearl Harbor attack such as occurred 19 years ago Wednesday.

"If Civil Defense is as important as so many people say it is, then the president should say so and in no uncertain terms," the ex-Navy and one-time U.S. Defense Department aide said in an interview.

Asked if he thought President Eisenhower hasn't provided aggressive enough leadership in the Civil Defense field, Gerstell replied:

Three Steps

Gerstell, a 50-year-old government career man and author of a book on how to survive atomic attack, said these steps should be given top priority in building a stronger CD organization:

1. Impress upon the public more fully the responsibility it has to assure survival in event of enemy attack. That would include a well-coordinated educational program urging families to prepare home shelters and emergency rations.

2. Devise the best warning system possible to guard against surprise attack, taking into consideration the challenge posed by modern weapons.

3. Get laws on the books specifying the procedures, such as rationing of food supplies,

'Hire The Handicapped' Exhibit At Local Bank

THE First-Stroudsburg National Bank will hold an exhibit of prize-winning poster art on the subject, "Hire the Handicapped," by high school students throughout Pennsylvania, H. F. Merring, president of the bank announced yesterday.

The exhibit, which will be displayed in the main banking room, will start today and last until Dec. 22.

The 25 prize-winning posters will be mounted for public review during the regular banking hours throughout the week. It includes five state-wide championship posters, as well as regional contest winners from this area.

Sponsored

Arranged through the cooperation of the bank and the Pennsylvania Bankers Association, it is sponsored by Gov. Lawrence's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped. State Secretary of Labor and Industry William L. Batt is chairman of the committee.

The bank announces that the public is invited to visit the exhibit.

Truck Tire Prices Reduced

Army, Air Force Seen In Dispute

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Harrisburg Evening News reported yesterday the Army and Air Force are involved in a fiscal dispute over a batch of trucks which the Air Force wants, but the Army owns.

The dispute involves 140 trucks stored at nearby New Cumberland Army General Depot, as well as some stored at other Army collection points, the News said.

The trucks — special telephone line construction vehicles — were bought by the Army in 1952 during the Korean conflict. They have been stored in preservatives ever since, but are classed in A1 condition.

When the Air Force indicated it wanted similar trucks during 1960, the Army offered 131 of them for $3,300 each. The Air Force inspected them and decided they were "like new" and are "acceptable for Air Force use."

But the Air Force balked at paying for them. Instead it contracted on April 1 for 63 new trucks at a cost of $5,800 each.

Meanwhile, the Army is stuck with the trucks.

Line Material Employes Honored

EIGHT employes of Line Material Industries, East Stroudsburg, were given recognition recently for completing five to 20 years of employment with the company.

Receiving 20 year pins were Roland J. Fritz, Analomink; Norman B. Houser, 411 Willow St., East Stroudsburg; Gerald M. Lee, 76 N. Courtland St., and Harold Repsher, 426 Normal St., East Stroudsburg.

Fritz works in the galvinizing department, Houser in the press department, Lee, welding and Repsher tool room.

Completing 15 years was Lloyd E. Williams, Sciota. Williams works in the inspection department.

10-Year Vet

In November S. Lawrence Desko, 17 Myrtle St., Stroudsburg was the only employe from the East Stroudsburg plant to be awarded the 10 year service pin. He worked in maintenance.

In recognition of five years no pin was awarded but a eight by ten inch picture, of the employe, was presented for the completion. The local plant had two employes in this category. They were John S. Fish, 108 W. Broad St., East Stroudsburg; and Mrs. Natalie W. Smale, 2025 Wallace St., Stroudsburg.

Fish is a member of the shipping department, and Mrs. Smale is in the stenographic department.

Play Heads Activities At ESSC

"THE DIARY of Anne Frank," a three-act play and a basketball game are the highlights of the week at East Stroudsburg State College, Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, college president, announced last night.

The play will be presented tonight, Thursday and Friday in the college auditorium beginning at 8 p.m. The members of the cast are students of the college and are members of the dramatic club on campus.

The basketball game is tonight at 8:30 p.m. The college varsity will host the Kings College team from Wilkes-Barre. This will be the third game of the season for the local five. ESSC's record is two wins and no losses.

Next Week

Next week's activities will begin Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. with the annual Sophomore Tea sponsored by the Women's Executive Council. Also Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. will be the annual Christmas Lighting Ceremony to be held on the front campus. It will be followed by an informal dance at 7 p.m. in the gym.

"Island In The Sun" is the movie that will be shown Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium.

Saturday the annual Christmas Dance will be held at 8:30 p.m. in the gym. The dance is sponsored by the Social Council.

The week will be rounded off with the annual Christmas program in the auditorium at 3 p.m. The program will be followed by Christmas Caroling at 7 p.m

Christmas vacation will begin Tuesday, Dec. 20, after the last class of the day.

Community Concert Enjoyable

By C. R. ALL

THE SECOND concert of the 1960-61 Community Concert series at the East Stroudsburg State College auditorium Tuesday night proved to be a most enjoyable and quite different musical experience from the usual "concert."

Miss Nina Dova, quite alone, and to her own guitar accompaniment, took her audience on a musical tour of many countries. She let them hear native and characteristic folk songs performed not in a formal concert manner, but in a warm, intimate, personal experience sort of way that was most delightful.

Miss Dova had no printed program, but announced each number in turn, making such comments as would set forth the story and situation of each.

Fine Demonstration

Having recourse only to her voice and acting ability, she gave a fine demonstration of vocal ability as such, plus a great range of tone color and quality to set forth musical characterization.

Her first group consisted of songs of Spain, Italy, France, England and U.S.A., depicting the humor, sentiment and grief of love. The remainder of the program drew from many sources and types.

Perhaps the most interesting were the Latin-American numbers, wherein one often wondered show she was able to coordinate the intricate guitar rhythms with the words and melody and at the same time project the characters of the song, as in the song of the little burro, and the Brazilian voodoo song.

The audience, though somewhat smaller than usual, was very appreciative, even enthusiastic, and many favorable comments were heard.

Weather For 5 Days

Western Pennsylvania—Temperatures will average 5 to 9 degrees below normal highs of 38 to 39 and normal lows of 25 to 27. Cold Thursday through Monday with only minor day to day temperature changes. Precipitation will average around ¼ inch, occurring as frequent periods of snow flurries and in the north portion as occasional periods of snow squalls.

Western New York—Temperatures will average 4 to 8 degrees below normal highs of 34 to 38 and normal lows of 20 to 24. Cold Thursday through Monday with only minor day to day temperature changes. Precipitation will average ¼ to ½ inch, occurring as frequent snow flurries and occasional periods of snow squalls.

Middle Atlantic States—Temperatures will average 6 to 8 degrees below normal. Much colder Thursday, warmer Saturday, colder Sunday or Monday. Precipitation will average around ½ inch, occurring over the weekend.

Southeastern New York, Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey — Temperatures are expected to average 2 to 8 degrees below normal. Becoming colder Thursday and Friday, some warming over the weekend, followed by colder at the beginning of next week. Precipitation may total more than ½ inch, occurring as snow flurries in the mountains Thursday and rain or a mixture of rain and snow along the coast and snow inland toward the end of the period.

Jersey's Interstate Rte. 80 Seen Completed By 1962

WORK on Interstate 80 at the eastern end of New Jersey is expected to be completed by 1962.

Known as the Bergen-Passaic Freeway in that area, the route will channel traffic from both the George Washington Bridge and Holland Tunnel out of New York City.

Eventually the vehicular traffic can shoot westward clear across the state to Delaware Water Gap and beyond. It will be able to continue to San Francisco without leaving the Interstate 80 route when it is completely finished.

Extention Bids

Construction of Interstate 80, known locally as The Stroudsburgs Thruway, is presently underway. Bids on two extensions of the route will be open in Harrisburg about Dec. 29.

At the moment, the part of the freeway in New Jersey being most actively worked on is the first section from Fort Lee to Hackensack. The location of the route immediately after leaving the bridge has been fixed through Englewood. Houses — among the hundreds that will obliterated by the freeway — are being carted away or wrecked, stakes have been driven through the middle of the Englewood Golf Club course. The course will remain in operation but the route will divide it.

10 Lanes Wide

The first part will be 10 lanes wide. The junction of a highway of this size with Routes 4 and 46 and various local streets and parkways has made it necessary for the approaches to the George Washington Bridge to be expanded and reorganized.

The results will be a mammoth traffic interchange.

Stroudsburg Laundry Burglarized

THE EASY Wash, self-service laundry, at the rear of 533 Main St., Stroudsburg, was robbed yesterday of more than $50, Chief of Police John B. Trethaway said last night.

The robbery was discovered by Ward Keiper, owner, yesterday at 8 a.m. when he entered the building to make collections and set the operation up for the day's business.

The only machines broken into were the change machines, police reported. They were opened by inserting some object down the coin slot unlocking the door.

Minor Damage

The damage to the coin changers was minor and they were placed back into operation by replacing several parts.

Keiper and police agreed the burglary occurred between midnight and 8 a.m. yesterday. Keiper told police that he was in the building around midnight and emptied the washing and drying machines.

None of the other vending machines were touched.

Just Between Us——

"I'll bet you sew!" is the scoffing comment with which other people greet any mention of Sewing Club. I usually spring to its defense, pointing out the miles of knitted bandages for missions, the mountains of socks that have been darned, the advantages of having somebody available to pin up hems, and to help you decide just how short to make them.

But we've been gallivanting so much lately that my defense is getting pretty week. First to New York, and now this week to have breakfast with a former member, Sally Fansler, at Chatham, N. J., where we wore holes in our stockings, instead of mending them, trying to Chris'mas shop in the big shopping centers there.

I say "trying to shop" because as a country girl I never seem to be able to buy anything in a city store. I need the help of the clerks who can confirm my opinion that pink would be more becoming to Mother than blue or reassure me about shrinking and stuff.

We had a wonderful time. It is a section of beautiful homes, with foreign sports cars parked in the driveways, and women with cashmeres and hand-made shoes, and shops with $230 doll houses. But, boy, was I glad to get home, where I didn't have to keep saying "Lead me not into temptation or the sin of covetousness."

In proportion, I suppose, we have an equal number of beautiful homes, smart women, and expensive things. But because I know the people who have them, I admire but I don't begrudge. Some of them deserve them; others need them to compensate for other problems; still others share them with a loving heart.

But where I don't know the people or their problems, all I can do is envy what looks like a Never-Never Land of earthly bliss.

Miss Patricia Ann Paker
(Edward A. Heinbach)

Miss Parker Engaged To E. Heinbach

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Parker announce the engagement and coming marriage of their daughter, Patricia Ann, to Edward A. Heinbach of Cherry Hill, Nazareth.

They will be married on Jan. 14.

Miss Parker is a graduate of Stroudsburg High School and is a student at East Stroudsburg State College, and is employed by the Bell Telephone Co.

Mr. Heinbach was graduated from Allentown High School, served as a sergeant in the U. S. Marine Corps and is in his senior year at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College.

Bangor Juniors Entertain Senior Club

Bangor—Senior Woman's Club members, past presidents and past advisers were guests of the Bangor Junior Woman's Club during the meeting in the club rooms at the public library building Monday night.

Mrs. John Hamm, president, extended the welcome. The response was by Mrs. Dorothy Halliday, president of the Seniors. Past presidents and advisers were introduced and presented with gifts.

Mrs. William Miller, program chairman, was in charge of the opening exercises. Mrs. Harry Callie, secretary, and Mrs. Robert Phillips, treasurer, gave reports.

A penny auction of Christmas cookies took place under the direction of the home committee. The program also included an exchange of gifts and vocal selections by Mrs. M. J. Eways from hit shows.

Mrs. Howard McEwen, Mrs. Roland Catterall, Mrs. Kermit Pysher, Mrs. Budd Ott, Mrs. Joseph Surotchak, Mrs. Wilson Jackson, Mrs. Robert Reed, Mrs. William Weiss and Miss Marie Miller were the hostesses.

Jr. Women Study Art Of Japanese

"Icabona" is a part of every woman's life in Japan, members of the Junior Woman's Club learned at their meeting on Tuesday night at the Stroud Community Club.

Dr. Madelon Powers, who spent a year in Japan, defined "icabona" as the art of Japanese flower arrangement which is not merely a matter of decor but also of religious significance, and is closely connected with the tea ceremony. Every woman is trained in the art as part of her preparation for adulthood, Dr. Powers explained.

Dr. Powers, who is head of the art department at East Stroudsburg State College, gave the history of Japanese flower arranging, started in the fifth century by the emperor, not for the home, but for the temple.

She showed slides illustrating not only the arrangements but the gardens of Japan and of the school where she studied flower arranging.

Mrs. Richard Krueger was appointed to fill the office of recording secretary left vacant by the resignation of Mrs. Weldon Garrison, who is moving to Virginia.

Mrs. Paul Edinger announced that reservations for the Christmas Dance to be held Saturday, Dec. 17, at Pocono Manor, may be made with her, HA 1-8963 or Mrs. Stanley Willush, HA 1-5524.

Mrs. Charles Paolillo and her committee served Christmas refreshments from a tea table decorated in the holday theme.

Roaring 20's Theme Of Dance In Barrett

Barrett — A "Roaring Twenties" dance will be held by the Tri-Hi-Y girls of the Barrett branch of the YMCA on Saturday from 8 to 11 p.m. at the Barrett Y.

All boys and girls from 14 to 18 are invited to come dressed as a flapper or dashing dan. Prizes will be awarded and there will be refreshments.

Mrs. Andrew Again Heads St. Mary's Guild

Mrs. William E. Andrew was re-elected as president of St. Mary's Guild of Christ Episcopal Church at their meeting in the parish hall on Tuesday. Other officers are Miss Anne G. Reed, vice president; Mrs. Harvey T. Pullen, secretary; Mrs. Otto G. Heins, treasurer.

Mrs. Frank Sills spoke of the Advent season as a time of thought and preparation for the celebration of the birth of Christ. In tracing its history, she said that Dec. 25 was decreed by the Emperor Julian in Rome in 550 A.D., as the birthday of Christ, supplanting earlier pagan holidays on that date.

Mrs. A. Starr Phelps led the devotions. Mrs. LeRoy J. Koehler, president of the Episcopal Churchwomen, read the constitution which will be voted upon at the annual meeting in January.

Mrs. James Gavin presided at the tea table, which had been decorated with red candles and a Christmas tree. Mrs. Argus Miller, Mrs. Otto Heins and Mrs. L. H. Cross were hostesses.

Parish Names Board Of Trinity

Mount Pocono — Trinity-of-the-Poconos Episcopal Church, operating on a year-round basis for the first time in its 64-year history, held a congregational meeting at Pocono Manor Inn when the executive committee was elected.

Archdeacon Dean Stevenson of the Episcopal Diocese of Bethlehem presided at the meeting with James Robinson of Frickville, now serving as lay leader, giving the invocation.

John Crandall traced the history of the little church, Gothic in its architecture even to the leaded stained glass windows, and set against a hillside surrounded by pines, laurel and rhododendron.

R. LeRoy Dengler was elected honorary warden; John M. Crandall, warden; Donald M. Brown, treasurer; Mrs. Robert W. Fairservice, secretary; Arthur M. Pettern, ways and means; Mrs. Kenneth C. Banzhof, music; E. Kenney Crothers, property; Mrs. Donald M. Brown, Christian Education and publicity; Mrs. Vincent F. Wreski, altar; Kenneth C. Banzhof, hospitality.

Mrs. John Crandall served coffee.

Beeswax Candles Made In Old Moravian Tradition

Barrett — On Monday night the ladies of the Canadensis Moravian Church attended the annual Christmas Party, held in the basement of the church. Decorations of a seasonal nature were provided by Mrs. Sadie Mikels and Mrs. Merle Marvin. The highlight of the evening was a demonstration of beeswax candle-making by three members of the Edgeboro Moravian Church in Bethlehem. After the demonstration, refreshments were served, and gifts exchanged.

Dressed in reproductions of the authentic Moravian costume, the women made several dozen of the six inch beeswax candles and attached the colored tissue paper frills at the base.

Their costumes of dove gray were laced with blue ribbons which traditionally mean that they are married members of the Church. The little white caps or "haubes" were tied in the same blue ribbon.

In the old Church, at the time Bethlehem was founded in 1741 by Count Zinzindorf, all costumes were basically the same with simplicity as the theme. But, leave it to a woman, they added the colored ribbons to brighten their quiet way of dress: red for little girls; pink for the girls who were confirmed and of marriageable age. Blue ribbons were put on the cap and laced into a girl's bodice on her wedding day. If a woman became widowed, she changed her color to white.

The women of the Edgeboro Church told of the tradition connected with the use of beeswax in the candles. Bees were supposed to have come to earth straight from Heaven; therefore, beeswax was the purest wax and the best to represent Christ. The wax of the candle symbolizes the body and the wick, the soul of the worshipper. Around the base of the candles, the tissue paper frills had at one time all been red to signify the lighting of faith in the hearts of the congregation. Now, the colors are of no particular meaning, but the frills keep hot wax from hands and clothing of the worshippers.

The candles used in the service of the Canadensis Moravian Church are made by the Edgeboro Moravian Church of Bethlehem. In a few other churches, they also continue to make their own candles.

The Wyckoff Shopper
"the friendly store" A.B. Wyckoff STROUDSBURG, PA.

Rod MacLeod of the Daily Record has taken the nicest informal picture of me that was ever made, I think, and perhaps the cue for having a pleasant expression in the camera's eye is to be saying something congratulatory. Mac and his camera were on the station platform the day of Wyckoff's Santa trip to Gouldsboro, and I was watching Ernie Transue, WVPO engineer, awaiting the cue to begin our broadcast. "Mrs. Kennedy just had a son," Ernie shouted, and I shouted back, "Good . . . good for Mrs. Kennedy." Just then I noticed that Mac had photographed me.

"Great Scott, Mac," I said, "don't ever do that unless you're sure my chins are tucked up and my nose isn't shiny."

Mac laughed. "Your chins were fine," he complimented—"all of them. And you were looking very happy, you had just said 'good'."

The picture is as good as the word . . . and I think the expression is much nicer than had I been saying "prunes and prisms," as photographers once told one to do.

Coming up the stairway to our busy second floor the other afternoon, I met a very attractive (and very young) man—five or so, I imagine, who demanded, "Is that leopard?"

"What?" I asked, turning back to look into the glass display cases along the stairwell.

"That thing under your arm," he said, pointing to my purse. "Is that leopard?"

"Make believe leopard," I said. "It's leopard cloth."

He smiled happily. "I just knew it," he said. "I can always tell leopard when I see it."

"So can I," I admitted, "and I love it."

He agreed that he also admires it, and that ended our chance encounter. Funny, I thought, as I hurried back to the office, the little things that people find to talk about . . . one chance word leads to a conversation, and before you know it you've found something in common with someone else. It reminds me of something else too . . . we have new leopard bags in our handbag department, where not too long ago the stock was fairly well depleted. Some are very expensive . . . some moderately priced. But if they're soft, and furry, and prettily shaded, I like 'em. As flappers and sheiks of a bygone done might have said, "That leopard is sure the cats!"

My mail brings two complimentary tickets to "The Diary of Anne Frank" to be presented by Alpha Psi Omega at East Stroudsburg State College auditorium this Thursday, Friday, and Saturday evenings at 8 o'clock. The story of Anne Frank is a poignant and beautiful one . . . a story that will never grow old, and which will always serve to bring mankind back to sharp reality when the human sense of values goes awry. My copy of the book is much thumbed and marked, and while I have seen the play twice, I look forward to seeing it again. Join the audience on one of these three nights, won't you? You'll find the experience enriching, I'm sure.

A friend of mine who has been ill for some time, telephoned to ask, "How's your Tiki charm coming along—any miracles yet?" When I told her a few things that happened on the Saturday and Sunday I wore it, she commented, "Well, it's certainly doing SOMETHING, and why should you have all the excitement? Maybe it would bring me some luck." So, I selected one and forwarded it with every hope that it will be just as charming to her as a charm can be. Miracle or no, these are very cute pendants for only 1.00.

Now a word of congratulations for a very nice and talented guy—John Meunier who was our Wyckoff program announcer for about seven years. John leaves Wednesday for Harrisburg and a new, exciting four-hour daily broadcasting job with station WCMB. If you forget the call letters, just ask yourself, Why Can't Mother Behave? It's easier that way. Good luck John!

Proposed Jointure To Be Discussed

NEWFOUNDLAND — Meeting to discuss the proposed jointure of Greene, Dreher, Sterling, Salem, Lake and South Canaan School Districts on the administrative level, the directors of the respective boards requested that a study of finances be made before further action is taken.

Paul T. Ryder, Wayne County superintendent of schools, together with Edgar Jenkins, Lake Township supervising principal, and Leland Cramer, Southern Wayne Joint School supervising principal, were named to complete the study.

As soon as financial data is prepared by the three-man committee, a second meeting of the six boards will be held at Hamlin School, where the recent session took place.

Arthur Goerlitz, of the Salem board, was chairman of the meeting. John Benedetto, of the Lake family, acted as recorder. A general discussion on the characteristics of joint and union districts was held. Directors asked questions of a panel of educators including Ryder, Jenkins and Cramer.

The meeting at Hamlin was the first since 1954, when the State proposed the formation of Administrative Unit A in Wayne County.

At the close of the meeting, which was attended by a large number of directors of the six districts, refreshments were served by the host school.

Daughter, Mother Beaten

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — The wife and daughter of coal operator Peter Laychock Sr. told state police Wednesday two men beat them in their home at Primrose, five miles northwest of here.

The men entered the kitchen through an unlocked door and one stuck a gun in the ribs of Laychock's daughter, Mrs. Frank Ricigliano, then forced her and her mother into an adjoining room, state police said.

The women said the man with the pistol went into the basement to look for loot and they began struggling with the other man. He called for help and his accomplice hit the women over their heads, police were told. The men then fled empty handed.

Mrs. Laychock and Mrs. Ricigliano were treated at Good Samaritan Hospital. Laychock and his sons operate the Live Oak Coal Co.

10 Young Men Of Area Enlist In Regular Army

SGT. Donald K. Smith, local Army recruiter, announced yesterday that 10 young men from this area recently enlisted in the Regular Army. Nine of the 10 had no prior military training. The one exception was Mark E. Burch Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark E. Burch Sr. of Ransberry Ave., East Stroudsburg. Mark was a member of the local National Guard and had just completed his six months active duty training two weeks before he enlisted for a three year period.

The other enlistees were Irvin B. Huss, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Huss of Milford. He enlisted under the Army's Guaranteed Schooling Program and upon completion of his basic training and a leave at home he will be assigned to Fort Mommouth, N.J. where he will attend a 30-week course in microwave radio equipment repair. He graduated last year from Delaware Valley Joint High School, Milford.

Richard A. Keiper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Keiper, Bushkill also enlisted under the schooling program and is scheduled to attend a school in cryptography at Fort Gordon, Georgia. He graduated from the East Stroudsburg High.

The next six young men all enlisted under the Army's Career Field Program. Under this program a young man receives either schooling or on-the-job training in the field of his choice.

They were Frank Ross Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ross, RD No. 1, Gouldsboro, who will serve in the aircraft maintenance field; Richard Meisse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Meisse, Sciota, chose to serve in the motor transport field; John Gwynne, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Nelson Gwynne of RD No. 1 Gouldsboro, will be trained as a heavy equipment mechanic, also Monta Strong Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Monta Strong, Mt. Pocono, selected the field of telephone outside plant maintenance; Donald Marvin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Marvin, Smith St., East Stroudsburg will serve in the utilities field; Daryl Heeter, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Fetherman, Main St., Stroudsburg, entered the automotive maintenance field; and Ronald Howley, son of Mrs. Helen Bentzoni, Sciota. He enlisted in the Regular Army.

Dear Abby

Voice Of Experience

Dear Abby: Having lived through the same thing, I would have advised "Troubled Parents" to encourage their daughter to divorce her husband as soon as she found out he was a mental case.

My husband and I have been married for 16 years, and I wouldn't wish my life on a dog. He is mean to me and the children, and no one can say anything because he is "mentally ill." He is well enough to enjoy his own pleasures (golf, swimming, cards and TV), but not to support a family. He's been in and out of mental hospitals for years.

Be sensible, Abby, and tell this young wife to leave him while she's still able to make a better life for herself.

BEEN THROUGH IT

Dear Been: And if your husband had been stricken with cancer, would you have left him? Victims of mental illness are just as helpless and blameless.

Dear Abby: My sister-in-law has asked me to be a bridesmaid at her wedding. I am married. Is it proper for a married woman to be a bridesmaid?

WONDERING

Dear Qondering: It is proper.

Dear Abby: I just telephoned the beauty shop in my neighborhood and asked if anyone could set my hair next Saturday. I was told that no one in the shop would take me because I was "too hard to please." This was an uncalled for insult as I have been more than patient with that whole crew of numbskulls who call themselves hair dressers. The only reason I would consider putting up with them is because it is the only beauty shop for miles around.

Do they have a right to do this? According to law, I mean.

READY TO SUE

Dear Ready: A lawyer could tell you what your rights are in this matter. If all the operators at that shop refuse to accommodate you, you must have done a fine job of getting into their hair. Better find another shop if you want someone to get into yours.

Confidential To "A:" Just because a man falls in love with a dimple is no reason he has to marry the whole girl.

Phila. Demos Spent $417,333

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Democratic Committee says it took in $470,485.94 and had operating costs of $417,333.88 during the presidential election campaign.

This was reported Wednesday in a statement filed with the secretary of the commonwealth at Harrisburg and the clerk of the House of Representatives in Washington.

President-elect John F. Kennedy carried Philadelphia by 331,000—about 200,000 more than he got in the entire state.

Application For U. S. Aid

HARRISBURG (AP)—An application for federal aid for flood control in Susquehanna County's 55,680-acre Drinker Creek watershed was filed Wednesday with the State Soil Conservation Commission.

The application was filed by county commissioners and the county conservation district. The creek is a tributary of the Susquehanna River.

Federal law requires the state agency to review all such applications before transmitting them to the U.S. Agriculture Department's Soil Conservation Service.

Ceremony, Prayer Marks 19th Pearl Harbor Day

PEARL HARBOR (AP) — A ceremony, of prayer and salute Wednesday marked the 19th anniversary of Pearl Harbor Day, the attack that catapulted the United States into World War II.

A small group stood atop the barnacled hulk of the battleship Arizona to pay silent tribute to the men who died in the Japanese surprise assault.

Among them were Dean Jackson of Glenwood, Iowa, and Edward N. Gosselin of Joliet, Ill., fathers of two of the 1,102 officers and men entombed in the rusting Arizona since it went down Dec. 7, 1941.

Catholic, Jewish and Protestant chaplains offered short prayers.

Lt. O. C. Weller of Seattle, a naval reserve officer who was on the Arizona when it was torpedoed and bombed, placed one of several wreaths laid on the grey concrete foundation for the Arizona's projected permanent memorial.

A Marine Corps honor guard volleyed a rifle salute that echoed back from the hills rising up from the harbor. A bugler sounded the clear, sweet notes of taps and the ceremony ended.

Among the group standing on the small wooden platform built over the Arizona's hulk were Vice Adm. Herbert D. Riley, the Pacific commander's chief of staff; Lt. Gov. James Kealoha of Hawaii, Rep. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, and Rear Adm. Roy S. Benson, Pacific submarine force commander.

"My son would have been 39 now," said Jackson, the Iowa father. "His name was Robert. He was a yeoman."

Gosselin, the Illinois father, said, "Our son, Ed, was 24 when we lost him. We'd sent him to Yale and he had worked for a steel company for a little while."

Adm. Benson said: "The ultimate completion of the USS Arizona memorial will be a constant reminder of the heroic deeds performed by our armed forces on Dec. 7, 1941. I believe most of us now feel that we were not attacked by the Japanese people but by forces under control of the so-called warlords. Our naval personnel who have had tours of duty in Japan since World War II have been impressed by the friendliness, cheerfulness and warmth of the Japanese people."

Los Angeles Gets Major League Team Next Year

By Jack Hand
Associated Press
Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Los Angeles finally became the 10th club of the American League for the 1961 baseball season Wednesday when the two majors amended their territorial rules.

Commissioner Ford Frick did not have to cast a decisive vote at the joint meeting. The two leagues took him off the hot spot by getting together on an amendment that opened the way for the American to go into Los Angeles in 1961 and the National League to return to New York in 1962.

The new Los Angeles club, to be known as the Angels, will play its home games at Wrigley Field, the old Pacific Coast League park in Los Angeles which seats about 21,500. There are plans to expand it to 25,000 before the start of the season.

Lease Chavez

As part of the compromise with Walter O'Malley, owner of the Los Angeles Dodgers of the National League, the club will move into his new park at Chavez Ravine in 1962 with a 4-year lease and an option to renew for three more years. No rental figures were announced, but reports put the annual figure at a minimum of $200,000 in a sliding scale based on attendance.

The amendment also set up an indemnity scale to be paid by invading clubs. The Dodgers will receive about $225,000, while the New York Yankees will get $100,000 when the National moves into New York.

The amendment provides for a flat $100,000 payment, plus 50 per cent of the original cost of clearing the territory. O'Malley paid the Pacific Coast League $250,000 when his Dodgers moved into that minor league's territory. There was no such clearance problem when New York entered the majors.

Bob Reynolds, former Stanford football star, and Gene Autry, singing cowboy, head the new group that will operate the Angels. Reynolds said he will name a manager in a few days. He has talked once with Casey Stengel, ex-Yankee manager, but old Case made no commitment.

Pool Arrangement

Both the Los Angeles team and the new Washington club will select players from the American League's 120-man talent pool at a meeting in Boston Dec. 13. Each must take 28 men at $75,000 each.

The player pool was set up a few weeks ago with each club listing 15 available men, seven of whom must have been on the big league roster last Aug. 31. No club can lose more than seven.

The old Rule 1 that stirred up all the fuss required unanimous permission for one league to move into a city that already was a member of the other major league.

The new version requires only a three-fourths vote for a move into another league's territory, but will not permit a new club to play in a park located within 5 miles of the other club's park. Wrigley Field is within 5 miles of the Los Angeles Coliseum, the Dodgers' makeshift ballyard, but O'Malley waived the rule for 1961.

The New York Yankees also waived the rule for 1962, enabling the Nationals New York team to play either in the Polo Grounds or Yankee Stadium.

Art Wall Out With Leg Injury

HONESDALE — Professional golfer Art Wall, pulled a leg muscle Monday in a practice round in Miami and is leaving the Professional Golfer's Assn. tour for three weeks.

Wall's wife, Jean, said her husband is coming home Thursday and will not rejoin the tour until early January in California. Wall is a native of Honesdale.

In the spring Wall missed nine weeks of the tour with a kidney infection and water on the knee. He spent two weeks in a Scranton hospital.

Even with the long layoff, Wall has won more than $30,000 this year. He won the Canadian Open a montn after he returned from his illness.

Finished Third

In his latest tournament appearance, Wall finished third in the West Palm Beach Open, won by Johnny Pott.

Wall was practicing for the Coral Gables Open, the last official PGA tournament of the year, when he pulled the leg muscle. The Coral Gables event is a $20,000 affair.

He will also miss the Sebring, Fla., Open, a two-day tournament not an official PGA tournament.

Wall represents Pocono Manor on the tour.

Kearns Seeks Union Tie-Up For Prize Fight Industry

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Veteran boxing manager Jack Kearns testified Wednesday he is negotiating with the Teamsters Union on organizaing the entire prize fight industry.

Kearns told Senate probers his most recent negotiations with the Teamsters took place within the past two weeks.

He said he is dickering also with the AFL-CIO through its president, George Meany.

The AFL-CIO has expelled the Teamsters on the basis of findings in another Senate investigation that some top Teamsters officials have been allied with gangsters.

The 79-year-old Kearns gave his testimony before the Senate Antimonopoly subcommittee. It is investigating underworld influence in professional boxing and is trying to decide whether the sport should be federally regulated.

Federal Help Needed

Carmen Basilio, former middleweight champion, testified prior to Kearns and appealed for federal laws to drive out the hoodlums.

Kearns said the sport can be cleaned up "if the federal government will give it backing."

He was one of the organizers of the old International Boxing Managers Guild, which he said "drifted out of existence" after a district attorney's investigation of its New York chapter.

Kearns was questioned about $137,000 he reportedly received since 1953 from firms headed by James D. Norris, former president of the International Boxing Clubs. The clubs have been dissolved by the courts on grounds they exercised a monopoly over boxing.

Kearns said he recalls no details about the payments, but that he knows of no basis for testimony by a Norris associate that he was paid, among other reasons, to assure a free flow of fighters for IBC promotions.

Basilio spoke in contemptuous phrases of Frankie Carbo, Frank (Blinky) Palermo and Gabe Genovese, all rackets figures who have been mentioned as powers in the fight business.

"These guys were making money they weren't earning and don't deserve," Basilio said.

Earlier, it was disclosed that former fight manager Herman (Hymie the Mink) Wallman told a New York grand jury more than two years ago that Carbo "acted as the whole boss" over lightweight champ Joe Brown.

Bednarik To Speak To TD Club

CHUCK Bednarik, one of the Philadelphia Eagles all-time great football stars, will be the speaker at the Pocono Touchdown Club's "Night of Football," Monday at 8 at the Elks Club.

Bednarik, the only Ivy League graduate in the National Football League, played on both offense and defense this year in several of the Eagles key games.

He played only on defense in the opening half in the Eagles first game with the Giants but in the second half was used as the offensive center and his blocking was mainly responsible for the Eagles comeback win.

Penn Graduates

A University of Pennsylvania graduate, Bednarik has been in the NFL for 12 years.

The program will also include several hours of football movies. Some of the films that will be shown are the Inter-Borough game in color, the 1960 Football Coaches All-American team and several college films.

The event is free of charge to members but there will be a small charge for guests.

Several prizes, including tickets to the Harlem Komedy Kids basketball game, will be awarded.

The five are high school football coaches and the East Stroudsburg State College coaching staff will be present.

ESSC Faces Kings Tonight

EAST Stroudsburg State College, winner of two straight basketball games, faces King's College of Wilkes-Barre tonight at 8:30 at Normal Hill.

It is the opening game for the Kingsmen, who have built their team around 6-3, 212-pound Mike Kwak, an Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference first team selection last year.

The former all-stater from Nanticoke, average 24 points a game last year, and also collected almost 15 rebounds a game.

Kwak was picked on the All-State College first team by the Associated Press last year.

East Stroudsburg has averaged 83.5 points in two outings this season. The Warriors rolled over Paterson 83-52 and edged Montclair Tuesday 84-80 on the loser's floor.

Hopewell Leads

Russ Hopewell, who carried a 21.9 average over from last season, has hit for 23 and 22 points in the Warriors two games, to bring his three year scoring total to 756.

Tony Salerno trails Hopewell in scoring this season. The senior backcourter from Old Forge has 36 points in two games. Salerno was second to Hopewell in scoring last season.

Ed Becker and Joe Habakus are next in line in scoring this season with nine-point averages.

The Warriors faced Kings twice last season. East Stroudsburg lost the first game 93-81 and won the second 80-79.

A junior varsity pre-lim will begin at 6:30.

Tonight's game is the last home game for East Stroudsburg until January 7. Saturday the Warriors are at Trenton and on Wednesday go to Scranton University. The following Saturday East Stroudsburg closes its pre-Christmas activiy at Kuttztown.

Braves Land Frank Bolling From Tigers

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Milwaukee landed second baseman Frank Bolling and Detroit acquired center fielder Billy Bruton Wednesday in a major interleague deal involving six players.

To get the second baseman they have been chasing for over a year, the Braves gave up Bruton, second baseman Chuck Cottier, catcher Dick Brown and rookie relief pitcher Terry Fox. In addition to Bolling, Milwaukee will get an "acceptable minor league player" to be designated before March 1.

"We've been working since the 1959 World Series to get Bolling," said John McHale, Milwaukee general manager who formerly held the same job at Detroit. "When I was with Detroit I thought Bolling was as valuable as Harvey Kuenn or Al Kaline.

Fine Hustler

He is a high class, first division type player, a fine hustler and excellent team man."

This was the second major swap since the interleague trading period, which extends to Dec. 15, began on Nov. 21. Last Saturday, the San Francisco Giants traded left-hander Johnny Antonelli and outfielder Willie Kirkland to Cleveland for Kuenn, an infielder-outfielder and former American League batting champion.

The Braves also acquired another second baseman, Billy Martin, from Cincinnati in a $40,000 purchase Saturday. Martin now figures for utility work, apparently.

Bears Lose First Hoop Game, 74-58

PLEASANT Valley High School dropped the first basketball game in the school's history Tuesday, a 74-58 loss to Pius X—but it was the first game for the new school at Brodheadsville.

Pius' Al ReRenzis set a new school scoring mark with 27 points. The old mark of 23 was set two years ago by Dave Fusakio.

Bill Borger's 17 points were high for the Pleasant Valley Bears. Pius won the JV game, 35-29.

The Lake's fishing assn. had 1,500 members last year the group's news letter reports. It will be maled to members shortly.

There will be no fishing in the lake until April 15.

Sooners Stay In Big Eight

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Disregarding differences with the Big Eight conference, the University of Oklahoma Tuesday voted to stay with the loop and not go independent.

Regents approved such a report from the Athletic Council which said it had studied independent schools before making its recommendation.

Oklahoma has been on probation because an alumni group operated an athletic recruiting fund that allegedly violated conference rules concerning giving financial assistance to such students.

Name Is Changed

6 Team Pocono Basketball League Opens With Full Card Tomorrow

THE POCONO Mountain Scholastic League, formerly called the Monroe County League, opens its basketball season Friday night.

Pocono Lake, the defending champion, plays at Delaware Valley; Barrett travels to Tobyhanna to play Coolbaugh; and Pocono Township is at home against Pleasant Valley in opening games.

Joining Barrett, Pocono, Pocono Lake, and Coolbaugh this year to form a six team league, are two new league members, Delaware Valley and Pleasant Valley.

Because Delaware Valley is located outside of Monroe County, the league officials decided to change the name of the league from Monroe County to Pocono Mountain Scholastic.

Delaware Valley plays its home games in a new gym, which is considerably larger than any of the four courts within the Pocono Mountain Jointure.

Pleasant Valley, the other new league member, is the result of the consolidation of Chestnuthill and Polk. This new entry will also play its home games on a new court.

New Members

These two new members plus the four formidable teams which are members of the Pocono Mountain Jointure, present a balanced league.

Although John Bush, the Pocono Lake coach, bemoans the losses of Frank Altemose, John Weirich and John Franks, he is somewhat appeased by the return from last year's varsity of Ralph Dunlap and Ed Luck. Also, Coach Bush will receive help from last year's strong junior varsity.

Barrett, which looked impressive in beating Southern Wayne 77-64, is a definite challenger to Pocono Lake's two year domination of the league. Barrett is strengthened by the return of Norb Ryan, John Ryan, A. J. Bittner, Jerry Enders and Tom Young from last year's varsity. Coach Al Shollenberger, however, does lament the losses of John Wilson and Bill Friday, big men under the boards.

At Coolbaugh coach Sam Everitt has been trying to replace Charles Tompkey, Ralph Kuhlow, and John Wright, losses for which Everitt definitely laments. The return of Glenn Dailey and Larry Stiff, varsity performers from last year, and George Watson, however, help to make Coolbaugh a possible title threat.

Harry Vishnesky Replacment

At Pocono, coach Werkheiser has a definite problem in replacing Phil Vishnesky, a top performer for two seasons, Allan Stand and Bob Bullock. Two holdovers from last year's varsity, Bob Werkheiser and Peter Ask, are the experienced players around which coach Werkheiser has to build.

Bill Frear, coach, of the Pleasant Valley team, is happy about the return of Jim Fritz, a fine scorer. Also, from last year's Polk team Frear certainly welcomes Bill Borger. On the other hand, the losses of Gary Eckman and Brian Fenner give Coach Frear something to worry about.

At Delaware Valley coach John Hamor has a young team that could cause trouble.

Gym Work Slowed

PLEASANT Valley will not play any more home games until January. The finish on the gymnasium floor did not pass a final inspection and has to be refinished.

Large ESSC Group To Attend Convention

EAST STROUDSBURG State College will be well represented at the Pennsylvania State Assn. for Health, Physical Education and Recreation (PSAHPER) convention in Philadelphia today through Saturday.

East Stroudsburg will have 11 teachers and some 40 students at the affair. John Eiler, East Stroudsburg athletic director, is the president of PSAHPER, with Anne Venezia, girls basketball coach, the chairman of the credentials committee and Dick Luce, is the chairman of the evaluation and appraisal committee.

Miss Genevieve Zimbar of East Stroudsburg has been nominated for the president-elect office of the group and Dr. Frank Sills is a candidate for the vice-president for physical education.

The Rev. Bob Richards, former Olympic pole vault champion, will address the convention Saturday.

The John Heard, who led the Bangor junior varsity basketball team in scoring against Stroud Union Tuesday night, is the son of John Heard, Sr. former Bangor basketball coach, who is now with the Dean's Office at Rider College.

Ted Williams Starting for Michigan State

Ted Williams, former Stroud Union basketball player, has been in double figures in both of Michigan State University's two basketball games this season. Ted is a starter for the Spartans.

And Ted's younger brother Todd, is working out with the State freshman team but has had to take it easy because of a back operation last year.

Ray Carazo, who starred at Palmerton High School last year, scored 28 points for the University of Pennsylvania freshman basketball team in its 99-88 win over the Navy Plebes Saturday at Annapolis.

Three Warriors On Lock Haven Opponent Team

Two East Stroudsburg State College soccer players have been named to the Lock Haven State College all-opponent team and a third has been named to the honorable team.

Ernie Howe and Harry Shirk were picked on the first team and Jim Maiale was put on the honorable mention team.

East Stroudsburg blanked Lock Haven 3-0 to snap a six-game Bald Eagle win streak.

One of the better quips to come out of the past football season, came from Tom Nugent, University of Maryland coach.

After the Terrapins upset Clemson for the second year in a row, Frank Howard, Clemson coach, accused Nugent of using "high school plays."

"When we play high school teams," Nugent replied, "we use high school plays."

SUPER SPINNER—Bozo (The Clown) Walker, who will appear with the Harlem Komedy Kids, when they meet the Pocono All-Star Coaches, Wednesday at East Stroudsburg State College, is capable of spinning a basketball on his finger for more than 30 seconds. Bozo played with the Broadway Clowns before he switched to the Komedy Kids.

DeSanto's 647 Heads List On Classic

ANGELO DeSANTO of Mt. Pocono, qualified for the "840 Classic" bowling tournament Sunday with a 647.

The three other bowlers on this week's show will be Bob Schultz, who posted a 646 match, Ken Metzgar, Swiftwater, 632 and Pete Casella, Tannersville, 624

Any bowler who posted a match score higher than any of the four qualifiers but has not won a Classic match this year, should contact Ernie Transue at HAmilton 1-2100 before 5 p.m. Thursday.

The winner of Sunday's match will be the first bowler in the third semi-final match to be bowled on March 5.

The "840 Classic" is broadcast on WVPO at 1 p.m.

Strong Warrior Mat Squad Opens Slate Today At Home

EAST STROUDSBURG State College opens its 12-match wrestling season at 4 p.m. today against Lincoln University at Normal Hill.

Practice sessions and a scrimmage against Moravian indicate that this year's squad may be one of coach Jim Reid's strongest.

The squad had been strengthened by Charlie Dentith, the 1955 State College 147-pound champion. Dentith joined the Navy following the '55 season and returned to East Stroudsburg last year. He was ineligible last season.

One Freshman

Jan Beliveau, a freshman from Rockaway, N. J., who had a 21-0 record in high school, will wrestle in the heavyweight class. Beliveau, who also plays on the Warrior football team, is the cousin of Jean Beliveau, hockey star of the Montreal Canadians. Beliveau is the only freshman who will perform today.

Ken Nickischer, a junior from Northampton, who had a 7-1 mark last season will wrestle at 123 pounds, while Stan Woods, a 2-3 performer last season, will go at 127.

Allentown's Don Schleicher, is the 137 pound choice with Dentith, working at 147.

Hugh Lawrence, 157, Pat Rock, 167, John Topfer, 177 and Beliveau complete the Warrior lineup.

Rock and Schleicher are the only seniors on the team.

Nittany Lions Drill Defense

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — Penn State's football team sharpened its defensive formations for Oregon's speedy backs Tuesday in preparation for its Liberty Bowl date with the West Coast team in Philadelphia, Dec. 17.

Nittany Lion Coach Rip Engle also tried out some offensive plays against Oregon-style defense in the sort practice session. The Penn State third unit took the role of Oregon in the drill.

Engle plans a heavy work schedule Wednesday. He has scheduled alternate light and heavy sessions six days a week in the pre-bowl practice.

Thompson, Paret Welter Title Bout On Saturday

FEDERICO Thompson of Argentina by way of Panama will meet Cuba's Benny (Kid) Paret Saturday night in the first world welterweight boxing championship bout at Madison Square Garden since 1951.

The 15-round bout, to be televised, comes almost a year to the day after Thompson vaulted into prominence by knocking out Don Jordan of Los Angeles in the fourth round of a nontitle scrap in Buenos Aires.

Thompson's left hook undid Jordan, but the odds are pick-em in his meeting with the fancy boxer, Paret. The Cuban is making the first defense of the title he took from Jordan last May 27.

This won't be the first meeting between Paret and Thompson, who battled to a 12-round draw last March 25 at the Garden in the first U.S. appearance for the South American.

It was Kid Gavilan, another Cuban, who fought in the last welter title go at the Garden, Aug. 9, 1951. The Keed scored a much-disputed decision over Billy Graham.

Thompson, 33, is 10 years older than Paret. The South American is undefeated in his last 32 bouts, and boasts a 100-7-9 record with 53 knockouts. Paret's record is 32-7-3 and since ne beat Jordan for the title the Cuban stopped Sugar Hart in six rounds and lost to Denny Moyer on points—both nontitle affairs.

The Argentine boxer has won four in a row since his Paret draw in March.

Strawberry One Of Few Garden Fruits Mulched

By George Abraham

THE strawberry is one of the few garden fruits which is mulched or covered with straw. The purpose of a mulch on strawberries is to reduce heaving of plants by preventing alternate freezing and thawing. It also protects the crowns from low temperatures and drying injury by wind.

A mulch also delays blooming, thereby giving some protection from late spring frost. It also helps conserve moisture during dry seasons, thus increases fruit size. And a mulch also keeps the berries off wet soil, giving you cleaner fruit and less rot.

Strawberries are often mulched too soon, a big mistake gardeners make. Strawberry plants will stand soil temperatures as low as 18 degs. F. before suffering. Usually after December is about right time. Materials used for mulching include marsh grass, wheat, oat or barley straw, and pine needles.

One of Best

Clean wheat straw is one of the best materials, even better than oat straw, because when wet it doesn't pack. Wheat straw keeps its round shape, stays fluffy and provides good insulation. Hay mats too close and may not provide insulation. Shredded corn stalks and wood shavings are satisfactory, if you can get them.

The mulch should be applied about 2 inches thick, or roughly at the rate of 5 to 7 lbs. per 100 sq. ft. Two inches of settled mulch will be ample protection against low temperatures. Spread the mulching material over both the middle and the plant row, so that the plants are slightly visible beneath the mulch. If you're in doubt as to how much to use, figure on about one 60 lb. bale of straw for each 100 sq. ft. of area. Apply the mulch after the plants are dormant.

Winter Roses

A reader writes: "Here's how I protect my roses. First, I loosen the soil well around each bush, then apply several inches of peatmoss. Then I mound earth up over the crowns of each bush, about 6 to 8 inches high. The tops are cut back to about 30 inches and tied together. I'm trying out one of the plastic sprays to see if it will protect the canes from winterkilling." Green Thumb note: friends, please pass along your tips on Wintering Roses. Do you hill yours or just let nature take its course? Send us your tips so we can pass them along.

Pronounciation

How do you pronounce "Gypsophila"? This handsome annual or perennial is pronounced "jip-sof-fill-a" and is ideal for a filler in bouquets, or for billowy patches in the border or flower bed. Called Baby's breath by florists, it's well worth a try in anyone's garden, so when you scan through the catalogs better order some Gypsophila.

The regular hardy "Gyp" with white flowers is G. paniculata and you can buy a ¼ oz. of the seed for about $1.50, enough for all the people in your neighborhood. Double grafted varieties such as Bristol Fairy are not available from seed. Seed for double hardy gypsophila will produce about 50% double flowering plants.

Question Box

D. E. of Stroudsburg: "I wish you'd tell me if rubbish from the garden should be cut off and put on the compost pile or burned. One gardener told me to wait until spring and clean up the annual and perennial pod as the old stalks help hold a snow mulch. Is that true?"

We used to think that spring was the best clean-up time, but now most gardners are convinced that fall is a better time. A good cleaning up in fall will break the disease cycle in your garden since many insects and disease spores winter over in the trash.

Most diseases which attack flowers, fruits and vegetables live over-winter in the old plants, so if you remove the old plant material you also remove the source of disease and insects.

There are some diseased plants which should not get on the compost, and one of these includes peony tops from plants having botrytis, the villain which shrivels blossoms and buds. Refuse from cabbage and other crucifers (cabbage family members) should not be used if clubroot was present, or cornstalks if corn borers or corn smut were in the garden. If a compost pile is allowed to stand for two seasons with occasional forking over, it's doubtful if diseases and insects will persist in the pile anymore than they do in the garden where plants have been grown for a number of years.

Chemical action will kill disease organisms if the heat goes up to 140 degs. or so in the pile, and it takes a compost heap 4 foot thick to get heat this high. Compost soil cannot burn or injure plants and it's one of the best forms in which to supply plant foods and humus, even to small or delicate plants. Every gardener should have a compost, and a fall cleanup is a good way to start one.

H. G. of Scotrun: "I have a foundation planting of Yews, Junipers and rhododendrons mixed with Pieris. The evergreens are doing fine, but the other broadleaf plants are not. Their leaves turn brown and seem to dry up. Please tell me why this is."

Broadleaved plants such as rhododendron and the Pieris are more exacting than narrowleaved evergreens such as Yews and Junipers. In the first place, they are shallow rooted, needing a mulch or peat or oakleaves. They also prefer an acid as well as a humusy soil and more water.

Leaf scorch, due to hot drying winds or low soil moisture is quite common on these plants.

Acidify your soil with ammonium sulfate or aluminum sulfate, and incorporate a lot of peat into the soil along with a mulch to keep the roots moist and cool.

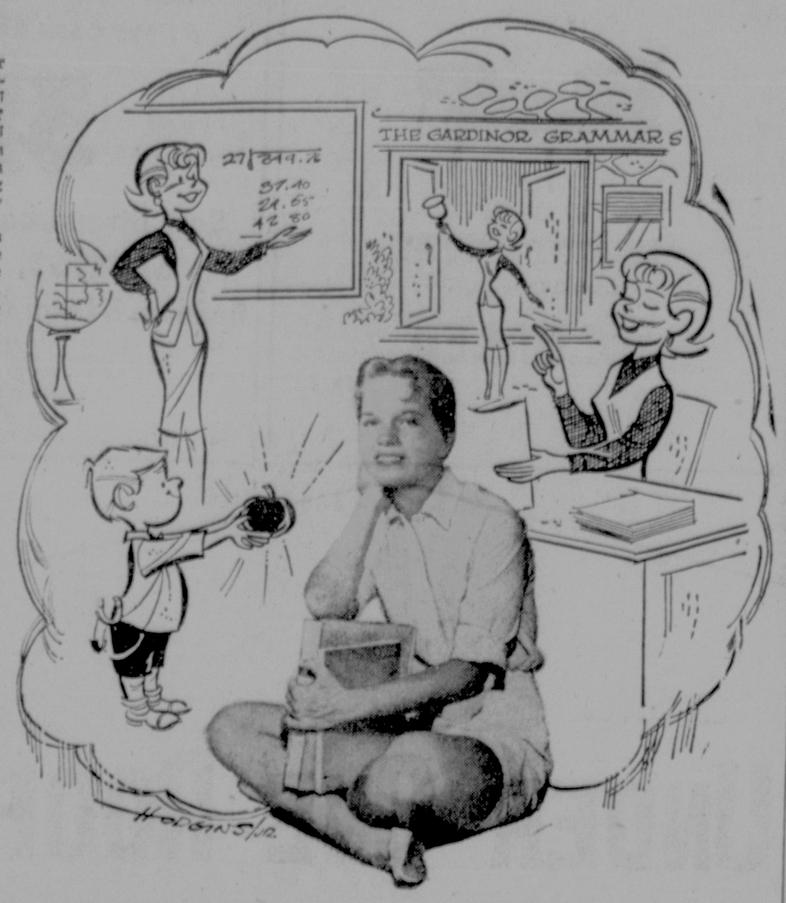
What Young People Think

Teaching Is No. 1 Career Choice For Teen Boys As Well As Girls

By Eugene Gilbert
President, Gilbert Youth Research Co.



RICH MAN, poor man, beggar man, thief, doctor, lawyer, Indian Chief . . . What are YOU going to be, when YOU grow up? How many times have YOU thought about YOUR future, in terms of a career? Perhaps you would be interested in knowing what other teeners in our country are planning.

The Space Age, apparently, has not as yet greatly influenced the plans of today's teen-agers, since the largest number, 17 per cent, of the 993 questioned, are planning to be teachers. This goes for a fifth of the girls and a tenth of the boys.

Anita Laser, 18, of Glen Oaks, N. Y., speaks for the would-be educators in saying, "I would like to be instrumental in the molding of lives."

The young people feel it is more important to be well rounded in their school experiences than to be at the very top scholastically.

Girls Want Careers

We also found the teen-agers feel extracurricular activities in college are important. And a majority of young people are willing to combine work with their classroom study.

Boys and girls split on whether girls should have a career before marriage, with 76 per cent of the girls saying yes compared with 52 per cent of the boys. Seventy-four per cent agree that a woman with a career can assist her husband after marriage.

In career choices, we found that nursing was in second place for girls. Margaret Perreault, 17, of Danielson, Conn., explains, "It is widely needed and I can always fall back on it."

Second choice for the boys and third for the girls is a business career.

Science, medicine, engineering and accounting were all tied for the boys as third.

Forty-three per cent said that other members of their family were already in the careers they has chosen.

In Dad's Footsteps

A fourth of the boys, intend to follow in their dads footsteps, and 14 per cent of the girls in their mothers'. Aunts and uncles are the next most common influences in shaping the career of the teener.

Many admitted that working for their relatives had given them much of the background and confidence necessary to pursue their desired careers.

Seventy-six per cent of tomorrow's breadwinners plan to get a college education, 13 per cent hope to go on to graduate school, 8 per cent expect to get their training by working, and 10 per cent plan to go to a trade school.

Two thirds think that to be successful in a career, a person needs a good liberal arts background.

"You should strive for the highest education posible," says Marcia Waynen, 16, of Hingham, Mass. "Without that you are merely a vegetable and just existing."

Only 18 per cent believe that a person should concentrate on his one particular subject to be successful.

Straight A's Discounted

Richard Hopp-Wazhuz, 17, of Woodmere, L. I. asks, "Why should a person study music, if you're a creep," says Judy Trainer, 16, of Medina, Ohio.

"Straight A's won't help if he wants to be an engineer?"

When it comes to extra-curricular activities in college, 55 per cent of the teen-agers consider them important and 24 per cent feel they are very important. Only four per cent feel they are not important.

"You need to study, but you need to grow in understanding of others, leadership and other things, too," says Pam Snedecor, 17, of San Gabriel, Calif.

Several colleges in this country alternate classroom learning with actual on-the-job experience in the desired field of study. We found 82 per cent of the teeners feel that such a college offers more advantages over the normal four year college curriculum. Ten per cent, however, disagree and 5 per cent feel it depends upon the career.

Sixty-nine per cent would like to attend such a college, but 24 per cent would not.

Judi Frappier, 15, of Waterbury, Conn., feels, "You will be more sure of yourself, when you do get out of college, and actually start working."

In discussing careers for married women, extra money appears to be the biggest asset involved.

But Mary B. Bannick, 16, of Chicago, suggests, "She may have some ideas to help him. If not, she will understand what he is talking about, anyway."

Eileen Keegan, 16, of Andover, Mass., says, "She can offer cultural and intelligent conversations at home."

NE Bank Declares Dividend

AT THEIR regular meeting Dec. 6, 1960, directors of the Northeastern Pennsylvania National Bank and Trust Company declared a special dividend of 50 cents a share, payable Dec. 21, to shareholders of record Dec. 9, 1960.

The additional dividend, announced by Frank E. Hemelright, president, will bring the payments for 1960 to $2.50 per share.

State Lists Use Of Fire Monies

HARRISBURG (AP) The Auditor General's Department yesterday said state money paid to fire companies can only be used as death, pension or disability benefits for members of the groups' relief associations.

The department said all expenditures made by the Firemen's Relief Association must be for the benefit of active firemen.

The fire insurance tax fund makes payments to the various fire companies from proceeds of the two per cent tax on premiums written in Pennsylvania by out-of-state fire insurance companies.

"The associations can do most anything they want to on their own — as long as they keep it separate from the state money," said Deputy Aud. Gen. Martin Brackbill.

Because there are so many volunteer fire companies in the state, he said, the fund was primarily set up to protect firemen and their families in case of death or injury in fighting fires.

125-Year-Old Miscue Caught

BOYERTOWN, Pa. (AP)—The city council has finally overtaken a mistake 125 years old. It has given the town an official police department.

Only the other day Roland Read, the borough manager, who was checking through records, found out that the City Council in all that time had never passed an ordinance to create a police department.

Remedial action was taken in a hurry, the council last night passing the law which gives full status in the records to Boyertown's police chief and four patrolmen.

Reporting Profit On Bond

By William A. Doyle

Q. I recently exchanged a $1,000 Series E, U.S. savings bond for a $1,000 Series H bond. The E bond matured several years ago. So, it had an actual redemption value of $1,124.80. I thought that I would not have to pay any income tax on the accrued interest.

However, the bank at which I made the exchange informed me that, because I received $124.80 in cash, I must report that amount as taxable income. Is this true? I had intended to use that $124.80 as part payment on a $500 H bond next month.

A. Yes, it is true. The bank should have explained this to you before you made the exchange. In this case, a detailed explanation would have saved you tax dollars.

This exchange offer is pretty complex. Stripped to the bare facts (I don't have the space to go into all the details) it works this way:

Holders of E, and F and most J bonds can swap their bonds for H bonds and postpone the payment of income taxes. In this column, we'll stick to the exchange of E bonds for H bonds.

E bonds are "discount securities." You buy them at one price ($750 in the case of a $1,000 bond) and redeem them later at a higher price. The difference between the price you pay for an E bond and the price you receive when you redeem it is "accrued interest."

That interest is subject to income taxes. You can report that interest as taxable income each year, as it accrues and your bond becomes more valuable, or you can wait and report it as taxable income for the year in which you cash the bond. Most people use the second method.

If you have used the second and more popular method, the exchange offer gives you the opportunity to swap your E bonds for H bonds and still postpone the payment of Federal income taxes on the accrued E bond interest used to purchase H bonds. When and if you redeem the H bonds, you will have to report E bond accrued interest as taxable income.

But any of the accrued interest you take in cash at the time of the swap must be reported as taxable income. Like many other people you held your E bonds past their maturity date.

You paid $750 for your bond. On the maturity date, it had a redemption value of $1,000. Interest continued to build up on it after the maturity date, giving the bond a total redemption value of $1,124.80 when yu exchanged it.

If you had put up an additional $375.20 at the time of the exchange to purchase another $500 H bond ($500 is the smallest H bond) you could have postponed paying income taxes on the $124.80. That amount of money would then be considered part of the exchange. You would not have to pay Federal income taxes on it until you cashed the H bond.

But you had to do it at the time you made the exchange — not some later date, as you plan. Somebody at the bank goofed by not explaining this to you.

The exchange of E for H bonds is very popular with many people — expecially retired folks. The big reason is that holders of H bonds receive their interest checks in the mail every six months.

The interest received on H bonds is, of course, taxable by the Federal government as ordinary income.

(Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.)

Attacks Russia's Colonial Policies

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States accused the Soviet Union yesterday of hiding under the "false banner of liberation" while heading the largest colonial empire in the world.

In a slashing attack on Soviet anticofonial activities, U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the U.N. General Assembly the Kremlin is "the arch practitioner of this new and lethal colonialism." He called the Soviet role "cynical and hypocritical."

Joining in the long and bitter debate on colonialism, Wadsworth said the Soviet Union had appeared in its true colors last Sunday morning when it vetoed the membership application of the new African country, Mauritania.

Green Foresees Medicare Passage

WASHINGTON (AP) —President-elect John F. Kennedy got an optimistic report from one of his legislative lieutenants yesterday on chances for medical care legislation of the kind he wants.

Rep. William J. Green, (D-Pa.), told newsmen after a luncheon conference with Kennedy that he has high hopes Congress will enact a health care plan for the aged tied to Social Security, as Kennedy advocates.

Green is a member of the House Ways and Means Committee which last year rejected this type of bill in favor of a more limited one.

Rail Unions Lose Fight

DETROIT (AP)—Several railroad unions Wednesday lost a federal court fight to preserve jobs threatened by the merger of the Erie and Lackawanna railroads.

A panel of three federal judges dismissed a temporary restraining order which had forbidden the railroad from eliminating jobs until the court acted.

The unions were represented by the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Workers. They claimed that the merger, completed in October, would result in the abolishment of 2,000 jobs and the transfer of 2,100 more in a five-year period They had tried to block the merger itself.

The panel's decision was announced by U. S. District Judge Thomas P. Thornton. He said Congress had provided that the status of employes should not be worsened by any merger. But he said the purpose of a merger to effect economics would be defeated if all employes were held on indefinitely.

Treeless Christmas

SHETLAND ISLANDS, Scotland (AP)—Residents of the Shetlands are going to have a treeless Christmas because of foot and mouth disease now sweeping Scotland. The islanders, who have no trees of their own, decided against importing trees for fear they may bring the infection to Shetland sheep.

Arguments Over Degree Of Guilt

BOTH THE defense and prosecution argued over the degree of guilt yesterday for Walter Tyrrell Jr., 39, guilty of murder in the slaying last March 7 of his wife, Blanche, 53.

Dist. Atty. Andrew L. Herster Jr., asked the Northampton County Court to find Tyrrell guilty of first degree murder. Defense lawyer Edward J. Danser argued that a finding of first degree murder is unjustified.

Danser and William C. Cassebaum were appointed by the court to defend the Upper Mount Bethel Township man who pleaded guilty Sept. 12 to a general charge of murder.

Legal argument was held before three county judges—Carlton Woodring, Budd Palmer and William Barthold — yesterday. They will hand down a decision later. A general plea of guilty is considered a plea to second degree murder. It is up to the Commonwealth to raise the degree of guilt to first degree.

'Nuclear Brain' Developed

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Victoreen Instrument Co. said it had developed a transistorized spectrometer, or "nuclear brain," which automatically distinguishes between background radiation and radioactivity of the object being analyzed.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

THURSDAY, DEC. 8, 1960

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Not all friendly inclinations today. Be more than alert, patient and attentive. Study your program and method of procedure, obtain facts and you can have a better day.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Refreshing indications. Your Venus shows happy doings and good returns for sincere efforts. Don't overwork or strain but do keep agreeable and thus aid all your interests.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—Not overly stimulating but favorable just the same. Day invites extra urge to create, initiate and invent. Don't be careless signing important papers, contracts, etc. Don't undertake too much.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Can be a popular, happy day if you accept duties, even extra tasks, with your usual cheerfulness and helpfulness. It is said "The art of pleasing is to seem to be pleased." Blessings.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — A brisk start, an energetic pace plus reasonable patience and you have the "GO" sign. Avoid extremes as you push on to bigger achievement, new trys and better quality in your efforts. Have faith.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Day starts quietly but increases in fine tempo and possibilities as it advances. Do not heed those who hinder, give you more burdens to carry. Keep steadily at obligations and all's well.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Similar indications now to Taurus. It can be a resultful, cheery day on whole. Personal attainment foreseen. Discharge your duties without fuss or worry, move forward.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — No wild guesses or reckless action, but active Scorpio! Keep within limits of your capacity so as not to strain, then pick up your schedule with firmness and steady alacrity.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Have sensible care in expenditures, investing and promoting projects or items. But also keep at your casual occupation with faith and ambition. You can accomplish much now.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Your thoughtful and prudent nature will be heightened and benefited this fine Saturn day. Dealing in live stock, leather, metals, tools and machinery favored. Surgeons, dentists honored.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Some restrictive influences today, especially where drastic changes or decisions are contemplated. Don't irritate at necessary delays, they may be for ultimate good. Take things in stride.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Your Neptune auspicious now. Private matters, challenging stunts should meet with success. Be concerned with public affairs. Government activities, you have a responsibility here.

YOU BORN TODAY: Important you develop your many resources and speed up achievement without permitting temper or other hindering agencies to interfere. You are energetic, ambitious, talented but may tend to quick anger. Curb this can-be fault lest it cause you, your family and friends unnecessary worry, grief. Cultivate your finer qualities, increase your knowledge in many interests. Don't permit gloom to invade your nature, your mind. Associate with cheerful, purposeful and high-minded people. Pray when troubled or in doubt. Birthdate: Horace, Roman lyric & satirical poet (65 B.C.-8 B.C.)

Do you yearn to see your name in print?

Have your wish come true this Christmas in the Classified Section of The Daily Record.

Here's a Jolly Poetic example that we're sure you could better.

Nick was as sly as a trick
As he jingled his way down a chimney slick.
Sly Nick, became wry and sick when he found
Lodged at the chimney bottom,
Johnnys Prank
—An old hockey stick.

VA Aide To Visit Stroudsburg

ROBERT A. JOHNSON, a contact representative from the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Wilkes-Barre, will visit Stroudsburg during December on the following days —Thursday, Dec. 8; Thursday, Dec. 15 and Friday, Dec. 23.

He will be at the Veterans Affairs Office, 615 Sarah Street, Stroudsburg from 10 a.m. until 3:00 p.m., on these dates.

He will be available to furnish information, advice and assistance, to all veterans, their dependants and beneficiaries on any of the benefits provided by the Veterans Administration Program, which includes insurance, disability compensation and pension, death compensation and pension; home and business loans, medical and hospital treatment.

Recuperation Was Too Quick

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—The three Mysnik brothers apparently don't believe in lengthy recuperation after an operation.

The boys—George, 13; Steven, 12; and Robert, 9—had their tonsils removed Tuesday morning. Tuesday night they dressed and slipped out of Hamot Hospital.

They walked about 10 blocks and then stopped at a gas station. An attendant smelled an aroma of ether and called police. Officers picked up the boys and returned them to the hospital.

The boys were reported in satisfactory condition after their jaunt.

Two Stroudsburg Sailors Graduate At Great Lakes

JAMES E. SPRING, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Spring of 239 Lee Ave., and Samuel L. Devivo, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Devivo of 1082 Dreher Ave., both of Stroudsburg, graduated recently from recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

The graduation exercises, marking the end of nine weeks of "boot camp," included a full dress parade and review before military officials and civilian dignitaries.

In nine weeks of instruction, the "raw recruit" is developed into a Navy Bluejacket, ready for duty with the fleet.

TRUCK-TRAIN CRASH—Portion of the wreckage of a truck carrying bottle gas lies by side of Boston & Maine diesel passenger car after the two vehicles collided at Nashua, N.H. Four truck passengers, an entire family, and two others were killed. Truck and car are charred from explosion of gas aboard truck. (AP Wirephoto)

6 Die In Crash Of Train, Truck

NASHUA, N.H. (AP)—A 70-mile-an-hour interstate commuter train plowed into a bottled gas truck at a railroad crossing Wednesday.

Six persons, including an entire family of four, were killed. More than 30 of the 50 passengers aboard the Boston-bound train were injured.

One of the injured was given last rites of the Roman Catholic Church at a hospital several hours after the crash.

The collision set off a series of deafening explosions that blew the small truck to bits and started a flash fire that raced through the single-car, self-propelled train.

The victims included the truck driver, his wife and two infant children, the train's conductor and the law clerk of a federal judge.

The injured included the judge.

Passengers on the flame-filled train screamed in terror as the car hurtled more than a quarter of a mile down the tracks before the engineer could bring it to a halt. Many plunged from the train, which did not leave the rails.

"It seemed as though another bomb had dropped on this Pearl Harbor day," said Mrs. Ralph V. Kelloway, whose home is near the crash scene.

The blast rocked houses in a nearby housing development, shattering many windows.

Flames scorched the earth alongside the tracks, strewn with gas tanks. Fire fighters were kept busy wetting down the tracks to avert further explosions.

The truck driver was Robert Wrenn, 29, a Nashua bottled gas service proprietor whose panel truck was loaded with cylinders of commercial gas, used for home cooking and other purposes. He had just delivered a load of gas to a nearby industrial plant and was driving his family to visit with his mother-in-law while he continued his chores.

His body was found near those of his pretty wife, Patricia, 28, an art teacher, and their two children, 1-month-old Jennifer, and Christopher, 19 months.

The other victims—both aboard the train—were John S. Wilder, 27, of Manchester, law clerk of Chief Judge Peter Woodbury of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Boston; and Vaughan Talbert, 48, of Wilmington, Mass., the conductor.

Would Crumble

Warns Against UN's Congo Exit

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) —Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold warned the U.N. Security Council Wednesday night that the Congo would be plunged into chaos and anarchy if U.N. forces are withdrawn.

"Everything would crumble," Hammarskjold said in a vigorous defense of the U.N. role in the turbulent African republic.

Replying to Soviet criticism that he was a tool of Western imperialism, the secretary-general said he found it difficult to believe that anyone would ask for liquidation of the U.N. Congo operation "in view of the possible consequences of such a move at the present juncture."

Council Speech

He spoke at a resumed session of the council after the introduction of rival East-West resolutions on how to deal with the arrest of deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba.

The council voted down a move by the Soviet Union to keep it in session to hear a speech by the Soviet delegate, and the meeting was adjourned until Thursday afternoon.

Adding to the tenseness of the situation were reports that U. N. members were withdrawing their support from the U. N. Congo operation because of dissatisfaction over the recent turn of events in that turbulent African republic.

The sequence of events at the opening session foreshadowed extended sharp debate before the council reaches the voting stage on the rival proposals.

Makes Suggestion

U. S. Delegate James J. Wadsworth suggested at the outset that Soviet Delegate Valerian A. Zorin, December council president, disqualify himself from presiding on the ground he is prejudiced.

Zorin refused. He denied that the Soviet Union had any direct role in events in the Congo and said there was no valid basis for the U. S. request.

The session was marked also by a prolonged procedural battle over the agenda, in which the Western powers objected to tough language in a Soviet Congo declaration.

The declaration was eventually included in the list of documents on the agenda, which bore the general heading, "Urgent Measures in Connection With Latest Events in the Congo."

The Soviet Union introduced a resolution calling upon Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold to obtain the immediate release of Lumumba and other of his associates imprisoned and allegedly subjected to acts of violence by Congo authorities acting under Col. Joseph Mobutu, the Congo army strongman.

Red Proposal

The Soviet proposal asked that the U. N. Command disarm Mobutu's army. It called upon Belgium to withdraw all personnel, civil and military, from the Congo.

The mildly worded rival resolution submitted by the United States, Britain, Argentina and Italy expressed deep concern over acts of violence against all Congolese and non-Congolese, including U. N. personnel. It asked that no violation of human rights be permitted.

It expressed hope that the International Red Cross would be permitted to examine all detained persons. This is in line with Hammarskjold's own plea to President Joseph Kasavubu.

Misuse Of Funds

Hoffa Indicted On Mail Frauds

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa, who became involved in a Florida real estate development, was indicted Wednesday on mail fraud charges involving alleged misuse of union funds.

The charges were contained in an indictment returned in U. S. District Court and stem from the union president's connection with Sun Valley, Inc., a company formed to develop a 2,400-acre tract in adjoining Brevard County on Florida's east coast.

Only six houses had been built on the project before it became involved in lawsuits and subsequently was sold to a Titusville banker and land developer.

A federal grand jury began looking into Hoffa's connection with the project 11 months ago. It recessed after about two months and did not resume its investigation until October.

The indictment was announced in Washington by Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers about an hour before a copy of the charges was made available to newsmen in Orlando.

Others Named

In addition to Hoffa, the indictment names Henry Lower, former officer of a Detroit Teamsters local, and Robert E. McCarthy Jr., one-time branch manager of the Bank of the Commonwealth at Detroit.

Rogers said the indictment accuses the three men of using more than half a million dollars of Teamsters funds on the project, conceived as a retirement haven for union members.

The 12-count indictment also charges misuse of the mails to defraud on eight occasions and use of interstate telephone and telegraph service for the same purpose three other times.

Hoffa was attending union conferences in Chicago at the time the indictment was reported and surrendered to the U. S. marshal before a marshal could locate him with a warrant.

Same Replies

Hoffa was taken to the marshal's quarters in the U. S. courthouse for fingerprinting and photographing. He smiled and spoke with photographers while they took his picture.

Asked whether he had anything to say, he replied, "The case will be tried in court." He gave the same reply to all questions concerning the charges.

The union chief appeared before U. S. Commissioner C. S. Bentley Pike who put the hearing over to Friday to await arrival of papers from Florida. Bond was set at $10,000. Hoffa posted it and left immediately.

Lower and McCarthy were arrested in Detroit and taken before U.S. Dist. Judge Theodore Levin, who set a hearing for Monday for removal of the two men to Florida.

Lower was released on $50,000 bond and McCarthy on personal recognizance bond of $10,000. The government had asked a bond of $100,000 on Lower and $10,000 on McCarthy.

Seventh St. To Be Closed Monday

THE SEVENTH St. bridge in Stroudsburg will be closed to traffic Monday morning to permit work to continue on the Stroudsburgs Thruway.

Harold E. Snyder, borough manager, told Stroudsburg Borough Council that he had been notified by J. H. Beers, Inc., ichmond, contractor on the thruway, of the closing.

As a result of Route 611 traffic being routed over Broad St. during the period the Seventh St. span is closed, Council approved no parking on both sides of Broad St. Currently parking is permitted on one side of the street.

Police Chief John B. Trethewaysaid last night northbound Route 611 will be detoured onto Broad St. at the foot of Foxtown Hill and will then proceed up Ann St. along with westbound Route 209 traffic.

Southbound Route 611 traffic will be detoured via Main St. and Broad St. to the foot of Foxtown Hill.

Tretheway said he originally planned to have 611 traffic continue to Park Ave. and then double back onto Broad, but the state ruled against him.

New 'Hot Rod' Booster Used For Satellite

VANDENBERG AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) —The Air Force, using a new "hot rod" booster, fired into polar orbit Wednesday a Discoverer satellite containing human tissue and sky spy gadgets.

Planes later will try to recover the cargo by catching the moonlet's parachuting space capsule in the air.

The new satellite is girdling the globe once every 94 minutes in an egg-shaped path whose far point is 450 miles, near point 150.

Discoverer XVIII soared skyward at 12:20 p.m., burning louder and brighter and moving faster than any of its predecessors.

This was due to improvements in the engine of its Thor IRBM booster rocket. Its thrust has been souped up 15,000 pounds to a total of 165,000.

Increased Power

The power increase, officers said, will help the Discoverer program by permitting orbits at higher altitudes to gather data not available at present levels and by enabling the second-stage Agena B—all of which orbits—to carry more fuel. This means it can start and stop its engine in flight, and maneuver in space.

The human tissue, from the underside of an eyelid, was in a 300-pound capsule in the nose of the second stage. With it were bits of human bone marrow, algae, spores, gamma globulin, albumin, gold foil and various kinds of film.

Scientists sent them aloft, and hope to recover them, to learn how they are affected by radiation—vital for the man in space program.

The spy gear was secret, but presumably included instruments being tested for the Midas and Samos satelite series. These include cameras for behind the Iron Curtain reconnaissance, and infrared detectors to sense rocket firings.

Plans Indefinite

Recovery plans were indefinite. Normally, Discoverer catches are tried about 26 hours after launch. It is more valuable in the study program, however, for them to stay up longer, if possible.

The Air Force said that if all goes well, Discoverer XVIII will perhaps be allowed to whirl longer than any other in the series.

Longest lived Discoverer to date was No. 17, successfully recovered last month after more than two days in orbit.

Recovery plans call for the capsule to be ejected over the arctic so it will parachute into a target area near Hawaii. Cargo planes trailing trapeze-like devices will try to snag its 'chute. If they fail, ships will seek to find it in the sea. Thus far in the series, two have been plucked from the air, one from the sea.

Anti-Castro Forces Hit Cuba; 16 Killed

HAVANA (AP) — Gunfighting was reported again Wednesday between anti-Castro forces and government militiamen in central Cuba.

Unconfirmed reports said 16 militiamen were killed in the clashes and that Prime Minister Fidel Castro and his brother, Raul Castro, Cuban armed forces minister, had gone to the area to direct the operation against the rebels.

Insurgents also were reported stepping up their guerrilla warfare in the Escambray Mountains of south central Las Villas Province.

The Cuban armed forces press bureau had no comments on any of the reports.

Central Cuba was the scene two months ago of a mass trial of insurgents captured by Castro forces. Castro claimed at the time to have wiped out the resistance by the execution of 5 rebels and prison sentences for 180.

The reports reaching here said the 16 government militiamen were killed in fighting along the Matanzas-Las Villas provincial border. Another report said anti-Castro forces killed a militiaman who denounced his father and sweetheart as counter-revolutionaries.

The capital of Matanzas Province is about 50 miles east of Havana.

Reports of a mass defection by a Castro army unit in western Cuba also were circulating here.

They told of the defection of Capt. Clodomiro Miranda Mendiela and some of his men Tuesday. Miranda, commander of the Seboruco garrison, reportedly took 200 men with him into the mountains of Pinar del Rio Province. A militia force of some 2,000 men reportedly was sent after them.

Also from western Cuba came a report that a truck loaded with new Czech and Soviet arms disappeared from San Julian Air Base, a heavily guarded marshalling area for weapons and aircraft arriving from Iron Curtain countries.

The arms and the vehicle were presumed to have fallen into the hands of insurgents.

Fred Waring's Daughter, 26, Is Married

PONTIAC, Mich. (AP) — Dixie Lyn Waring, daughter of orchestra leader Fred Waring, and Albert W. Wilson, Waring's stage manager, were married Wednesday at the home of a friend in suburban Birmingham.

Miss Waring, 26, is the band's featured vocalist. It was her first marriage. It was the fourth marriage for the 39-year-old Wilson.

The pair was married at the home of George H. Webb. They arrived in Detroit Tuesday night from Milwaukee and after an appearance Wednesday night with Waring's Pennsylvanians will accompany the group Thursday to Warren, Ohio.

Wilson said they had no plans for a honeymoon until after the present tour ends Dec. 15.

The pair obtained a marriage license here earlier Wednesday. Wilson listed his home address as Delaware Water Gap, Pa., and she listed Shawnee-on-Delaware, Pa.

JFK Must Fill 7 Posts, Picks Udall For Interior

NEW YORK (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy Wednesday named a three-term congressman out of the West—Rep. Stewart L. Udall of Arizona—to be his secretary of the interior.

Kennedy then released a meeting-packed schedule for Thursday in Washington, highlighted by a conference with Adlai E. Stevenson.

Udall's appointment was Kennedy's third Cabinet selection. He has seven more to go before completing the Cabinet that will serve under him after he takes office Jan. 20.

The president-elect set aside two hours Thursday to talk with Stevenson, mentioned prominently at one point for secretary of state and more recently for leader of the American delegation at the United Nations.

Kennedy scattered 10 engagements at his Washington home through Thursday's schedule—just about the heaviest since he began trying to put together the team that will serve under him.

Pennsylvania Gov. David L. Lawrence will lunch with the president-elect just before Kennedy sees Stevenson.

One of the Kennedy dates involved no official business. He will go to Georgetown Hospital in the afternoon to attend the christening of his 13-day-old son.

Also seeing Kennedy Thursday is Byron (Whizzer) White, a Denver lawyer and former football great, who has been discussed as a possible attorney general or solicitor general.

Another caller will be Dean Rusk, former assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs. He has figured in talk for secretary of state or some other high State Department position.

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, who could be talking up Tennessee Gov. Buford Ellington for secretary of agriculture, will also see Kennedy.

The man who will take control of the government Jan. 20 is running behind schedule on filling the top echelon of those who will help him govern. He had hoped to complete the Cabinet by the end of this week.

He told a news conference that he is taking time to exercise "the best judgment I can" for such positions as secretaries of state, defense and treasury because he hopes to get the best possible people and assurances they will remain in his administration for four years.

Basketball Star

Udall, 40, is a lawyer who once starred at basketball at the University of Arizona, developed an interest in Indian problems, and arrived in Congress in 1955. A Mormon, he served as an enlisted Air Force gunner during World War II.

He wears a crew cut and has a complexion burnished by the Arizona sun.

Grippe Strikes Khrush

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev's illness was officially described Wednesday night as the grippe, or influenza.

First Deputy Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan made the announcement when he stepped before the microphone at a Kremlin reception for President Liu Shao-chi of Communist China — one of the many functions Khrushchev has missed since Saturday.

After the exchange of toasts for Liu, Mikoyan said: "You probably wonder why a person who is so fond of making such great toasts is absent today, especially when he could toast the great Soviet-Chinese friendship."

Mikoyan smiled and continued: "But comrade Khrushchev has slight trouble with the grippe. And the grippe is stronger than human will. He could have overcome this trouble if the doctors had permitted. But they did not let him come. They are stronger than the grippe, and he had to stay in bed."

Most of the audience had known for two days that the 66-year-old premier was ill, although nothing had appeared in Soviet newspapers.

Concluding his brief statement, Mikoyan said: "Comrade Khrushchev has asked me to make a toast here to the great Soviet-Chinese unbreakable friendship, and personally to comrades Mao Tze-tung, Liu Shao-chi, Chou En-lai, and Chu Teh. So let's fullfil his wish."

The audience raised glasses. Frol R. Kozlov, a secretary of the Soviet Communist party Central Committee, led the applause that followed Mikoyan's speech.

As this went on, Khrushchev apparently was keeping to his bed at his Lenin Hills villa with a slight temperature.

Says Soviets Failed To Orbit Man

CHICAGO (AP)—The Chicago Daily News said Wednesday the Soviet Union attempted to launch a man into space and failed.

This was reported by Paul Ghali, the News' Bern correspondent, who identified his sources as foreign diplomats in Switzerland who have contacts in Moscow.

The launching was rumored early this fall. It ended in tragedy, Ghali reported, and further experiments were postponed for several months.

The dispatch added: The Soviet Union scheduled its spectacular scientific experiment for early October to precede one of Premier Khrushchev's flamboyant appearances before the United Nations.

The device, a missile and a container carrying a man, apparently was launched successfully but Soviet scientists on the ground could not separate the container from its vehicle. Vehicle and passenger disintegrated.

Moon's Radar Reflection Sets Off Missile Scare

WASHINGTON (AP)—Radar reflections from the moon set off a missile scare at the nation's air defense centers on Oct. 5. The Air Force said Wednesday, however, its equipment has been adjusted to avoid more such flurries.

Actually the scare was only momentary, the Air Force said, since a quick check turned up the error and word went out to calm down.

The incident, unreported until Wednesday, resulted from computers at the ballistic missile early warning station at Thule, Greenland, picking up radar signals it bounced off the moon, 250,000 miles away.

This set into motion the machinery that is designed to warn of a missile attack. The signal was flashed to the Strategic Air Command's control center and to headquarters of the North American Air Defense Command in Colorado.

A spokesman said the commander in Colorado, Gen. Laurence S. Kuter, found immediately that the reported detection "was totally unsubstantiated by other information sources and in no way indicated a threat" of missile attack.

Kuter ordered the data to be disregarded and he telephoned Thule. He was told the apparatus there had not been operating properly.

Strategic air commanders made it clear that one enemy missile isn't going to result in the launching of SAC's worldwide bomber and missile force.

Economy Disagreement-- Recession Or Sluggish

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three nongovernment economists agreed Wednesday the country was in a recession but said it was too early to tell how severe it would be.

Two government economists appearing on the same panel at a congressional hearing shied away from the word "recession" as emotion-laden.

But they said the nation's economy was in a downturn or at least a sluggish condition.

Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill., chairman of the Senate-House Economic Committee conducting the hearings, drew from one government witness agreement that unemployment might top 5.5 million in January.

This official, Deputy Asst. Secretary of Labor Seymour L. Wolfbein, said that if the present 6.4 per cent seasonally adjusted rate of unemployment continues, the jobless total will be 5.2 million in January as compared with 3,579,000 in October.

Going Up

But Douglas pointed out that unemployment insurance applications have been going up, indicating that the 6.4 per cent figure will increase.

Wolfbein said this was quite possible and that, if so, the 5.5 million total mentioned by Douglas for midwinter could come about.

The other government witness, Louis J. Paradiso, chief statistician of the Office of Business Economics of the Commerce Department, said, "At the present time no major forces are in sight to provide the upward thrust needed for resumption of economic growth."

Unfavorable factors, he said, are a reduction in consumer buying even though personal incomes have continued to gain, a sharp housing cut, a turndown in spending by business for new plant and equipment, and a big deficit in the nation's total international balance of payments.

Joseph A. Pechman of the Brookings Institution, a private research organization, said, "The recession of 1960-61 has been under way for about six months."

Charles L. Schultze, associate professor of economics at Indiana University, also said there is a recession going on now, the fourth since World War II.

The third private economist, Geoffrey H. Moore, associate research director for the National Bureau of Economic Research, took a more optimistic view.

He said a contraction has been under way since May but there are tentative indications it will be relatively mild.

PACKING A PISTOL—Miss Martha M. Smith aims a cap pistol at newsmen and photographers just before she moved out of her San Francisco flat. The 57-year-old woman was ordered by the redevelopment agency to vacate the otherwise empty building more than a month ago but she had refused to move. Finally she packed her household articles, took her two dogs in tow, waved her toy gun and departed to a new residence. (AP Wirephoto)

Eisenhowers To Go To Farm

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mamie Eisenhower said Wednesday she thought she and the President would go to their Gettysburg, Pa., farm "for the first few days" after they leave the White House, Jan. 20.

She indicated to reporters there was nothing definite beyond that about their plans.

10 Erie-Lacka. Cars Derailed

POMPTON PLAINS, N. J. (AP) —Ten Erie-Lackawanna Railroad freight cars and a caboose uncoupled and derailed here yesterday spilling their cargo of sand, police said.

No one was injured. The Engineer brought the remainder of the eastbound train into Jersey City.

An eleventh car tore up 1,000 feet of single line track before it too derailed, police said. The company estimated that six commuter trains which normally carry over 1,000 people would have to be rerouted while the track is repaired.

Damage was not estimated immediately.

Maternity Hospital

OTTAWA (AP) — Canadian soldiers with the U.N. Command in Egypt are giving Palestinian refugees in the Gaza Strip a $6,000 maternity hospital and baby clinic for Christmas.

Greater Citizen Help In Local Affairs Urged

PENNSYLVANIA Boroughs' Association secretary Dr. Lee Decker urged greater citizen participation in public affairs while addressing the Stroudsburg Lions Club at Penn-Stroud Hotel during their weekly dinner session.

Decker said that the basic difference in the democratic and communistic points' of view on social orgalization is that democracies hold that governments do exist and function for the individual. But that the communist theory is the individual exists purely for the benefit of the state. He especially urged greater participation in public affairs at local levels.

With this basic principle in the mind, anyone can understand, he pointed out, that totalitarian governments are necessarily ruthless and the sacrifice of a million lives means little if the purpose of the tyrannical masters are served.

Citizen Owes Debt

The secretary explained the citizen owes a debt of service to the community, state and nation and should never hesitate to participate in public service. He stressed the importance of local government and queried what the local government is and what its functions denote.

The speaker stated that there are upwards of 5,000 local governments in Pennsylvania and all their activities start on the community phase so that they do local work.

Dr. Decker told of a visit he made to the republic of Israel and praised the accomplishments of the Jews in making over that ancient terrain. They literally, have made the desert bloom, he said.

Lesson Taught

The lesson taught by the new republic is that democracy works best, where the people do their part. Also, the people are an end in themselves and the governments subservient to them. The state is the servant of the people not the master of the people he observed.

Showing how local freedom can decay, he said there is today no local government in Greece, the land where democracy—was once conceived in glory. It has faded since the days of Pericles, he explained.

In the business session, committee chairman Robert Haigh stated that an excellent entertainment has been secured for the annual children's party which will be held on Tuesday, Dec. 20. The club will receive the mothers and children at 7 o'clock.

Dr. Decker, was presented by Borough Secretary Harold Snyder.

GOP Senate Heads To Meet

HARRISBURG (AP) — Republican leaders of the Senate yesterday scheduled a meeting for GOP senators here Dec. 12 to reorganize for the 1961 session of the legislature.

It will be the first time in 22 years that the Republicans reorganize as the minority party of the Senate.

Democrats picked up three Senate seats in the Nov. 8 elections, making the party division 25-25. Lt. Gov. John Morgan Davis, a Democrat, has the tie-breaking vote on organization of the new session.

No contests for leadership posts were reported and these officers were expected to be renamed to their posts: Sens. James S. Berger, Potter, as floor leader; Albert R. Pechan, Armstrong, as assistant floor leader, and Robert D. Fleming, Allegheny, as caucus chairman.

Trio Face Game Charges

THREE Allentown RD. 4 men posted bail yesterday before Justice of the Peace Horton M. Place, East Stroudsburg RD. 1, for their appearance in Monroe County Court on game law violation charges.

The three were identified as Elmer F. Havens, 51; Fred L. Price, 33 and Donald Powell, 32. They were charged with shining a light on deer while in the possession of firearms. They were found guilty at a hearing before Justice of Peace Place.

Plan To Appeal

The men decided to appeal the magistrate's finding in court. Havens and Price were committed to Monroe County Jail, Stroudsburg. They were released Tuesday night when Powell made arrangements for posting of bail in the amount of $218 each for himself and his two companions.

Hunters Pose Fire Menace

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Forest and Waters Pennsylvania reported Wednesday Pennsylvania deer hunters pose a serious fire menace to the state's tinder-dry woodlands.

With the deer hunting season only three days old, fires already have consumed hundreds of acres of timberland in at least seven counties. There are nine days left in the deer season.

Foresters blamed nearly every blaze on hunters, a department spokesman said.

Ordinarily hunters would not pose such a threat to the woodlands, the spokesman added. Forest fire fighters count the most dangerous season as the period between the end of summer and Thanksgiving.

After that winter weather usually sets in with generally wet conditions.

Lack Of Rain, Snow

But this year high temperatures in much of the state coupled with a lack of rain or snow fall in most areas has left the forests in dangerously dry condition.

"Normally, the fall fire season would be over by now," the spokesman said. "But it has been unusually long this year."

The forests and waters agency said it is not yet ready to declare the situation an emergency.

Help For Scholars

A study conducted by Dean John U. Munro of Harvard sheds new light on a condition with which educators and many parents have long been familiar.

It is that the talented high school athlete finds plenty of helping hands to get him into college, but the talented scholar must go it alone.

The sad result is that nearly a half million students in the top 30 percent of their class drop out of school or college each year. In an era when education is a weapon of the cold war between slave state and free, this waste borders on national disgrace.

Dean Munro's contention is that all the willing workers now engaged in getting little old Brawn into the old Alma Mater for the good of its football and basketball teams might well do the same for little old Brain.

The idea is that even if the scholar doesn't pack the stadium, chances are he will contribute considerably to the country's welfare.

The college itself must work at this effort to attract the bright student. As Dean Munro says so succinctly, colleges must learn "to recognize talent in the rough and take chances on individual people who may not fit our particular categories."

For some good pointers on what to do about getting these scholastic discoveries into college and keeping them there, the residents in the ivory towers might study the smooth operation of the machine that recruits star football and basketball players.

One School That's Out

Before the differences got fuzzed up, the campaign uproar over Quemoy showed that Senator Kennedy and his advisers want to introduce some fresh ideas into U.S. policy toward Red China.

He'll soon have the opportunity to do so, but there's at least one school of thought that should be ruled out. Its leading exponent at the moment is Dean Acheson, a Kennedy adviser of shadowy status who nonetheless thinks he knows just what the next Administration should do about Red China.

First, the U.S. must "define" its policy toward Formosa. We must "stop pretending that Chiang Kai-shek is still the leader of the Chinese nation." Chiang must be pressed to demobilize part of his army and to retreat from Quemoy and Matsu. In place of present U.S. commitments to defend the island, we should get "some guarantees" of its security from the U.N., and let Red China take a U.N. seat. This done, says Mr. Acheson, "we can deal with Red China on a different basis."

Quite so. The U.S. would thus go back to dealing with Red China the way Mr. Acheson did as Truman's Secretary of State, and we would yield much in the old hope that "we can possibly exact something from them in return." In short, the U.S. would again back down a one-way street toward a likely dead end.

Frankly, we aren't so sure this country needs a spate of fresh ideas on foreign policy as much as it needs firm application of some it already has. And as dissatisfied as he may be with U.S. policies toward Red China, we think Mr. Kennedy will reject out of hand the old and disappointing one of appeasement.

—Wall Street Journal

Negro Question

In the United States, the excessively emotional Negro question now divides itself into three parts:

1. The United Nations includes a large number of Negro or partially Negro countries as members, all having been formally recognized by the United States as sovereign states. The delegates from such countries, Presidents, Prime Ministers, Ministers of Foreign Affairs, etc., are usually men of education with degrees from important universities.

When they come to the United States, they expect to be treated in accordance with their status at home and their international position. They are so treated in Moscow, London, Paris, etc.

Furthermore, as a matter of practical politics, as long as we are members of the Unted Nations, engaged in the Cold War, the United States needs these countries as allies.

Soviet Russia has already made progress in Ghana and Guinea but not in Liberia or Nigeria. It can be costly for the United States, in many respects, to lose Africa to the Soviet Universal State.

When a restaurant headwaiter in New York makes a distinction between a diplomat and an ordinary Negro, when he asks where a person comes from who has a dark skin, preferring a Dominican or a Chadian to an Alabaman or a Harlem Negro, he makes a fool of himself because how are such distinctions to be made? What is the test? Is the headwaiter capable of making an anthropological or an ethnological test?

The cost of such distinctions in terms of votes in the United Nations or in terms of diplomatic and commercial relations between this country and African or Latin American states where Negro or mixed populations prevail can be very damaging, particularly in these days when those who a few years ago were students are now important officials.

2. In the 1930's an enormous movement of American Negroes from South to North took place. The result of this movement is that in some large Northern states, Negroes hold the balance of political power or come close to it.

In New York City, Negroes and their allies hold the balance of political power; no one opposed by Negroes as "unfriendly," can be elected to any public office. This is true to a lesser or greater degree in many other cities.

This means, in political terms, that what the Irish accomplished in the large Northern cities in the 1880's and the Italians presently, is today becoming the role of the Negro in these places.

Some politicians are honestly without racial consciousness or prejudice; others are liars and hypocrites, playing little opportunistic games. Whichever may be the attitude, all politicians in these Northern states must cater to the Negro vote and to Negro influence.

For instance, the Negroes in the North and outside of the United States look upon Senator Fulbright as the Senator from Little Rock who did not stand up as a Liberal when the segregation problem became critical in his state.

They regard him as a segregationist, as a reactionary in Arkansas and a Liberal in Washington. He will make no progress in Africa and the premature appointment of "Soapy" Williams to be Assistant Secretary of State for African Affairs will not help Fulbright if he is appointed Secretary of State.

In New York State, this becomes very important in 1962 when Gov. Nelson Rockefeller will run again for governor with the object of a build-up for the Presidential nomination. The appointment of one who is regarded as anti-Negro as Secretary of State, as is rumored at the moment of writing these notes, could affect the state vote in 1962 and the 1964 Presidential campaign. Such is Negro politics in the North.

3. The segregation problem in the South therefore ceases to be a local problem. It is both national and international. It affects our position in the Cold War. It can lead to our defeat in the United Nations. It could, in fact, result in isolation. The "whites" are in a minority. They have held sway for only a few centuries and the revolt against them is now universal.

We, in the United States, find ourselves in the middle of the 20th century the most involved country in this racial conflict, with local problems complicating any position we might prefer to take in the world. The Russian enemy, of course, has taken every advantage of this particular conflict, to our disadvantage.

Try and Stop Me —by Bennet Cerf

An elderly farmer reluctantly accepted his daughter's invitation to spend a week with her husband and herself in Chicago. When he got back home he reached happily for his overalls, pipe and slippers and explained to his wife. "What I like least about the big city is that the minute you step out of the house, you're away from home."

A comedian wangled a fortnight booking at a second-rate night club, then beseeched an agent, discarded when the comic was in the chips, to "catch" his new act. There weren't fifty patrons in the club the night the agent showed up, and they did not laugh once. "This was an off night," alibied the comic in his dressing room. "Man, you should have seen me LAST night."

The agent answered grimly, "I DID!"

The Pennsylvania Story

GOP Challenge

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — Deer season may have opened Monday for Pennsylvania's nimrods — but today is the first day of "open season" on Pennsylvanians themselves!

The occasion of course is the opening of registration books once again throughout the state for new registrations and those who wish to change their existing party affiliations.

The current open season on Pennsylvanians insofar as these party registrations are concerned is of considerably more than passing interest this time.

In fact it is perhaps more momentous than at almost any time in the history of the Keystone State. The new registration period opening today falls in the category of being critically significant for several reasons.

To begin with, look at it in this light: Pennsylvania Democrats for the first time walk into a new registration period—not as the underdogs as they have been historically in the past — but as the top dog.

Are they destined to retain this edge? Can wandering Republicans offset the historic gain snapped up by Keystone State donkey riders when the registration books closed for the past November 8 presidential election?

Insofar as partisans are concerned, the answer to both questions is a strong "yes".

However it isn't quite as simple as that. There is no question that Pennsylvania donkey riders during the past few years have rained the political hills heavily with shot and shell to attain their record of a registration edge they now enjoy, even though it is less than 3,000.

At the same time they know full well they cannot hold this edge merely by sitting still and watching the passing parade.

Democratic leaders are fearful that the historic edge they now enjoy may prove to be an overconfident trade wind that may lull party workers into registration doldrums.

The significant point is that Democrats must have a far greater edge then they have now — if they hope to continue confidently as the majority party in the Keystone State insofar as the holding of public offices is concerned.

The edge is too shaky — and as events of the past few years have clearly shown, just a nominally healthy edge is no insurance against loss. The 1954 fiasco when Democrats stumbled off with the governorship — notwithstanding the near million GOP registration edge — is glaring enough proof, and the basic reason why Pennsylvania Democratic leaders are deeply concerned and determined not to be content with simply maintaining a status quo.

Pennsylvania Republicans on the other hand are in a fit. They know that up to this point at least the tide has been running against them. They're in identically the same boat their Democratic counterparts were madly and desperately rowing a few short years ago!

Should the registration edge continue in favor of Democrats in this state when the current registration period is over, Republican leaders know full well they quite definitely will have the bruising battle of their life on their hands.

No tide of battle is turned by a series of "victorious defeats" — although Republicans in the past have been too prone to hopefully refer to their "winless victories" in this vein. The significant point is that should Pennsylvania Democrats again pull ahead soundly in this registration period opening today, Pennsylvania Republicans undeniably can look forward to a long, long haul to even return respectably to the shooting match.

The die for some years to come may well be cast in the "open season" on Pennsylvanians that gets under way today!

About Town —By Gene Brown

An enterprising real estate salesman of the western part of Texas finished describing the area to a prospect from the East by concluding: "All west Texas needs to become a garden spot is a little more water and some good people to settle in it."

"Yeah," replied the easterner, "that's all Hell needs, too."

The Allen-Scott Report

Kennedy Target

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington — Complicating President-elect Kennedy's choice for Secretary of the Treasury, the second-ranking member of the cabinet, is a dynamite-loaded problem involving the Federal Reserve Board.

The tight money and credit policies of this key banking agency, notably of its adamant Chairman William McChesney Martin, and Kennedy's repeatedly avowed intention to do something about them, may precipitate one of the stormiest clashes of the coming Democratic Administration.

This looming threat has all the makings of a blazing personal and policy struggle comparable to President Andrew Jackson's historic battle with the U.S. Bank.

Background reasons for this are:

Unlike the Cabinet, ambassadors and other high officials, the seven Reserve Board members do not automatically lose their jobs when a new president comes in. They are appointed for 14 years, and the only vacancy Kennedy will be able to fill before 1965 is that of M. S. Szymczak, Chicago, whose term expires in 1962. He was named by President Truman.

Only legislation voted by Congress could reshuffle this board. Martin's term doesn't end until 1970, and he can remain chairman, to which he was named by President Eisenhower, until April 1963.

Both as a member of the Senate and as presidential candidate, Kennedy has been caustically critical of Federal Reserve policies, particularly assailing them as inflexible and responsible for "high interest rates." During the campaign he served notice that, if elected, he would demand the Reserve Board "cooperate with strong and well-considered presidential leadership, as it did with the Eisenhower administration."

Since the election, Martin has made no secret he is highly suspicious of what Kennedy means by "cooperate", and is prepared to vigorously oppose any move to undermine Federal Reserve "independence". Martin has told financial writers, "No one is going to dominate the Reserve Board as long as I am on it."

Legislation is already being prepared for Kennedy to do exactly what Martin fears — eliminate him as chairman, if not wholly from the board, and make it more amenable to White House policies.

Martin apparently has gotten wind of this. If he hasn't, he will hear about it soon because this plan is on Kennedy's priority list for the coming session of Congress.

It is his view that greater Federal Reserve "cooperation is essential for truly coordinated economic and fiscal policies."

To achieve this, Kennedy will propose the establishment of a council, comparable to the all-powerful National Security Council, over which the President presides personally, to formulate and coordinate the government's economic and fiscal policies.

This new council would have the final word over the Reserve Board.

Comprising the council would be the secretary of the Treasury, the budget Director, the head of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, the chairman of the Federal Reserve, and possibly the secretaries of Commerce and Labor. The last two are still undecided.

This legislation would also provide that the head of the Reserve Board "serve at the pleasure of the President" — meaning he would name his own chairman.

If enacted, that would automatically eliminate Martin.

That's why Kennedy is taking such great pains with his Treasury choice. He wants to be sure the appointee will be steadfastly on his side if it comes to an open showdown with Martin.

Martin, originally from St. Louis, was named to the Reserve Board in 1951 by Truman. He went along with Democratic fiscal policies, but in the Eisenhower administration has been a leading advocate of a balanced budget and a tight rein on money and credit. Also for a "completely free and independent Federal Reserve System."

Flashes — Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie is making a three-day official visit to Brazil next week, the first time he has been to South America.

The military services are considering offsetting President Eisenhower's order drastically cutting the number of dependents abroad by permitting husbands with children to make at least two trips to the U.S. annually. Pentagon leaders believe such a plan would greatly boost morale.

Aides of President-elect Kennedy are displaying particular interest in the White House's swimming pool and tennis court, saying he and the next First Lady plan to use both. The Eisenhowers rarely used the swimming pool and never the tennis court. The pool was installed in the Franklin Roosevelt Administration, by public contributions, and the tennis court by President Theodore Roosevelt, an ardent tennis player.

Inside You And Yours

Headache Pill

By Burton H. Fern, M.D.

Doubting Thomas: Aspirin a killer?

M. D.: Yes. It rarely hurts adults, but it kills more children each year than polio.

D. T.: How?

M. D.: An overdose makes you breathe so hard and fast that you exhale most of the carbon dioxide in your blood.

D. T.: Isn't this good?

M. D.: No. Carbon dioxide turns into an acid inside your body. You need this acid to balance the acid-neutralizers in your system.

D. T.: So?

M. D.: To restore balance, the kidneys flush acid-neutralizers down the drain.

D. T.: Then everything is fine?

M. D.: No. Aspirin also smothers those microscopic fires which burn sugar. And so the body has to melt and burn fats for heat and energy. Burning fats change into acids that build up in the blood stream and make you sick.

Doesn't Neutralize?

D. T.: Doesn't the blood neutralize these acids?

M. D.: It can't. The kidneys have emptied out most acid-neutralizers. An unarmed victim can't fight off a gang of acid-slinging hoodlums.

D. T.: How does the acid affect him?

M. D.: He up-chucks. Foggy vision blinds him while an imaginary foghorn blasts in his ears. Droplets of sweat drip from his bluish brow before he finally lapses into coma.

D. T.: What should I do if Junior gets into the aspirin?

M. D.: Call your doctor before you dash off to the hospital. He may suggest a dose of ipecac to help Junior bring up most of the aspirin before it's absorbed into the system—or a mild laxative to speed it along the other way.

Speed Urgent

If you can't reach your doctor, don't wait; every minute counts! Junior's stomach can be rinsed clean at the hospital emergency room while you're still trying to reach the good doctor.

D. T.: What do you give for acid blood?

M. D.: Bicarbonate of soda.

D. T.: Ordinary baking soda? How many boxes do you use?

Solution Injected

M. D.: We inject a special sterilized solution directly into the blood stream.

D. T.: And what happens to all the aspirin?

M. D.: Most flushes through the kidneys. If they're too sluggish, we hook up a third—artificial — kidney. We may even replace the blood with aspirin-free transfusions. Aspirin poisoning can be prevented!

D. T.: That's right. Baby aspirins come in trick bottles with safety caps that children can't open.

M. D.: Don't rely on bottle caps. Junior can still get into adult aspirin bottles.

Use your head and lock aspirin away with all your other drugs!

Off The Record

By Robert Clark, City Editor

We've heard a lot of stories about individuals who actually love their job. And the recent case of Miss Barbara Ann Barrow, former resident of East Stroudsburg pinpoints this feeling 100 percent.

Last Saturday Miss Barrow, a teacher in Freehold Regional High School, Freehold, N. J., slipped and broke her arm. She was removed to the town's hospital where a cast was put on the injured member.

On Monday she was discharged from the hospital at 10:30 a.m. Where do you think she was at 11:30 a.m. You're right, back toiling before her English classes at Freehold High.

Miss Barrow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Morton Barrow, East Stroudsburg, is a 1960 graduate of Penn State University.

If you get a chance, look at the wonderful window decorations at Paul Lloyd's Store in East Stroudsburg. Thomas Lincoln Waring did the honors

Waring, a master at interior decorating, has been making Lloyd's store eye-catching for years. If it is possible Tom has outdone himself this holiday season.

Talk about beauty, Dr. David Schulman has it all at his retreat at Little Kunkletown. The transplanted New York physician has the land and home, the type you can only find in one of those pictorial magazines.

The good doctor, one of J. Edgar Hoover's closest friends, owns and operates Hickory Valley Farms, a food product cincern which is a by-word in the best of eateries across the United States.

His farm surrounds the luscious-smelling smokehouses which water the mouth as one looks admiringly over his vast picturesque estate.

Social Security Guide

Q. I have been paying into social security ever since 1951. I sent for a statement of my social security earnings and found that my self-employment income for 1959 was not recorded. What do I do about this?

A. Don't worry. There is a period of about ten months between the time your return is filed and the time your earnings are entered on your social security records. If you check after one year has gone by and there is no record, get in touch with your nearest social security office.

Veteran's Guide

Q. I am the son of a peacetime veteran who died of the extra-hazardous service he was exposed to and am eligible to take training under the War Orphans Education Act. But I'm not especially interested in going to college. What other kinds of courses can I take?

A. In addition to classroom work leading to a college degree, the War Orphans Education Act provides opportunity for training in a wide variety of schools below the college level — technical institutes, business schools, some vocational or trade schools, normal schools, institutions offering training in medical and related fields, and junior colleges.

Outstanding 'Ag' Students Cited

OUTSTANDING students in vocational agriculture and homemaking in the county's high schools were honored yesterday by the Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club at the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Citations of merit, along with pen and pencil sets, were awarded to the nine students chosen from the four joint school districts.

Homemaking awards went to Barbara Borger and Kathleen Bonser, both of Pleasant Valley Jointure; Gloria Jean Keiper, Pocono Mountain Jointure; Pauline Borden, Stroud Union School District, and Kathy Heller, East Stroudsburg Jointure.

Pleasant Valley

Four boys, all from the Pleasant Valley Jointure, were cited in vocational agriculture. They are: Larry Altemose, Larry Borger, Donald Brong and Sterling Borger.

The young people were introduced by their school advisers: Mrs. Jeanette Mitchell and Clifford Stroud, Pleasant Valley; Mrs. Grace Wildrick, Pocono Mountain; Miss Mary Hall, Stroud Union and Mrs. Jean Callie, East Stroudsburg.

Mrs. Laura A. Halliday, homemaking supervisor for Monroe and two other counties, and H. E. Newcomer, five-county director of vocational agriculture, presented the advisers.

Present Two Checks

The Kiwanis Club also presented two checks for use in 4-H Club work, one to Miss Margaret MacLaren for the girls and Arhtur E. Ifft, for the boys.

Dr. Nathan G. Meyer, chairman of the Kiwanis committee, conducted the program. He was assisted by Dale H. Learn, A. M. Price and Henry Tucker. Elwood C. German presided at the meeting.

Educators who were guests at the meeting included Walter H. Sebring, assistant county superintendent of schools; Earl F. Groner, superintendent, Stroud Union Schools; Carl T. Secor, supervising principal, East Stroudsburg Jointure; C. Willis Dunlap, supervising principal, Pocono Mountain Jointure, and Samuel Lee, Tobyhanna Township principal who represented Pleasant Valley Jointure.

Tobyhanna Woman Dies

MISS WINIFRED A. Scanlon, Main St., Tobyhanna, died yesterday in her home after a lengthly illness.

She was born in Tobyhanna the daughter of the late Martin and Mary Donohue Scanlon and had been a lifelong resident of Tobyhanna.

Miss Scanlon had been a teacher in the Coolbaugh Township School until she retired about 10 years ago.

She was a member of the St. Ann's Roman Catholic Church and the Altar and Rosary Society of the church, both in Tobyhanna.

Miss Scanlon is survived by one brother, Patrick J. Scanlon, Tobyhanna; Atty. James Scanlon, Stroudsburg, is one of the several neices and nephews surviving.

Funeral services will be held at the home of her brother Saturday morning. A Requiem High Mass will be celebrated in the St. Ann's Church Saturday at 9:30 a.m.

Interment will be in the St. Ann Cemetery, Tobyhanna.

Durkan Funeral Home, Scranton, is in charge of arrangements.

Eastburg Singers Entertain

THE 120 voices of the East Stroudsburg Area High School Glee Club and Choraliers sang at the December meeting of the East Stroudsburg State College Student Education Association meeting last night in the college auditorium. A capacity crowd attended.

The program began with a series of numbers by the Choraliers and was followed by a demonstration rehearsal which led to a varied program of Christmas music.

The Glee Club and Choraliers are under the direction of Kenneth Raessler, director at the East Stroudsburg Area High School.

Church Group To Hold Party

THE Friendly Class of United Church of Christ, Stroudsburg, will hold its annual Christmas Party today at 5:30 p.m. in the church.

The party will be a covered dish dinner and members are reminded to bring their gift. Following the dinner gifts will be exchanged.

For Those Who Have Not

BEFORE settling down this season to worry about what kind of Christmas gift we can find for the "man (or woman) who has everything," perhaps we should pause briefly to give sober thought to the proper gift for men and women who have almost nothing.

There's a theory, accepted by most of us, that the gift itself is not really important—it's the spirit behind it that counts. But, for the children and adults in our community who have relatively little, the spirit and the gift are equally important. If, on an impulse, you should go dashing off today and buy a gross of silver spoons to be delivered to the unfortunate among us, you'd be making an empty, futile gesture.

There are many things these people need, need desperately. But, we do not know the families, the children, the homeless and lonely individuals with whom we'd like to share our own Christmas happiness. We are in no position to set up a list of appropriate gifts for them.

In Position

But, The Salvation Army is in just such a position. The Army knows these people well, knows what they need and want, knows exactly what will create for them a truly happy Christmas. When you give to The Salvation Army Christmas Appeal, you can be sure that you are giving to those less fortunate the most effective gifts, the proper gifts, chosen with wisdom and care against a background of knowledge and love.

We suggest that you share your own happy Christmas in the best possible manner by sending a generous contribution today to the Salvation Army Christmas Appeal.

Fire Prevention Ordinance Okayed

STROUDSBURG Borough Council last night passed an ordinance requiring dikes around any storage tank containing inflammable liquids if it has a capacity of 1,000 gallons or more.

The action may eventually lead to a comprehensive fire prevention code for the borough.

Seen Hazard

Philips told council that the leak, in a 17,000-gallon tank which had just been filled, could have caused a serious fire if fumes from it had reached gas fired space heaters in the adjoining Worthington Mower Co. plant.

After a lengthy discussion on the subject, Borough Solicitor George T. Robinson produced an ordinance regulating such storage which was drawn up in 1954 but, for some reason, was never adopted by council.

No Opposition

It passed without opposition after council and Philips agreed that a 1,000-gallon capacity should be written into it.

The ordinance provides that the dikes around the tanks must be sufficient to contain the capacity of the largest tank, plus 10 percent of the aggregate capacity of all tanks.

Philips told council there are four bulk plants located in the Second St. area, all of whom will be affected by the new ordinance.

Speed Limit

Council approved erection of 35 mile an hour speed limit signs on McConnell St. between Second and Fifth Sts. after the State Highways Dept. informed the group that McConnell St. is considered a borough thoroughfare and that council has the right to set speed limits on it.

The action came as the result of a request to the Highways Dept. for permission to establish 35 mile an hour zones on McConnell St. and on Main St. between Fifth St. and the interborough bridge.

The department approved the 35-mile an hour limit on Main St., which is considered a state highway, and sent an application for erection of the signs which will be returned to the department after completion.

Other Action

Council also:

Heard a report by Borough Manager Harold E. Snyder that operation of a sanitary land fill garbage disposal system will cost about $15,000 yearly, plus $15,000 for initial equipment. Snyder said Stroudsburg and East Stroudsburg, and possibly some townships, will share the costs. A meeting will be held next week with a state sanitarian to discuss problems of organizing such a system.

Authorized annual appropriations of $1,000 each to Chemical Co. No. 1 and Phoenix Fire Co. No. 2.

Authorized Snyder to advertise for bids for a new police car to be received at the next council meeting on Jan. 4.

Received a request from the Stroudsburg Police Dept. for a "greatly needed" increase in salary amounting to 10 percent in each pay bracket. Council President Edward R. Lawson told Police Chief John B. Tretheway, who presented the request, it will be considered when next year's budget is being discussed.

S-burg Man Fined, Freed

HORACE LaBadie, 43, of 49 N. 10th St., Stroudsburg, pleaded guilty to a disorderly charge last night before Justice of the Peace John Foelkner, Stroudsburg.

LaBadie was released after paying a fine and cost.

He was arrested Tuesday night by the Stroudsburg Police and placed in the Monroe County Jail until last night.

Police Look For Hunter

MILFORD — State Police of the local barracks and volunteers yesterday launched a search for a deer hunter missing in the Greeley area.

Troopers identified him as Gerald Weiner, 24, of 520 N. Jordon St., Allentown. They said the search was organized about 7 p.m. after other hunters reported him missing.

Weiner was described as six feet tall, weighing 200 pounds and was wearing a yellow hunting outfit.

COLLEGE PLAY — Betty Gimbel (left) as the mother and Karen Snyder as Anne are shown during rehearsal for "The Diary of Anne Frank," which will be presented by East Stroudsburg State College Students at 8 p.m. today, tomorrow and Saturday in the college auditorium. Payroll Tax To Rise To Aid Jobless

HARRISBURG (AP)—Continued high unemployment in Pennsylvania will force a boost in Pennsylvania's payroll tax to finance jobless benefits.

A. Allen Sulcowe, executive director of the Bureau of Employment Security, said Wednesday Pennsylvania will join seven other states in raising average levies.

The present rate averages 2.96 per cent of employer payrolls covered by the unemployment compensation law. Sulcowe indicated the level next year may average 3.1 per cent.

The increase would affect about 122,000 employers. Under the state's unemployment compensation law the tax rate ranges on a sliding scale from 1.6 to 4 per cent. The tax levels are apportioned according to the degree of unemployment in an industry.

Pay Maximum

Some 78,500 employers in the steel, coal, construction, textile, cannery and other industries, presently pay the maximum rate and would not be directly affected by the boost. The estimated additional revenue will total some $15 million.

The state presently has 22 regions rated by the U.S. Labor Department as labor surplus areas. Pennsylvania's unemployment rate is one of the highest in the nation.

The money collected from the payroll tax goes into the states unemployment compensation fund. The employment security bureau indicated the fund would have a balance of $182 million at the end of 1960, including $102 million borrowed from the federal government.

$5 Million More

Jobless benefits paid out in 1960 are expected to total $258 million, compared to revenues of $253 million. However, with the higher payroll rate in effect 1961 revenue should wipe out the deficit, Sulcowe indicated. The average contribution in 1961 may be about 3.1 per cent.

Keystonians Added To 'Help' Unit

HARRISBURG (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy put more Pennsylvanians on his area redevelopment committee after the Lawrence administration complained about its original makeup, an administration spokesman said Wednesday night.

Asked about the report gained from another source, the spokesman, who refused to be identified, confirmed that the administration had interceded with Kennedy's camp to add four Pennsylvanians to the committee.

"Yes, that is true, the administration called the situation to the attention of Kennedy people and the oversight was corrected," the spokesman said, adding:

Deeply Concerned

"After all Gov. David L. Lawrence and his administration are deeply concerned about the problem of unemployment in this state and what must be done about it."

Pennsylvania's program for attracting new industry to relieve unemployment is considered one of the best in the nation. It is carried out under a state-community loan program administered by the Department of Commerce.

When Kennedy named the committee from Palm Beach Sunday, it included only one Pennsylvanian—William L. Batt Jr., secretary of labor and industry.

In the past 24 hours, however, William R. Davlin, Pennsylvania commerce secretary, and John P. Robin, chairman of the Pennsylvania State Planning Board were added. And Sen. Joseph S. Clark and Rep. Daniel Flood, both Democrats, were named to serve in an advisory capacity.

Flood and Clark teamed up with Sen. Paul Douglas, D-Ill., the committee chairman, to sponsor legislation in Congress extending federal aid to areas of chronic unemployment. The legislation was vetoed by President Eisenhower and this became a hot issue in the presidential campaign.

Was Made Aware

Asked whether the administration's discontent was brought to the attention of Kennedy personally or to a member of his staff, the administration spokesman said:

"I am certain Sen. Kennedy was made aware of it."

Bid Opening Postponed

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The opening of bids for work on the Lehigh River flood protection project at Bethlehem has been postponed.

Col. T. H. Setliffe, district engineer of the Army Engineers, said Wednesday that difficulties in obtaining such things as land, easements and rights of way caused the postponement.

The bid date had been scheduled for Thursday or thereabouts in advance notices to bidders. A new date will be set later.

The work involved includes, a levee, drainage systems and an access road.

Gertsell Urges U.S. To Strengthen CD

HARRISBURG (AP) — Pennsylvania's Civil Defense director said Wednesday "strong, positive leadership" is needed from the federal government to strengthen America's preparedness program.

Dr. Richard Gerstell of Lancaster, head of the state's CD operations since they were set up under a 1951 law, voiced hope that the incoming national administration will move quickly to revitalize the country's Civil Defense program.

He said President-elect John F. Kennedy should give the matter top priority to protect the country against the possibility of another Pearl Harbor attack such as occurred 19 years ago Wednesday.

"If Civil Defense is as important as so many people say it is, then the president should say so and in no uncertain terms," the ex-Navy and one-time U.S. Defense Department aide said in an interview.

Asked if he thought President Eisenhower hasn't provided aggressive enough leadership in the Civil Defense field, Gerstell replied:

Three Steps

Gerstell, a 50-year-old government career man and author of a book on how to survive atomic attack, said these steps should be given top priority in building a stronger CD organization:

1. Impress upon the public more fully the responsibility it has to assure survival in event of enemy attack. That would include a well-coordinated educational program urging families to prepare home shelters and emergency rations.

2. Devise the best warning system possible to guard against surprise attack, taking into consideration the challenge posed by modern weapons.

3. Get laws on the books specifying the procedures, such as rationing of food supplies.

'Hire The Handicapped' Exhibit At Local Bank

THE First-Stroudsburg National Bank will hold an exhibit of prize-winning poster art on the subject, "Hire the Handicapped," by high school students throughout Pennsylvania, H. F. Merring, president of the bank announced yesterday.

The exhibit, which will be displayed in the main banking room, will start today and last until Dec. 22.

The 25 prize-winning posters will be mounted for public review during the regular banking hours throughout the week. It includes five state-wide championship posters, as well as regional contest winners from this area.

Sponsored

Arranged through the cooperation of the bank and the Pennsylvania Bankers Association, it is sponsored by Gov. Lawrence's Committee on Employment of the Handicapped. State Secretary of Labor and Industry William L. Batt is chairman of the committee.

The bank announces that the public is invited to visit the exhibit.

Army, Air Force Seen In Dispute

HARRISBURG (AP)—The Harrisburg Evening News reported yesterday the Army and Air Force are involved in a fiscal dispute over a batch of trucks which the Air Force wants, but the Army owns.

The dispute involves 140 trucks stored at nearby New Cumberland Army General Depot, as well as some stored at other Army collection points, the News said.

The trucks — special telephone line construction vehicles — were bought by the Army in 1952 during the Korean conflict. They have been stored in preservatives ever since, but are classed in A1 condition.

When the Air Force indicated it wanted similar trucks during 1960, the Army offered 131 of them for $3,300 each. The Air Force inspected them and decided they were "like new" and are "acceptable for Air Force use."

But the Air Force balked at paying for them. Instead it contracted on April 1 for 63 new trucks at a cost of $5,800 each.

Meanwhile, the Army is stuck with the trucks.

Truck Tire Prices Reduced

AKRON (AP)—Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co. reduced prices on some of its truck tires by 7½ per cent to bring the company's published prices more in line with actual selling prices at retail outlets.

Line Material Employes Honored

EIGHT employes of Line Material Industries, East Stroudsburg, were given recognition recently for completing five to 20 years of employment with the company.

Receiving 20 year pins were Roland J. Fritz, Analomink; Norman B. Houser, 411 Willow St., East Stroudsburg; Gerald M. Lee, 76 N. Courtland St., and Harold Repsher, 426 Normal St., East Stroudsburg.

Fritz works in the galvinizing department, Houser in the press department, Lee, welding and Repsher tool room.

Completing 15 years was Lloyd E. Williams, Sciota. Williams works in the inspection department.

10-Year Vet

In November S. Lawrence Desko, 17 Myrtle St., Stroudsburg was the only employe from the East Stroudsburg plant to be awarded the 10 year service pin. He worked in maintenance.

In recognition of five years no pin was awarded but a eight by ten inch picture, of the employe, was presented for the completion. The local plant had two employes in this category. They were John S. Fish, 108 W. Broad St., East Stroudsburg; and Mrs. Natalie W. Smale, 2025 Wallace St., Stroudsburg.

Fish is a member of the shipping department, and Mrs. Smale is in the stenographic department.

Play Heads Activities At ESSC

"THE DIARY of Anne Frank," a three-act play and a basketball game are the highlights of the week at East Stroudsburg State College, Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, college president, announced last night.

The play will be presented tonight, Thursday and Friday in the college auditorium beginning at 8 p.m. The members of the cast are students of the college and are members of the dramatic club on campus.

The basketball game is tonight at 8:30 p.m. The college varsity will host the Kings College team from Wilkes-Barre. This will be the third game of the season for the local five. ESSC's record is two wins and no losses.

Next Week

Next week's activities will begin Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. with the annual Sophomore Tea sponsored by the Women's Executive Council. Also Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. will be the annual Christmas Lighting Ceremony to be held on the front campus. It will be followed by an informal dance at 7 p.m. in the gym.

"Island in The Sun" is the movie that will be shown Friday at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium.

Saturday the annual Christmas Dance will be held at 8:30 p.m. in the gym. The dance is sponsored by the Social Council.

The week will be rounded off with the annual Christmas program in the auditorium at 3 p.m. The program will be followed by Christmas Caroling at 7 p.m.

Christmas vacation will begin Tuesday, Dec. 20, after the last class of the day.

Community Concert Enjoyable

By C. R. ALL

THE SECOND concert of the 1960-61 Community Concert series at the East Stroudsburg State College auditorium Tuesday night proved to be a most enjoyable and quite different musical experience from the usual "concert."

Miss Nina Dova, quite alone, and to her own guitar accompaniment, took her audience on a musical tour of many countries. She let them hear native and characteristic folk songs performed not in a formal concert manner, but in a warm, intimate, personal experience sort of way that was most delightful.

Miss Dova had no printed program, but announced each number in turn, making such comments as would set forth the story and situation of each.

Fine Demonstration

Having recourse only to her voice and acting ability, she gave a fine demonstration of vocal ability as such, plus a great range of tone color and quality to set forth musical characterization.

Her first group consisted of songs of Spain, Italy, France, England and U.S.A., depicting the humor, sentiment and grief of love. The remainder of the program drew from many sources and types.

Perhaps the most interesting were the Latin-American numbers, wherein one often wondered show she was able to coordinate the intricate guitar rhythms with the words and melody and at the same time project the characters of the song, as in the song of the little burro, and the Brazilian voodoo song.

The audience, though somewhat smaller than usual, was very appreciative, even enthusiastic, and many favorable comments were heard.

Jersey's Interstate Rte. 80 Seen Completed By 1962

WORK on Interstate 80 at the eastern end of New Jersey is expected to be completed by 1962.

Known as the Bergen-Passaic Freeway in that area, the route will channel traffic from both the George Washington Bridge and Holland Tunnel out of New York City.

Eventually the vehicular traffic can shoot westward clear across the state to Delaware Water Gap and beyond. It will be able to continue to San Francisco without leaving the Interstate 80 route when it is completely finished.

Extention Bids

Construction of Interstate 80, known locally as The Stroudsburgs Thruway, is presently underway. Bids on two extensions of the route will be open in Harrisburg about Dec. 29.

At the moment, the part of the freeway in New Jersey being most actively worked on is the first section from Fort Lee to Hackensack. The location of the route immediately after leaving the bridge has been fixed through Englewood. Houses — among the hundreds that will obliterated by the freeway — are being carted away or wrecked, stakes have been driven through the middle of the Englewood Golf Club course. The course will remain in operation but the route will divide it.

10 Lanes Wide

The first part will be 10 lanes wide. The junction of a highway of this size with Routes 4 and 46 and various local streets and parkways has made it necessary for the approaches to the George Washington Bridge to be expanded and reorganized.

The results will be a mammoth traffic interchange.

Stroudsburg Laundry Burglarized

THE EASY Wash, self-service laundry, at the rear of 533 Main St., Stroudsburg, was robbed yesterday of more than $50, Chief of Police John B. Tretheway said last night.

The robbery was discovered by Ward Keiper, owner, yesterday at 8 a.m. when he entered the building to make collections and set the operation up for the day's business.

The only machines broken into were the change machines, police reported. They were opened by inserting some object down the coin slot unlocking the door.

Minor Damage

The damage to the coin changers was minor and they were placed back into operation by replacing several parts.

Keiper and police agreed the burglary occurred between midnight and 8 a.m. yesterday. Keiper told police that he was in the building around midnight and emptied the washing and drying machines.

None of the other vending machines were touched.

Just Between Us — —

"I'll bet you sew!" is the scoffing comment with which other people greet any mention of Sewing Club. I usually spring to its defense, pointing out the miles of knitted bandages for missions, the mountains of socks that have been darned, the advantages of having somebody available to pin up hems, and to help you decide just how short to make them.

But we've been gallivanting so much lately that my defense is getting pretty week. First to New York, and now this week to have breakfast with a former member, Sally Fansler, at Chatham, N. J., where we wore holes in our stockings, instead of mending them, trying to Christmas shop in the big shopping centers there.

I say "trying to shop" because as a country girl I never seem to be able to buy anything in a city store. I need the help of the clerks who can confirm my opinion that pink would be more becoming to Mother than blue or reassure me about shrinking and stuff.

We had a wonderful time. It is a section of beautiful homes, with foreign sports cars parked in the driveways, and women with cashmeres and hand-made shoes, and shops with $230 doll houses. But, boy, was I glad to get home, where I didn't have to keep saying "Lead me not into temptation or the sin of covetousness."

In proportion, I suppose, we have an equal number of beautiful homes, smart women, and expensive things. But because I know the people who have them, I admire but I don't begrudge. Some of them deserve them; others need them to compensate for other problems; still others share them with a loving heart.

But where I don't know the people or their problems, all I can do is envy what looks like a Never-Never Land of earthly bliss.

Miss Patricia Ann Paker
(Edward A. Heinbach)

Miss Parker Engaged To E. Heinbach

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Parker announce the engagement and coming marriage of their daughter, Patricia Ann, to Edward A. Heinbach of Cherry Hill, Nazareth.

They will be married on Jan. 14.

Miss Parker is a graduate of Stroudsburg High School and is a student at East Stroudsburg State College, and is employed by the Bell Telephone Co.

Mr. Heinbach was graduated from Allentown High School, served as a sergeant in the U. S. Marine Corps and is in his senior year at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College.

Bangor Juniors Entertain Senior Club

Bangor—Senior Woman's Club members, past presidents and past advisers were guests of the Bangor Junior Woman's Club during the meeting in the club rooms at the public library building Monday night.

Mrs. John Hamm, president, extended the welcome. The response was by Mrs. Dorothy Halliday, president of the Seniors. Past presidents and advisers were introduced and presented with gifts.

Mrs. William Miller, program chairman, was in charge of the opening exercises. Mrs. Harry Callie, secretary, and Mrs. Robert Phillips, treasurer, gave reports.

A penny auction of Christmas cookies took place under the direction of the home committee. The program also included an exchange of gifts and vocal selections by Mrs. M. J. Eways from hit shows.

Mrs. Howard McEwen, Mrs. Roland Catterall, Mrs. Kermit Pysher, Mrs. Budd Ott, Mrs. Joseph Surotchak, Mrs. Wilson Jackson, Mrs. Robert Reed, Mrs. William Weiss and Miss Marie Miller were the hostesses.

Grange Supper Saturday Night

Sterling—Community Grange 2056 will have its annual covered dish Christmas party and gift exchange on December 10 at the hall at 8:30 p.m.

This will be the only meeting for the grangers in December, since the second meeting night falls on Christmas Eve.

Mrs. Ruth Moose is master of Community.

Legion Aux. Plans Gifts For Holidays

Christmas gifts were planned at the Christmas meeting of the American Legion Aux. with Mrs. Vincent Marek presiding in the absence of the president, Mrs. Alfred Reisenwitz.

The group voted to buy a TB Bond, to donate $25 to the package gift fund for veterans in Veterans Hospitals and to send gifts to their adopted boy at the Scotland School. Anyone knowing of local veterans ill at home or in hospitals is asked to inform Mrs. Bernard Heffer, HA 1-2352.

Mrs. Victor Koch reported 178 paid members. A report was given of the Four County Council meeting in Catasauqua.

Mrs. John Becker and her committee served Christmas refreshments.

Jr. Women Study Art Of Japanese

"Icabona" is a part of every woman's life in Japan, members of the Junior Woman's Club learned at their meeting on Tuesday night at the Stroud Community Club.

Dr. Madelon Powers, who spent a year in Japan, defined "icabona" as the art of Japanese flower arrangement which is not merely a matter of decor but also of religious significance, and is closely connected with the tea ceremony. Every woman is trained in the art as part of her preparation for adulthood, Dr. Powers explained.

Dr. Powers, who is head of the art department at East Stroudsburg State College, gave the history of Japanese flower arranging, started in the fifth century by the emperor, not for the home, but for the temple.

She showed slides illustrating not only the arrangements but the gardens of Japan and of the school where she studied flower arranging.

Mrs. Richard Krueger was appointed to fill the office of recording secretary left vacant by the resignation of Mrs. Weldon Garrison, who is moving to Virginia.

Mrs. Paul Edinger announced that reservations for the Christmas Dance to be held Saturday, Dec. 17, at Pocono Manor, may be made with her, HA 1-8963 or Mrs. Stanley Willush, HA 1-5524.

Mrs. Charles Paolillo and her committee served Christmas refreshments from a tea table decorated in the holday theme.

Roaring 20's Theme Of Dance In Barrett

Barrett — A "Roaring Twenties" dance will be held by the Tri-Hi-Y girls of the Barrett branch of the YMCA on Saturday from 8 to 11 p.m. at the Barrett Y.

All boys and girls from 14 to 18 are invited to come dressed as a flapper or dashing dan. Prizes will be awarded and there will be refreshments.

Mrs. Andrew Again Heads St. Mary's Guild

Mrs. William E. Andrew was re-elected as president of St. Mary's Guild of Christ Episcopal Church at their meeting in the parish hall on Tuesday. Other officers are Miss Anne G. Reed, vice president; Mrs. Harvey T. Pullen, secretary; Mrs. Otto G. Heins, treasurer.

Mrs. Frank Sills spoke of the Advent season as a time of thought and preparation for the celebration of the birth of Christ. In tracing its history, she said that Dec. 25 was decreed by the Emperor Julian in Rome in 550 A.D., as the birthday of Christ, supplanting earlier pagan holidays on that date.

Mrs. A. Starr Phelps led the devotions. Mrs. LeRoy J. Koehler, president of the Episcopal Churchwomen, read the constitution which will be voted upon at the annual meeting in January.

Mrs. James Gavin presided at the tea table, which had been decorated with red candles and a Christmas tree. Mrs. Argus Miller, Mrs. Otto Heins and Mrs. L. H. Cross were hostesses.

Y Mothers Club

The Mothers Club of the YMCA will hold a Christmas party Tuesday night at 7:30.

Class Welcomes Mrs. Butz After Long Illness

Mrs. Violet Butz, president of the Faithful Workers Class of the United Church of Christ, was given an enthusiastic welcome by the class at the first meeting she attended since her long illness in the hospital and at home.

The class voted to give the same amount of money to the church. A nominating committee was named: Mrs. Ruth Bossard, Flossie Huffman and Martha Kresge.

A Christmas party will be held Dec. 28 when members will exchange one dollar gifts.

Also present were Miss Helen Shick, teacher, Miss Elizabeth Smith, Mrs. Esther Blatt, Mrs. Minnie Winters, Mrs. Clementine Croasdale, Mrs. Lucy Quig, Mrs. Mary Vough, Mrs. Vera Kresge, Mrs. Martha Kresge, Mrs. Ruth Bossard, Mrs. Mabel Setzer, Mrs. Jennie Hoffman, Mrs. Flossie Hoffman, Mrs. Florence Gregory, Mrs. Sarah Frailey and Mrs. Grace Frankenfield.

Parish Names Board Of Trinity

Mount Pocono — Trinity-of-the-Poconos Episcopal Church, operating on a year-round basis for the first time in its 64-year history, held a congregational meeting at Pocono Manor Inn when the executive committee was elected.

Archdeacon Dean Stevenson of the Episcopal Diocese of Bethlehem presided at the meeting with James Robinson of Frickville, now serving as lay leader, giving the invocation.

John Crandall traced the history of the little church, Gothic in its architecture even to the leaded stained glass windows, and set against a hillside surrounded by pines, laurel and rhododendron.

R. LeRoy Dengler was elected honorary warden; John M. Crandall, warden; Donald M. Brown, treasurer; Mrs. Robert W. Fairservice, secretary; Arthur M. Pettern, ways and means; Mrs. Kenneth C. Banzhof, music; E. Kenney Crothers, property; Mrs. Donald M. Brown, Christian Education and publicity; Mrs. Vincent F. Wreski, altar; Kenneth C. Banzhof, hospitality.

Mrs. John Crandall served coffee.

Beeswax Candles Made In Old Moravian Tradition

Barrett — On Monday night the ladies of the Canadensis Moravian Church attended the annual Christmas Party, held in the basement of the church. Decorations of a seasonal nature were provided by Mrs. Sadie Mikels and Mrs. Merle Marvin. The highlight of the evening was a demonstration of beeswax candle-making by three members of the Edgeboro Moravian Church in Bethlehem. After the demonstration, refreshments were served, and gifts exchanged.

Dressed in reproductions of the authentic Moravian costume, the women made several dozen of the six inch beeswax candles and attached the colored tissue paper frills at the base.

Their costumes of dove gray were laced with blue ribbons which traditionally mean that they are married members of the Church. The little white caps or "haubes" were tied in the same blue ribbon.

In the old Church, at the time Bethlehem was founded in 1741 by Count Zinzindorf, all costumes were basically the same with simplicity as the theme. But, leave it to a woman, they added the colored ribbons to brighten their quiet way of dress: red for little girls; pink for the girls who were confirmed and of marriageable age. Blue ribbons were put on the cap and laced into a girl's bodice on her wedding day. If a woman became widowed, she changed her color to white.

The women of the Edgeboro Church told of the tradition connected with the use of beeswax in the candles. Bees were supposed to have come to earth straight from Heaven; therefore, beeswax was the purest wax and the best to represent Christ. The wax of the candle symbolizes the body and the wick, the soul of the worshipper. Around the base of the candles, the tissue paper frills had at one time all been red to signify the lighting of faith in the hearts of the congregation. Now, the colors are of no particular meaning, but the frills keep hot wax from hands and clothing of the worshippers.

The candles used in the service of the Canadensis Moravian Church are made by the Edgeboro Moravian Church of Bethlehem. In a few other churches, they also continue to make their own candles.

The Wyckoff Shopper
"the friendly store"
A.B. Wyckoff
STROUDSBURG, PA.

Rod MacLeod of the Daily Record has taken the nicest informal picture of me that was ever made, I think, and perhaps the cue for having a pleasant expression in the camera's eye is to be saying something congratulatory. Mac and his camera were on the station platform the day of Wyckoff's Santa trip to Gouldsboro, and I was watching Ernie Transue, WVPO engineer, awaiting the cue to begin our broadcast. "Mrs. Kennedy just had a son," Ernie shouted, and I shouted back, "Good . . . good for Mrs. Kennedy." Just then I noticed that Mac had photographed me.

"Great Scott, Mac," I said, "don't ever do that unless you're sure my chins are tucked up and my nose isn't shiny."

Mac laughed. "Your chins were fine," he complimented—"all of them. And you were looking very happy, you had just said 'good'."

The picture is as good as the word . . . and I think the expression is much nicer than had I been saying "prunes and prisms," as photographers once told one to do.

Coming up the stairway to our busy second floor the other afternoon, I met a very attractive (and very young) man—five or so, I imagine, who demanded, "Is that leopard?"

"What?" I asked, turning back to look into the glass display cases along the stairwell.

"That thing under your arm," he said, pointing to my purse. "Is that leopard?"

"Make believe leopard," I said. "It's leopard cloth."

He smiled happily. "I just knew it," he said. "I can always tell leopard when I see it."

"So can I," I admitted, "and I love it."

He agreed that he also admires it, and that ended our chance encounter. Funny, I thought, as I hurried back to the office, the little things that people find to talk about . . . one chance word leads to a conversation, and before you know it you've found something in common with someone else. It reminds me of something else too . . . we have new leopard bags in our handbag department, where not too long ago the stock was fairly well depleted. Some are very expensive . . . some moderately priced. But if they're soft, and furry, and prettily shaded, I like 'em. As flappers and sheiks of a bygone done might have said, "That leopard is sure the cats!"

My mail brings two complimentary tickets to "The Diary of Anne Frank" to be presented by Alpha Psi Omega at East Stroudsburg State College auditorium this Thursday, Friday, and Saturday evenings at 8 o'clock. The story of Anne Frank is a poignant and beautiful one . . . a story that will never grow old, and which will always serve to bring mankind back to sharp reality when the human sense of values goes awry. My copy of the book is much thumbed and marked, and while I have seen the play twice, I look forward to seeing it again. Join the audience on one of these three nights, won't you? You'll find the experience enriching, I'm sure.

* * *

A friend of mine who has been ill for some time, telephoned to ask, "How's your Tiki charm coming along—any miracles yet?" When I told her a few things that happened on the Saturday and Sunday I wore it, she commented, "Well, it's certainly doing SOMETHING, and why should you have all the excitement? Maybe it would bring me some luck." So, I selected one and forwarded it with every hope that it will be just as charming to her as a charm can be. Miracle or no, these are very cute pendants for only 1.00.

Now a word of congratulations for a very nice and talented guy—John Meunier who was our Wyckoff program announcer for about seven years. John leaves Wednesday for Harrisburg and a new, exciting four-hour daily broadcasting job with station WCMB. If you forget the call letters, just ask yourself, Why Can't Mother Behave? It's easier that way. Good luck John!

Proposed Jointure To Be Discussed

NEWFOUNDLAND — Meeting to discuss the proposed jointure of Greene, Dreher, Sterling, Salem, Lake and South Canaan School Districts on the administrative level, the directors of the respective boards requested that a study of finances be made before further action is taken.

Paul T. Ryder, Wayne County superintendent of schools, together with Edgar Jenkins, Lake Township supervising principal, and Leland Cramer, Southern Wayne Joint School supervising principal, were named to complete the study.

As soon as financial data is prepared by the three-man committee, a second meeting of the six boards will be held at Hamlin School, where the recent session took place.

Arthur Goerlitz, of the Salem board, was chiarman of the meeting. John Benedetto, of the Lake family, acted as recorder. A general discussion on the characteristics of joint and union districts was held. Directors asked questions of a panel of educators including Ryder, Jenkins and Cramer.

The meeting at Hamlin was the first since 1954, when the State proposed the formation of Administrative Unit A in Wayne County.

At the close of the meeting, which was attended by a large number of directors of the six districts, refreshments were served by the host school.

Daughter, Mother Beaten

POTTSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — The wife and daughter of coal operator Peter Laychock Sr. told state police Wednesday two men beat them in their home at Primrose, five miles northwest of here.

The men entered the kitchen through an unlocked door and one stuck a gun in the ribs of Laychock's daughter, Mrs. Frank Ricigliano, then forced her and her mother into an adjoining room, state police said.

The women said the man with the pistol went into the basement to look for loot and they began struggling with the other man. He called for help and his accomplice hit the women over their heads, police were told. The men then fled empty handed.

Mrs. Laychock and Mrs. Ricigliano were treated at Good Samaritan Hospital. Laychock and his sons operate the Live Oak Coal Co.

10 Young Men Of Area Enlist In Regular Army

SGT. Donald K. Smith, local Army recruiter, announced yesterday that 10 young men from this area recently enlisted in the Regular Army. Nine of the 10 had no prior military training. The one exception was Mark E. Burch Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark E. Burch Sr. of Ransberry Ave., East Stroudsburg. Mark was a member of the local National Guard and had just completed his six months active duty training two weeks before he enlisted for a three year period.

The other enlistees were Irvin B. Huss, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Huss of Milford. He enlisted under the Army's Guaranteed Schooling Program and upon completion of his basic training and a leave at home he will be assigned to Fort Mommouth, N.J. where he will attend a 30-week course in microwave radio equipment repair. He graduated last year from Delaware Valley Joint High School, Milford.

Richard A. Keiper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Keiper, Bushkill also enlisted under the schooling program and is scheduled to attend a school in cryptography at Fort Gordon, Georgia. He graduated from the East Stroudsburg High.

The next six young men all enlisted under the Army's Career Field Program. Under this program a young man receives either schooling or on-the-job training in the field of his choice.

They were Frank Ross Jr. son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ross, RD No. 1, Gouldsboro, who will serve in the aircraft maintenance field; Richard Meisse, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Meisse, Sciota, chose to serve in the motor transport field; John Gwynne, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Nelson Gwynne of RD No. 1 Gouldsboro, will be trained as a heavy equipment mechanic, also Monta Strong Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Monta Strong, Mt. Pocono, selected the field of telephone outside plant maintenance; Donald Marvin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Marvin, Smith St., East Stroudsburg will serve in the utilities field; Daryl Heeter, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Lafayette Fetherman, Main St., Stroudsburg, entered the automotive maintenance field; and Ronald Howley, son of Mrs. Helen Bentzoni, Sciota. He enlisted in the Regular Army.

Dear Abby

Voice Of Experience

Dear Abby: Having lived through the same thing, I would have advised "Troubled Parents" to encourage their daughter to divorce her husband as soon as she found out he was a mental case.

My husband and I have been married for 16 years, and I wouldn't wish my life on a dog. He is mean to me and the children, and no one can say anything because he is "mentally ill." He is well enough to enjoy his own pleasures (golf, swimming, cards and TV), but not to support a family. He's been in and out of mental hospitals for years.

Be sensible, Abby, and tell this young wife to leave him while she's still able to make a better life for herself.

BEEN THROUGH IT

Dear Been: And if your husband had been stricken with cancer, would you have left him? Victims of mental illness are just as helpless and blameless.

Dear Abby: My sister-in-law has asked me to be a bridesmaid at her wedding. I am married. Is it proper for a married woman to be a bridesmaid?

WONDERING

Dear Qondering: It is proper.

Dear Abby: I just telephoned the beauty shop in my neighborhood and asked if anyone could set my hair next Saturday. I was told that no one in the shop would take me because I was "too hard to please." This was an uncalled for insult as I have been more than patient with that whole crew of numbskulls who call themselves hair dressers. The only reason I would consider putting up with them is because it is the only beauty shop for miles around.

Do they have a right to do this? According to law, I mean.

READY TO SUE

Dear Ready: A lawyer could tell you what your rights are in this matter. If all the operators at that shop refuse to accommodate you, you must have done a fine job of getting into their hair. Better find another shop if you want someone to get into yours.

Confidential To "A:" Just because a man falls in love with a dimple is no reason he has to marry the whole girl.

Phila. Demos Spent $417,333

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Philadelphia Democratic Committee says it took in $470,485.94 and had operating costs of $417,333.88 during the presidential election campaign.

This was reported Wednesday in a statement filed with the secretary of the commonwealth at Harrisburg and the clerk of the House of Representatives in Washington.

President-elect John F. Kennedy carried Philadelphia by 331,000—about 200,000 more than he got in the entire state.

Application For U. S. Aid

HARRISBURG (AP)—An application for federal aid for flood control in Susquehanna County's 55,680-acre Drinker Creek watershed was filed Wednesday with the State Soil Conservation Commission.

The application was filed by county commissioners and the county conservation district. The creek is a tributary of the Susquehanna River.

Federal law requires the state agency to review all such applications before transmitting them to the U.S. Agriculture Department's Soil Conservation Service.

Ceremony, Prayer Marks 19th Pearl Harbor Day

PEARL HARBOR (AP) — A ceremony of prayer and salute Wednesday marked the 19th anniversary of Pearl Harbor Day, the attack that catapulted the United States into World War II.

A small group stood atop the barnacled hulk of the battleship Arizona to pay silent tribute to the men who died in the Japanese surprise assault.

Among them were Dean Jackson of Glenwood, Iowa, and Edward N. Gosselin of Joliet, Ill., fathers of two of the 1,102 officers and men entombed in the rusting Arizona since it went down Dec. 7, 1941.

Catholic, Jewish and Protestant chaplains offered short prayers.

Lt. O. C. Weller of Seattle, a naval reserve officer who was on the Arizona when it was torpedoed and bombed, placed one of several wreaths laid on the grey concrete foundation for the Arizona's projected permanent memorial.

A Marine Corps honor guard volleyed a rifle salute that echoed back from the hills rising up from the harbor. A bugler sounded the clear, sweet notes of taps and the ceremony ended.

Among the group standing on the small wooden platform built over the Arizona's hulk were Vice Adm. Herbert D. Riley, the Pacific commander's chief of staff; Lt. Gov. James Kealoha of Hawaii, Rep. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, and Rear Adm. Roy S. Benson, Pacific submarine force commander.

"My son would have been 39 now," said Jackson, the Iowa father. "His name was Robert. He was a yeoman."

Gosselin, the Illinois father, said, "Our son, Ed, was 24 when we lost him. We'd sent him to Yale and he had worked for a steel company for a little while."

Adm. Benson said: "The ultimate completion of the USS Arizona memorial will be a constant reminder of the heroic deeds performed by our armed forces on Dec. 7, 1941. I believe most of us now feel that we were not attacked by the Japanese people but by forces under control of the so-called warlords. Our naval personnel who have had tours of duty in Japan since World War II have been impressed by the friendliness, cheerfulness and warmth of the Japanese people."

Los Angeles Gets Major League Team Next Year

By Jack Hand
Associated Press
Sports Writer

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Los Angeles finally became the 10th club of the American League for the 1961 baseball season Wednesday when the two majors amended their territorial rules.

Commissioner Ford Frick did not have to cast a decisive vote at the joint meeting. The two leagues took him off the hot spot by getting together on an amendment that opened the way for the American to go into Los Angeles in 1961 and the National League to return to New York in 1962.

The new Los Angeles club, to be known as the Angels, will play its home games at Wrigley Field, the old Pacific Coast League park in Los Angeles which seats about 21,500. There are plans to expand it to 25,000 before the start of the season.

Lease Chavez

As part of the compromise with Walter O'Malley, owner of the Los Angeles Dodgers of the National League, the club will move into his new park at Chavez Ravine in 1962 with a 4-year lease and an option to renew for three more years. No rental figures were announced, but reports put the annual figure at a minimum of $200,000 in a sliding scale based on attendance.

The amendment also set up an indemnity scale to be paid by invading clubs. The Dodgers will receive about $225,000, while the New York Yankees will get $100,000 when the National moves into New York.

The amendment provides for a flat $100,000 payment, plus 50 per cent of the original cost of clearing the territory. O'Malley paid the Pacific Coast League $250,000 when his Dodgers moved into that minor league's territory. There was no such clearance problem when New York entered the majors.

Bob Reynolds, former Stanford football star, and Gene Autry, singing cowboy, head the new group that will operate the Angels. Reynolds said he will name a manager in a few days. He has talked once with Casey Stengel, ex-Yankee manager, but old Case made no commitment.

Pool Arrangement

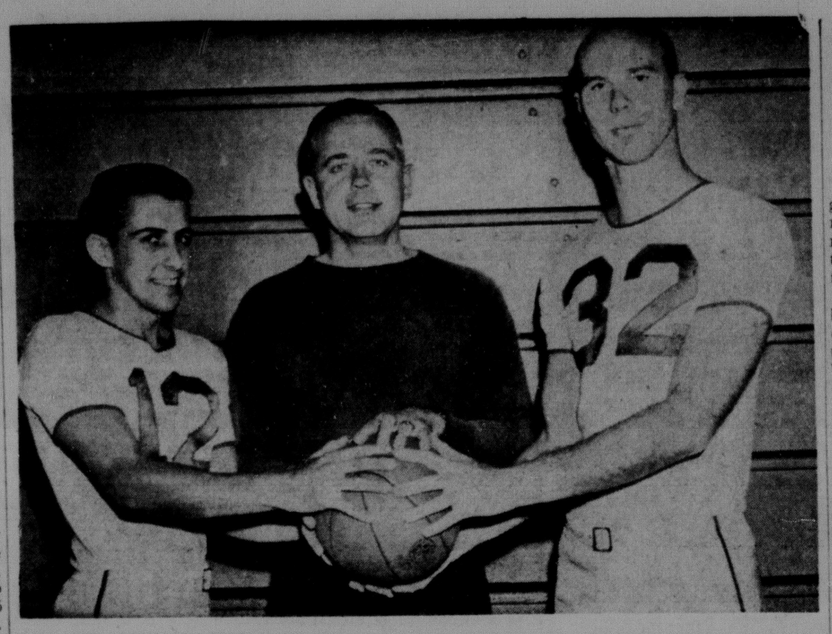
Both the Los Angeles team and the new Washington club will select players from the American League's 120-man talent pool at a meeting in Boston Dec. 13. Each must take 28 men at $75,000 each.

The player pool was set up a few weeks ago with each club listing 15 available men, seven of whom must have been on the big league roster last Aug. 31. No club can lose more than seven.

The old Rule 1 that stirred up all the fuss required unanimous permission for one league to move into a city that already was a member of the other major league.

The new version requires only a three-fourths vote for a move into another league's territory, but will not permit a new club to play in a park located within 5 miles of the other club's park. Wrigley Field is within 5 miles of the Los Angeles Coliseum, the Dodgers' makeshift ballyard, but O'Malley waived the rule for 1961.

The New York Yankees also waived the rule for 1962, enabling the Nationals New York team to play either in the Polo Grounds or Yankee Stadium.



THREE SEEK THIRD—East Stroudsburg State College basketball coach Dick Luce and his two co-captains Tony Salerno (left) and Ken Hendricks, will be after the Warriors third win in a row tonight when King's College comes to Normal Hill. Salerno, a senior from Old Forge, was the Warriors' second leading scorer last season and Hendricks, a junior from Perkasie, was the number two rebounder.

Art Wall Out With Leg Injury

HONESDALE — Professional golfer Art Wall, pulled a leg muscle Monday in a practice round in Miami and is leaving the Professional Golfer's Assn. tour for three weeks.

Wall's wife, Jean, said her husband is coming home Thursday and will not rejoin the tour until early January in California. Wall is a native of Honesdale.

In the spring Wall missed nine weeks of the tour with a kidney infection and water on the knee. He spent two weeks in a Scranton hospital.

Even with the long layoff, Wall has won more than $30,000 this year. He won the Canadian Open a month after he returned from his illness.

Finished Third

In his latest tournament appearance, Wall finished third in the West Palm Beach Open, won by Johnny Pott.

Wall was practicing for the Coral Gables Open, the last official PGA tournament of the year, when he pulled the leg muscle. The Coral Gables event is a $20,000 affair.

He will also miss the Sebring, Fla., Open, a two-day tournament not an official PGA tournament.

Wall represents Pocono Manor on the tour.

Kearns Seeks Union Tie-Up For Prize Fight Industry

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Veteran boxing manager Jack Kearns testified Wednesday he is negotiating with the Teamsters Union on organizaing the entire prize fight industry.

Kearns told Senate probers his most recent negotiations with the Teamsters took place within the past two weeks.

He said he is dickering also with the AFL-CIO through its president, George Meany.

The AFL-CIO has expelled the Teamsters on the basis of findings in another Senate investigation that some top Teamsters officials have been allied with gangsters.

The 79-year-old Kearns gave his testimony before the Senate Antimonopoly subcommittee. It is investigating underworld influence in professional boxing and is trying to decide whether the sport should be federally regulated.

Federal Help Needed

Carmen Basilio, former middleweight champion, testified prior to Kearns and appealed for federal laws to drive out the hoodlums.

Kearns said the sport can be cleaned up "if the federal government will give it backing."

He was one of the organizers of the old International Boxing Managers Guild, which he said "drifted out of existence" after a district attorney's investigation of its New York chapter.

Kearns was questioned about $137,000 he reportedly received since 1953 from firms headed by James D. Norris, former president of the International Boxing Clubs. The clubs have been dissolved by the courts on grounds they exercised a monopoly over boxing.

Kearns said he recalls no details about the payments, but that he knows of no basis for testimony by a Norris associate that he was paid, among other reasons, to assure a free flow of fighters for IBC promotions.

Basilio spoke in contemptuous phrases of Frankie Carbo, Frank (Blinky) Palermo and Gabe Genovese, all rackets figures who have been mentioned as powers in the fight business.

"These guys were making money they weren't earning and don't deserve," Basilio said.

Earlier, it was disclosed that former fight manager Herman (Hymie the Mink) Wallman told a New York grand jury more than two years ago that Carbo "acted as the whole boss" over lightweight champ Joe Brown.

Bednarik To Speak To TD Club

CHUCK Bednarik, one of the Philadelphia Eagles all-time great football stars, will be the speaker at the Pocono Touchdown Club's "Night of Football," Monday at 8 at the Elks Club.

Bednarik, the only Ivy League graduate in the National Football League, played on both offense and defense this year in several of the Eagles key games.

He played only on defense in the opening half in the Eagles first game with the Giants but in the second half was used as the offensive center and his blocking was mainly responsible for the Eagles comeback win.

Penn Graduates

A University of Pennsylvania graduate, Bednarik has been in the NFL for 12 years.

The program will also include several hours of football movies. Some of the films that will be shown are the Inter-Borough game in color, the 1960 Football Coaches All-American team and several college films.

The event is free of charge to members but there will be a small charge for guests.

Several prizes, including tickets to the Harlem Komedy Kids basketball game, will be awarded.

The five are high school football coaches and the East Stroudsburg State College coaching staff will be present.

Bears Lose First Hoop Game, 74-58

PLEASANT Valley High School dropped the first basketball game in the school's history Tuesday, a 74-58 loss to Pius X—but it was the first game for the new school at Brodheadsville.

Pius' Al ReRenzis set a new school scoring mark with 27 points. The old mark of 23 was set two years ago by Dave Fusakio.

Bill Borger's 17 points were high for the Pleasant Valley Bears. Pius won the JV game, 35-29.

Braves Land Frank Bolling From Tigers

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Milwaukee landed second baseman Frank Bolling and Detroit acquired center fielder Billy Bruton Wednesday in a major interleague deal involving six players.

To get the second baseman they have been chasing for over a year, the Braves gave up Bruton, second baseman Chuck Cottier, catcher Dick Brown and rookie relief pitcher Terry Fox. In addition to Bolling, Milwaukee will get an "acceptable minor league player" to be designated before March 1.

"We've been working since the 1959 World Series to get Bolling," said John McHale, Milwaukee general manager who formerly held the same job at Detroit. "When I was with Detroit I thought Bolling was as valuable as Harvey Kuenn or Al Kaline.

Fine Hustler

He is a high class, first division type player, a fine hustler and excellent team man."

This was the second major swap since the interleague trading period, which extends to Dec. 15, began on Nov. 21. Last Saturday, the San Francisco Giants traded left-hander Johnny Antonelli and outfielder Willie Kirkland to Cleveland for Kuenn, an infielder-outfielder and former American League batting champion.

The Braves also acquired another second baseman, Billy Martin, from Cincinnati in a $40,000 purchase Saturday. Martin now figures for utility work, apparently.

ESSC Faces Kings Tonight

EAST Stroudsburg State College, winner of two straight basketball games, faces King's College of Wilkes-Barre tonight at 8:30 at Normal Hill.

It is the opening game for the Kingsmen, who have built their team around 6-3, 212-pound Mike Kwak, an Eastern Collegiate Athletic Conference first team selection last year.

The former all-stater from Nanticoke, average 24 points a game last year, and also collected almost 15 rebounds a game.

Kwak was picked on the All-State College first team by the Associated Press last year.

East Stroudsburg has averaged 83.5 points in two outings this season. The Warriors rolled over Paterson 83-52 and edged Montclair Tuesday 84-80 on the loser's floor.

Hopewell Leads

Russ Hopewell, who carried a 21.9 average over from last season, has hit for 23 and 22 points in the Warriors two games, to bring his three year scoring total to 756.

Tony Salerno trails Hopewell in scoring this season. The senior backcourter from Old Forge has 36 points in two games. Salerno was second to Hopewell in scoring last season.

Ed Becker and Joe Habakus are next in line in scoring this season with nine-point averages.

The Warriors faced Kings twice last season. East Stroudsburg lost the first game 93-81 and won the second 80-79.

A junior varsity pre-lim will begin at 6:30.

Tonight's game is the last home game for East Stroudsburg until January 7. Saturday the Warriors are at Trenton and on Wednesday go to Scranton University. The following Saturday East Stroudsburg closes its pre-Christmas activiy at Kuttztown.

Saylors Lake To Be Stocked

SAYLORS Lake will be stocked today with a large shipment of bass, bluegills, cat fish, pearch and rock fish.

The Lake's fishing assn. had 1,500 members last year the group's news letter reports. It will be maled to members shortly.

There will be no fishing in the lake until April 15.

Sooners Stay In Big Eight

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Disregarding differences with the Big Eight conference, the University of Oklahoma Tuesday voted to stay with the loop and not go independent.

Regents approved such a report from the Athletic Council which said it had studied independent schools before making its recommendation.

Oklahoma has been on probation because an alumni group operated an athletic recruiting fund that allegedly violated conference rules concerning giving financial assistance to such students.

Name Is Changed

6 Team Pocono Basketball League Opens With Full Card Tomorrow

THE POCONO Mountain Scholastic League, formerly called the Monroe County League, opens its basketball season Friday night.

Pocono Lake, the defending champion, plays at Delaware Valley; Barrett travels to Tobyhanna to play Coolbaugh; and Pocono Township is at home against Pleasant Valley in opening games.

Joining Barrett, Pocono, Pocono Lake, and Coolbaugh this year to form a six team league, are two new league members, Delaware Valley and Pleasant Valley.

Because Delaware Valley is located outside of Monroe County, the league officials decided to change the name of the league from Monroe County to Pocono Mountain Scholastic.

Delaware Valley plays its home games in a new gym, which is considerably larger than any of the four courts within the Pocono Mountain Jointure.

Pleasant Valley, the other new league member, is the result of the consolidation of Chestnuthill and Polk. This new entry will also play its home games on a new court.

New Members

These two new members plus the four formidable teams which are members of the Pocono Mountain Jointure, present a balanced league.

Although John Bush, the Pocono Lake coach, bemoans the losses of Frank Altemose, John Weirich and John Franks, he is somewhat appeased by the return from last year's varsity of Ralph Dunlap and Ed Luck. Also, Coach Bush will receive help from last year's strong junior varsity.

Barrett, which looked impressive in beating Southern Wayne 77-64, is a definite challenger to Pocono Lake's two year domination of the league. Barrett is strengthened by the return of Norb Ryan, John Ryan, A. J. Bittner, Jerry Enders and Tom Young from last year's varsity. Coach Al Shollenberger, however, does lament the losses of John Wilson and Bill Friday, big men under the boards.

At Coolbaugh coach Sam Everitt has been trying to replace Charles Tompkey, Ralph Kuhlow, and John Wright, losses for which Everitt definitely laments. The return of Glenn Dailey and Larry Stiff, varsity performers from last year, and George Watson, however, help to make Coolbaugh a possible title threat.

Harry Vishnesky Replacment

At Pocono, coach Werkheiser has a definite problem in replacing Phil Vishnesky, a top performer for two seasons, Allan Stand and Bob Bullock. Two holdovers from last year's varsity, Bob Werkheiser and Peter Ask, are the experienced players around which coach Werkheiser has to build.

Bill Frear, coach, of the Pleasant Valley team, is happy about the return of Jim Fritz, a fine scorer. Also, from last year's Polk team Frear certainly welcomes Bill Borger. On the other hand, the losses of Gary Eckman and Brian Fenner give Coach Frear something to worry about.

At Delaware Valley coach John Hamor has a young team that could cause trouble.

Gym Work Slowed

PLEASANT Valley will not play any more home games until January. The finish on the gymnasium floor did not pass a final inspection and has to be refinished.

Large ESSC Group To Attend Convention

EAST STROUDSBURG State College will be well represented at the Pennsylvania State Assn. for Health, Physical Education and Recreation (PSAHPER) convention in Philadelphia today through Saturday.

East Stroudsburg will have 11 teachers and some 40 students at the affair. John Eiler, East Stroudsburg athletic director, is the president of PSAHPER, with Anne Venezia, girls basketball coach, the chairman of the credentials committee and Dick Luce, is the chairman of the evaluation and appraisal committee.

Miss Genevieve Zimbar of East Stroudsburg has been nominated for the president-elect office of the group and Dr. Frank Sills is a candidate for the vice-president for physical education.

The Rev. Bob Richards, former Olympic pole vault champion, will address the convention Saturday.

The John Heard, who led the Bangor junior varsity basketball team in scoring against Stroud Union Tuesday night, is the son of John Heard, Sr. former Bangor basketball coach, who is now with the Dean's Office at Rider College.

Ted Williams Starting for Michigan State

Ted Williams, former Stroud Union basketball player, has been in double figures in both of Michigan State University's two basketball games this season. Ted is a starter for the Spartans.

And Ted's younger brother Todd, is working out with the State freshman team but has had to take it easy because of a back operation last year.

Ray Carazo, who starred at Palmerton High School last year, scored 28 points for the University of Pennsylvania freshman basketball team in its 99-88 win over the Navy Plebes Saturday at Annapolis.

Three Warriors On Lock Haven Opponent Team

Two East Stroudsburg State College soccer players have been named to the Lock Haven State College all-opponent team and a third has been named to the honorable team.

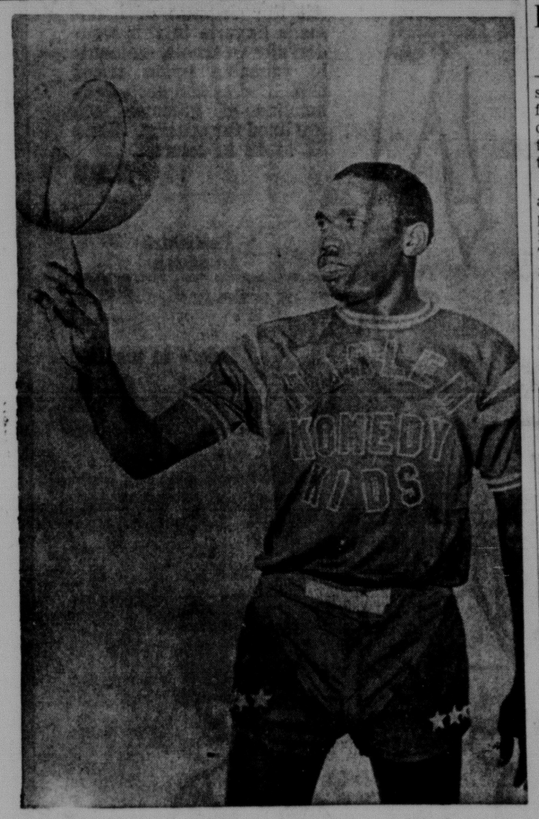
Ernie Howe and Harry Shirk were picked on the first team and Jim Maiale was put on the honorable mention team.

East Stroudsburg blanked Lock Haven 3-0 to snap a six-game Bald Eagle win streak.

One of the better quips to come out of the past football season, came from Tom Nugent, University of Maryland coach.

After the Terrapins upset Clemson for the second year in a row, Frank Howard, Clemson coach, accused Nugent of using "high school plays."

"When we play high school teams," Nugent replied, "we use high school plays."



SUPER SPINNER—Bozo (The Clown) Walker, who will appear with the Harlem Komedy Kids, when they meet the Pocono All-Star Coaches, Wednesday at East Stroudsburg State College, is capable of spinning a basketball on his finger for more than 30 seconds. Bozo played with the Broadway Clowns before he switched to the Komedy Kids.

DeSanto's 647 Heads List On Classic

ANGELO DeSANTO of Mt. Pocono, qualified for the "840 Classic" bowling tournament Sunday with a 647.

The three other bowlers on this week's show will be Bob Schultz, who posted a 646 match, Ken Metzgar, Swiftwater, 632 and Pete Casella, Tannersville, 624

Any bowler who posted a match score higher than any of the four qualifiers but has not won a Classic match this year, should contact Ernie Transue at HAmilton 1-2100 before 5 p.m. Thursday.

The winner of Sunday's match will be the first bowler in the third semi-final match to be bowled on March 5.

The "840 Classic" is broadcast on WVPO at 1 p.m.

Strong Warrior Mat Squad Opens Slate Today At Home

EAST STROUDSBURG State College opens its 12-match wrestling season at 4 p.m. today against Lincoln University at Normal Hill.

Practice sessions and a scrimmage against Moravian indicate that this year's squad may be one of coach Jim Reid's strongest.

The squad had been strengthened by Charlie Dentith, the 1955 State College 147-pound champion. Dentith joined the Navy following the '55 season and returned to East Stroudsburg last year. He was ineligible last season.

One Freshman

Jan Beliveau, a freshman from Rockaway, N. J., who had a 21-0 record in high school, will wrestle in the heavyweight class. Beliveau, who also plays on the Warrior football team, is the cousin of Jean Beliveau, hockey star of the Montreal Canadians. Beliveau is the only freshman who will perform today.

Ken Nickischer, a junior from Northampton, who had a 7-1 mark last season will wrestle at 123 pounds, while Stan Woods, a 2-3 performer last season, will go at 127.

Allentown's Don Schleicher, is the 137 pound choice with Dentith, working at 147.

Hugh Lawrence, 157, Pat Rock, 167, John Topfer, 177 and Beliveau complete the Warrior lineup.

Rock and Schleicher are the only seniors on the team.

Nittany Lions Drill Defense

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP) — Penn State's football team sharpened its defensive formations for Oregon's speedy backs Tuesday in preparation for its Liberty Bowl date with the West Coast team in Philadelphia, Dec. 17.

Nittany Lion Coach Rip Engle also tried out some offensive plays against Oregon-style defense in the sort practice session. The Penn State third unit took the role of Oregon in the drill.

Engle plans a heavy work schedule Wednesday. He has scheduled alternate light and heavy sessions six days a week in the pre-bowl practice.

Thompson, Paret Welter Title Bout On Saturday

FEDERICO Thompson of Argentina by way of Panama will meet Cuba's Benny (Kid) Paret Saturday night in the first world welterweight boxing championship bout at Madison Square Garden since 1951.

The 15-round bout, to be televised, comes almost a year to the day after Thompson vaulted into prominence by knocking out Don Jordan of Los Angeles in the fourth round of a nontitle scrap in Buenos Aires.

Thompson's left hook undid Jordan, but the odds are pick-em in his meeting with the fancy boxer, Paret. The Cuban is making the first defense of the title he took from Jordan last May 27.

This won't be the first meeting between Paret and Thompson, who battled to a 12-round draw last March 25 at the Garden in the first U.S. appearance for the South American.

It was Kid Gavilan, another Cuban, who fought in the last welter title go at the Garden, Aug. 9, 1951. The Keed scored a much-disputed decision over Billy Graham.

Thompson, 33, is 10 years older than Paret. The South American is undefeated in his last 32 bouts, and boasts a 100-7-9 record with 53 knockouts. Paret's record is 32-7-3 and since ne beat Jordan for the title the Cuban stopped Sugar Hart in six rounds and lost to Denny Moyer on points—both nontitle affairs.

The Argentine boxer has won four in a row since his Paret draw in March.

Strawberry One Of Few Garden Fruits Mulched

By George Abraham

THE strawberry is one of the few garden fruits which is mulched or covered with straw. The purpose of a mulch on strawberries is to reduce heaving of plants by preventing alternate freezing and thawing. It also protects the crowns from low temperatures and drying injury by wind.

A mulch also delays blooming, thereby giving some protection from late spring frost. It also helps conserve moisture during dry seasons, thus increases fruit size. And a mulch also keeps the berries off wet soil, giving you cleaner fruit and less rot.

Strawberries are often mulched too soon, a big mistake gardeners make. Strawberry plants will stand soil temperatures as low as 18 degs. F. before suffering. Usually after December is about right time. Materials used for mulching include marsh grass, wheat, oat or barley straw, and pine needles.

One of Best

Clean wheat straw is one of the best materials, even better than oat straw, because when wet it doesn't pack. Wheat straw keeps its round shape, stays fluffy and provides good insulation. Hay mats too close and may not provide insulation. Shredded corn stalks and wood shavings are satisfactory, if you can get them.

The mulch should be applied about 2 inches thick, or roughly at the rate of 5 to 7 lbs. per 100 sq. ft. Two inches of settled mulch will be ample protection against low temperatures. Spread the mulching material over both the middle and the plant row, so that the plants are slightly visible beneath the mulch. If you're in doubt as to how much to use, figure on about one 60 lb. bale of straw for each 100 sq. ft. of area. Apply the mulch after the plants are dormant.

Winter Roses

A reader writes: "Here's how I protect my roses. First, I loosen the soil well around each bush, then apply several inches of peatmoss. Then I mound earth up over the crowns of each bush, about 6 to 8 inches high. The tops are cut back to about 30 inches and tied together. I'm trying out one of the plastic sprays to see if it will protect the canes from winterkilling." Green Thumb note: friends, please pass along your tips on Wintering Roses. Do you hill yours or just let nature take its course? Send us your tips so we can pass them along.

Pronounciation

How do you pronounce "Gypsophila"? This handsome annual or perennial is pronounced "jip-sof-fill-a" and is ideal for a filler in bouquets, or for billowy patches in the border or flower bed. Called Baby's breath by florists, it's well worth a try in anyone's garden, so when you scan through the catalogs better order some Gypsophila.

The regular hardy "Gyp" with white flowers is G. paniculata and you can buy a ¼ oz. of the seed for about $1.50, enough for all the people in your neighborhood. Double grafted varieties such as Bristol Fairy are not available from seed. Seed for double hardy gypsophila will produce about 50% double flowering plants.

Question Box

D. E. of Stroudsburg: "I wish you'd tell me if rubbish from the garden should be cut off and put on the compost pile or burned. One gardener told me to wait until spring and clean up the annual and perennial beds as the old stalks help hold a snow mulch. Is that true?"

We used to think that spring was the best clean-up time, but now most gardners are convinced that fall is a better time. A good cleaning up in fall will break the disease cycle in your garden since many insects and disease spores winter over in the trash.

Most diseases which attack flowers, fruits and vegetables live over-winter in the old plants, so if you remove the old plant material you also remove the source of disease and insects.

There are some diseased plants which should not get on the compost, and one of these includes peony tops from plants having botrytis, the villain which shrivels blossoms and buds. Refuse from cabbage and other crucifers (cabbage family members) should not be used if clubroot was present, or cornstalks if corn borers or corn smut were in the garden. If a compost pile is allowed to stand for two seasons with occasional forking over, it's doubtful if diseases and insects will persist in the pile anymore than they do in the garden where plants have been grown for a number of years.

Chemical action will kill disease organisms if the heat goes up to 140 degs. or so in the pile, and it takes a compost heap 4 foot thick to get heat this high. Compost soil cannot burn or injure plants and it's one of the best forms in which to supply plant foods and humus, even to small or delicate plants. Every gardener should have a compost, and a fall cleanup is a good way to start one.

H. G. of Scotrun: "I have a foundation planting of Yews, Junipers and rhododendrons mixed with Pieris. The evergreens are doing fine, but the other broadleaf plants are not. Their leaves turn brown and seem to dry up. Please tell me why this is."

Broadleaved plants such as rhododendron and the Pieris are more exacting than narrowleaved evergreens such as Yews and Junipers. In the first place, they are shallow rooted, needing a mulch or peat or oakleaves. They also prefer an acid as well as a humusy soil and more water.

Leaf scorch, due to hot drying winds or low soil moisture is quite common on these plants.

Acidify your soil with ammonium sulfate or aluminum sulfate, and incorporate a lot of peat into the soil along with a mulch to keep the roots moist and cool.

What Young People Think

Teaching Is No. 1 Career Choice For Teen Boys As Well As Girls

By Eugene Gilbert
President, Gilbert Youth Research Co.

RICH MAN, poor man, beggar man, thief, doctor, lawyer, Indian Chief . . . What are YOU going to be, when YOU grow up? How many times have YOU thought about YOUR future, in terms of a career? Perhaps you would be interested in knowing what other teeners in our country are planning.

The Space Age, apparently, has not as yet greatly influenced the plans of today's teen-agers, since the largest number, 17 per cent, of the 993 questioned, are planning to be teachers. This goes for a fifth of the girls and a tenth of the boys.

Anita Laser, 18, of Glen Oaks, N. Y., speaks for the would-be educators in saying, "I would like to be instrumental in the molding of lives."

The young people feel it is more important to be well rounded in their school experiences than to be at the very top scholastically.

Girls Want Careers

We also found the teen-agers feel extracurricular activities in college are important. And a majority of young people are willing to combine work with their classroom study.

Boys and girls split on whether girls should have a career before marriage, with 76 per cent of the girls saying yes compared with 52 per cent of the boys. Seventy-four per cent agree that a woman with a career can assist her husband after marriage.

In career choices, we found that nursing was in second place for girls. Margaret Perreault, 17, of Danielson, Conn., explains, "It is widely needed and I can always fall back on it."

Second choice for the boys and third for the girls is a business career.

Science, medicine, engineering and accounting were all tied for the boys as third.

Forty-three per cent said that other members of their family were already in the careers they has chosen.

In Dad's Footsteps

A fourth of the boys, intend to follow in their dads footsteps, and 14 per cent of the girls in their mothers'. Aunts and uncles are the next most common influences in shaping the career of the teener.

Many admitted that working for their relatives had given them much of the background and confidence necessary to pursue their desired careers.

Seventy-six per cent of tomorrow's breadwinners plan to get a college education, 13 per cent hope to go on to graduate school, 8 per cent expect to get their training by working, and 10 per cent plan to go to a trade school.

Two thirds think that to be successful in a career, a person needs a good liberal arts background.

"You should strive for the highest education posible," says Marcia Waynen, 16, of Hingham, Mass. "Without that you are merely a vegetable and just existing."

Only 18 per cent believe that a person should concentrate on his one particular subject to be successful.

Straight A's Discounted

Richard Hopp-Wazhuz, 17, of Woodmere, L. I. asks, "Why should a person study music, if you're a creep," says Judy Trainer, 16, of Medina, Ohio.

"Straight A's won't help if he wants to be an engineer?"

When it comes to extra-curricular activities in college, 55 per cent of the teen-agers consider them important and 24 per cent feel they are very important. Only four per cent feel they are not important.

"You need to study, but you need to grow in understanding of others, leadership and other things, too," says Pam Snedecor, 17, of San Gabriel, Calif.

Several colleges in this country alternate classroom learning with actual on-the-job experience in the desired field of study. We found 82 per cent of the teeners feel that such a college offers more advantages over the normal four year college curriculum. Ten per cent, however, disagree and 5 per cent feel it depends upon the career.

Sixty-nine per cent would like to attend such a college, but 24 per cent would not.

Judi Frappier, 15, of Waterbury, Conn., feels, "You will be more sure of yourself, when you do get out of college, and actually start working."

In discussing careers for married women, extra money appears to be the biggest asset involved.

But Mary B. Bannick, 16, of Chicago, suggests, "She may have some ideas to help him. If not, she will understand what he is talking about, anyway."

Eileen Keegan, 16, of Andover, Mass., says, "She can offer cultural and intelligent conversations at home."

NE Bank Declares Dividend

AT THEIR regular meeting Dec. 6, 1960, directors of the Northeastern Pennsylvania National Bank and Trust Company declared a special dividend of 50 cents a share, payable Dec. 21, to shareholders of record Dec. 9, 1960.

The additional dividend, announced by Frank E. Hemelright, president, will bring the payments for 1960 to $2.50 per share.

State Lists Use Of Fire Monies

HARRISBURG (AP) The Auditor General's Department yesterday said state money paid to fire companies can only be used as death, pension or disability benefits for members of the groups' relief associations.

The department said all expenditures made by the Firemen's Relief Association must be for the benefit of active firemen.

The fire insurance tax fund makes payments to the various fire companies from proceeds of the two per cent tax on premiums written in Pennsylvania by out-of-state fire insurance companies.

"The associations can do most anything they want to on their own — as long as they keep it separate from the state money," said Deputy Aud. Gen. Martin Brackbill.

Because there are so many volunteer fire companies in the state, he said, the fund was primarily set up to protect firemen and their families in case of death or injury in fighting fires.

125-Year-Old Miscue Caught

BOYERTOWN, Pa. (AP)—The city council has finally overtaken a mistake 125 years old. It has given the town an official police department.

Only the other day Roland Read, the borough manager, who was checking through records, found out that the City Council in all that time had never passed an ordinance to create a police department.

Remedial action was taken in a hurry, the council last night passing the law which gives full status in the records to Boyertown's police chief and four patrolmen.

Reporting Profit On Bond

By William A. Doyle

Q. I recently exchanged a $1,000 Series E, U.S. savings bond for a $1,000 Series H bond. The E bond matured several years ago. So, it had an actual redemption value of $1,124.80. I thought that I would not have to pay any income tax on the accrued interest.

However, the bank at which I made the exchange informed me that, because I received $124.80 in cash, I must report that amount as taxable income. Is this true? I had intended to use that $124.80 as part payment on a $500 H bond next month.

A. Yes, it is true. The bank should have explained this to you before you made the exchange. In this case, a detailed explanation would have saved you tax dollars.

This exchange offer is pretty complex. Stripped to the bare facts (I don't have the space to go into all the details) it works this way:

Holders of E, and F and most J bonds can swap their bonds for H bonds and postpone the payment of income taxes. In this column, we'll stick to the exchange of E bonds for H bonds.

E bonds are "discount securities." You buy them at one price ($750 in the case of a $1,000 bond) and redeem them later at a higher price. The difference between the price you pay for an E bond and the price you receive when you redeem it is "accrued interest."

That interest is subject to income taxes. You can report that interest as taxable income each year, as it accrues and your bond becomes more valuable, or you can wait and report it as taxable income for the year in which you cash the bond. Most people use the second method.

If you have used the second and more popular method, the exchange offer gives you the opportunity to swap your E bonds for H bonds and still postpone the payment of Federal income taxes on the accrued E bond interest used to purchase H bonds. When and if you redeem the H bonds, you will have to report E bond accrued interest as taxable income.

But any of the accrued interest you take in cash at the time of the swap must be reported as taxable income. Like many other people you held your E bonds past their maturity date.

You paid $750 for your bond. On the maturity date, it had a redemption value of $1,000. Interest continued to build up on it after the maturity date, giving the bond a total redemption value of $1,124.80 when yu exchanged it.

If you had put up an additional $375.20 at the time of the exchange to purchase another $500 H bond ($500 is the smallest H bond) you could have postponed paying income taxes on the $124.80. That amount of money would then be considered part of the exchange. You would not have to pay Federal income taxes on it until you cashed the H bond.

But you had to do it at the time you made the exchange — not some later date, as you plan. Somebody at the bank goofed by not explaining this to you.

The exchange of E for H bonds is very popular with many people — expecially retired folks. The big reason is that holders of H bonds receive their interest checks in the mail every six months.

The interest received on H bonds is, of course, taxable by the Federal government as ordinary income.

(Mr. Doyle will answer only representative letters of general interest in his column. He cannot answer phone queries.)

Loyal Opposition

NEW YORK (AP)—Rep. Charles A. Halleck, R-Ind., House minority leader said last night the congressional opposition to the Kennedy administration will not drag its feet just for the sake of opposition.

Attacks Russia's Colonial Policies

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The United States accused the Soviet Union yesterday of hiding under the "false banner of liberation" while heading the largest colonial empire in the world.

In a slashing attack on Soviet anticolonial activities, U. S. Ambassador James J. Wadsworth told the U.N. General Assembly the Kremlin is "the arch practitioner of this new and lethal colonialism." He called the Soviet role "cynical and hypocritical."

Joining in the long and bitter debate on colonialism, Wadsworth said the Soviet Union had appeared in its true colors last Sunday morning when it vetoed the membership application of the new African country, Mauritania.

ONE-STOP SHOPPING FOR A NEW CAR at your Chevrolet dealer's!

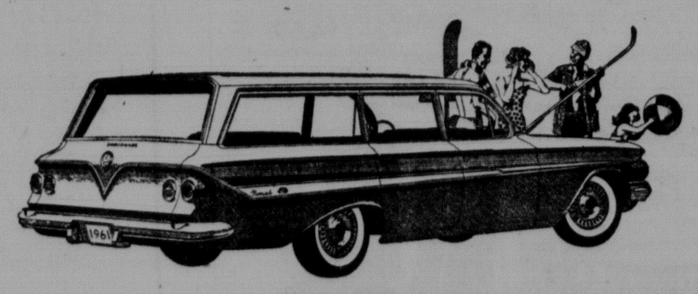
Now you can make your car-shopping rounds the easy way—all under one roof! For '61 your Chevrolet dealer offers nearly any type of car you could want—at the kind of price that'll make you want it all the more. There's a whole new crop of Chevy Corvairs with lower priced sedans and coupes and four wonderful new wagons unlike any ever built before in the land. There are new Chevy Biscaynes—the lowest priced full-size Chevrolets, beautiful Bel Airs, elegant Impalas, six easier loading Chevy wagons, including three 9-passenger models. Come in and pick and choose to your heart's content!

CHEVROLET



New '61 Chevrolet
NOMAD 9-PASSENGER STATION WAGON
There are six easier loading Chevrolet wagons for '61—ranging from budget-pleasing Brookwoods to luxurious Nomads. Each has a cave-sized cargo opening measuring almost five feet across and a concealed compartment for stowing valuables (with an optional extra-cost lock).

New '61 Chevrolet IMPALA 2-DOOR SEDAN
Here's a new measure of elegance from the most elegant Chevrolets of all. There's a full line of five Impalas—each with sensible new dimensions right back to an easier-to-pack trunk that loads down at bumper level and lets you pile baggage 15% higher.

New lower priced '61 CORVAIR 700 CLUB COUPE
There's a whole crew of new Chevy Corvairs for '61—polished and perfected to bring you spunk, space and savings. Lower priced sedans and coupes offer nearly 12% more room under the hood for your luggage—and you can also choose from four new family-lovin' wagons.

New '61 Chevrolet BEL AIR SPORT SEDAN
Beautiful Bel Airs, priced just above the thriftiest full-size Chevies, bring you newness you can use: larger door openings, higher easy-chair seats, more leg room in front, more foot room in the rear, all wrapped up in parkable new outside dimensions.

New '61 Chevrolet 4-DOOR BISCAYNE 6
NOW—BIG-CAR COMFORT AT SMALL-CAR PRICES—Chevy's new Biscaynes, 6 or V8, are built to save in a big way. They offer a full measure of Chevrolet quality, roominess and proved performance, yet they are priced right down with many cars that give you a lot less.

Green Foresees Medicare Passage

WASHINGTON (AP) —President-elect John F. Kennedy got an optimistic report from one of his legislative lieutenants yesterday on chances for medical care legislation of the kind he wants.

Rep. William J. Green, (D-Pa.), told newsmen after a luncheon conference with Kennedy that he has high hopes Congress will enact a health care plan for the aged tied to Social Security, as Kennedy advocates.

Green is a member of the House Ways and Means Committee which last year rejected this type of bill in favor of a more limited one.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

THURSDAY, DEC. 8, 1960

March 21 to April 20 (Aries) — Not all friendly inclinations today. Be more than alert, patient and attentive. Study your program and method of procedure, obtain facts and you can have a better day.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — Refreshing indications. Your Venus shows happy doings and good returns for sincere efforts. Don't overwork or strain but do keep agreeable and thus aid all your interests.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—Not overly stimulating but favorable just the same. Day invites extra urge to create, initiate and invent. Don't be careless signing important papers, contracts, etc. Don't undertake too much.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer) — Can be a popular, happy day if you accept duties, even extra tasks, with your usual cheerfulness and helpfulness. It is said "The art of pleasing is to seem to be pleased." Blessings!

July 24 to August 23 (Leo) — A brisk start, an energetic pace plus reasonable patience and you have the "GO" sign. Avoid extremes as you push on to bigger achievement, new trys and better quality in your efforts. Have faith.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo) — Day starts quietly but increases in fine tempo and possibilities as it advances. Do not heed those who hinder, give you more burdens to carry. Keep steadily at obligations and all's well.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra) — Similar indications now to Taurus. It can be a resultful, cheery day on whole. Personal attainment foreseen. Discharge your duties without fuss or worry, move forward.

October 24 to November 22 (Scorpio) — No wild guesses or reckless action, active Scorpio! Keep within limits of your capacity so as not to strain, then pick up your schedule with firmness and steady alacrity.

November 23 to December 21 (Sagittarius) — Have sensible care in expenditures, investing and promoting projects or items. But also keep at your casual occupation with faith and ambition. You can accomplish much now.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn) — Your thoughtful and prudent nature will be heightened and benefited this fine Saturn day. Dealing in live stock, leather, metals, tools and machinery favored. Surgeons, dentists honored.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius) — Some restrictive influences today, especially where drastic changes or decisions are contemplated. Don't irritate at necessary delays, they may be for ultimate good. Take things in stride.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces) — Your Neptune auspicious now. Private matters, challenging stunts should meet with success. Be concerned with public affairs. Government activities, you have a responsibility here.

YOU BORN TODAY: Important you develop your many resources and speed up achievement without permitting temper or other hindering agencies to interfere. You are energetic, ambitious, talented but may tend to quick anger. Curb this can be fault lest it cause you, your family and friends unnecessary worry, grief. Cultivate your finer qualities, increase your knowledge in many interests. Don't permit gloom to invade your nature, your mind. Associate with cheerful, purposeful and high-minded people. Pray when troubled or in doubt. Birthdate: Horace, Roman, lyric & satirical poet (65 B.C.-8 B.C.)

Arguments Over Degree Of Guilt

BOTH THE defense and prosecution argued over the degree of guilt yesterday for Walter Tyrrell Jr., 39, guilty of murder in the slaying last March 7 of his wife, Blanche, 53.

Dist. Atty. Andrew L. Herster Jr., asked the Northampton County Court to find Tyrrell guilty of first degree murder. Defense lawyer Edward J. Danser argued that a finding of first degree murder is unjustified.

Danser and William C. Cassebaum were appointed by the court to defend the Upper Mount Bethel Township man who pleaded guilty Sept. 12 to a general charge of murder.

Legal argument was held before three county judges—Carlton Woodring, Budd Palmer and William Barthold — yesterday. They will hand down a decision later. A general plea of guilty is considered a plea to second degree murder. It is up to the Commonwealth to raise the degree of guilt to first degree.

'Nuclear Brain' Developed

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Victoreen Instrument Co. said it had developed a transistorized spectrometer, or "nuclear brain," which automatically distinguishes between background radiation and radioactivity of the object being analyzed.

Rail Unions Lose Fight

DETROIT (AP)—Several railroad unions Wednesday lost a federal court fight to preserve jobs threatened by the merger of the Erie and Lackawanna railroads.

A panel of three federal judges dismissed a temporary restraining order which had forbidden the railroad from eliminating jobs until the court acted.

The unions were represented by the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Workers. They claimed that the merger, completed in October, would result in the abolishment of 2,000 jobs and the transfer of 2,100 more in a five-year period They had tried to block the merger itself.

The panel's decision was announced by U. S. District Judge Thomas P. Thornton. He said Congress had provided that the status of employes should not be worsened by any merger. But he said the purpose of a merger to effect economics would be defeated if all employes were held on indefinitely.

Treeless Christmas

SHETLAND ISLANDS, Scotland (AP)—Residents of the Shetlands are going to have a treeless Christmas because of foot and mouth disease now sweeping Scotland. The islanders, who have no trees of their own, decided against importing trees for fear they may bring the infection to Shetland sheep.

Do you yearn to see your name in print?

Have your wish come true this Christmas in the Classified Section of The Daily Record.

Here's a Jolly Poetic example that we're sure you could better.

Nick was as sly as a trick
As he jingled his way down a chimney slick.
Sly Nick, became wry and sick when he found
Lodged at the chimney bottom, Johnnys Prank
—An old hockey stick.
(Your name)

This poem costs only $2.00. Why not take a whack at it yourself. All Christmas poems will be published on Dec. 24th.

VA Aide To Visit Stroudsburg

ROBERT A. JOHNSON, a contact representative from the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Wilkes-Barre, will visit Stroudsburg during December on the following days —Thursday, Dec. 8; Thursday, Dec. 15 and Friday, Dec. 23.

He will be at the Veterans Affairs Office, 615 Sarah Street, Stroudsburg from 10 a.m. until 3:00 p.m., on these dates.

He will be available to furnish information, advice and assistance, to all veterans, their dependants and beneficiaries on any of the benefits provided by the Veterans Administration Program, which includes insurance, disability compensation and pension, death compensation and pension; home and business loans, medical and hospital treatment.

Recuperation Was Too Quick

ERIE, Pa. (AP)—The three Mysnik brothers apparently don't believe in lengthy recuperation after an operation.

The boys—George, 13; Steven, 12; and Robert, 9—had their tonsils removed Tuesday morning. Tuesday night they dressed and slipped out of Hamot Hospital.

They walked about 10 blocks and then stopped at a gas station. An attendant smelled an aroma of ether and called police. Officers picked up the boys and returned them to the hospital.

The boys were reported in satisfactory condition after their jaunt.

Two Stroudsburg Sailors Graduate At Great Lakes

JAMES E. SPRING, son of Mr. and Mrs. John F. Spring of 239 Lee Ave., and Samuel L. Devivo, son of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Devivo of 1082 Dreher Ave., both of Stroudsburg, graduated recently from recruit training at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Ill.

The graduation exercises, marking the end of nine weeks of "boot camp," included a full dress parade and review before military officials and civilian dignitaries.

In nine weeks of instruction, the "raw recruit" is developed into a Navy Bluejacket, ready for duty with the fleet.
